SIX SNATCHED FROM FLAMES

"He'll Kill Me," Kidnaped Girl Scrawled in Plea

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—The vain efforts of little Marian Parker to make her way out of the clutches of a kidnaper and killer were shown in the pathetic letters written by her to "Dear Daddy and Mother."

MARION PARKER

In her childish scrawl the girl wrote two short notes.

"I wish I could come home," Marian wrote in her first letter. "I think I'll die if I have to be like this much longer. Won't some one please tell me why all this had to happen to me. Daddy, please do what the man tells you or he will kill me if you don't.

"Your loving daughter,
"MARIAN PARKER."

"P. S.—Please, Daddy, I want to come home tonight."

The other letter read:

"Dear Daddy and Mother: Please don't bring anyone with you today. I'm sorry for what happened last night. We drove wright by the house and I cryed all the time last night. If you don't meet us this morning you will never see me again.

"Love to all. MARIAN PARKER.

"P. S.—Please, Daddy: I want to come home this morning. This is your last chance and come by yourself or you won't see me again. MARIAN."

Fiend Hunt On

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—A frenzied woman and a man were arrested today in a mysterious house overlooking the spot where a kidnaper Saturday exchanged the mutilated body of little Marian Parker for $1,500 in currency presented by her father. The man was later released.

Almost simultaneously came the announcement that a third suspect had been arrested in another part of the city. He answered, in a general way, the description of "George Fox," who took the 12-year-old girl from her school Thursday.

The third man was booked under the name of George Barnaman, and gave his age as 24.

A woman, who said she was Lillian Padley, 23, was then arrested together with another man who gave the name of William Long. Police believe the mysterious house has been the site of the killing of the

Saved From Home

A woman was overcome by smoke and rescued with five other persons by firemen when flames swept through the three-story apartment house at 1329-41 Buena Vista street, at noon today. Two other occupants of the house fled through smoke-filled halls to safety.

Mrs. Emma Serwatka, 27, after being carried down a ladder from her third-floor apartment, was sent to Presbyterian Hospital. Her three sisters, Mrs. Edna Fry, 28, and Misses Ida and Mary Frazier, 18 and 21 respectively, with Leonard Fry, her brother-in-law, and Leonard Fry, Jr., 6, her nephew, were taken down ladders by Capt. Charles F. Golden, Engine Company No. 46, John H. Haggerty, No. 43 company, and Sylvester Crawford, No. 41 company. Golden, who resides in an adjoining house, was off duty when the fire engines arrived, and led in the rescue.

"AIR," TRAPPED CREW PLEADS

"Air Is Bad; Please Hurry!"

MESSAGE exchanged between divers and imprisoned men 102 feet below the surface of the sea off Provincetown, Mass. The rescuers rapped on the torpedo tube with a hammer and got faint taps in return in telegraphic code. The message.

THE DIVERS: "Is the Gas Bad?"
THE MEN: "No, But the Air Is."
THE MEN: "How Long Will It Be Now?"
THE DIVERS: "How Many Are There?"
THE MEN: "Six. Please Hurry!"
THE DIVERS: "We Are Doing Everything."

Six men trapped in the crippled submarine S-4 on the ocean's floor off Provincetown, Mass., were still alive today, but a wintry gale prevented almost every chance of saving them.

The latest message from the submarine, rammed and sunk late Saturday afternoon, with 40 men, was tapped out by Lieut. Graham Newell Fitch, one of the four officers aboard, early today.

A 45-mile wind and a rolling sea combined to make continued operations of divers impossible and, though salvage crews and ships were converging on the scene of the disaster from several points, nothing could be done to help the imprisoned sailors until the storm abated.

Lieut. Fitch asked that an attempt be made to send supplies through the torpedo tube. He asked for both food and oxygen, indicating that the men were faced with the two-fold fate of starvation and suffocation.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Dec. 19.—Rough seas today halted the work of rescue of the 40 men trapped in the wrecked submarine S-4 now lying on the floor of the sea. The hose through which air was pumped in the submerged craft was snapped, presumably by the wreckage, and the heavy seas prevented divers from repairing the break. The submarine was today entirely cut off from communication with the rescuers who had to delay their work of rescue owing to the storm.

THE United States submarine S-4, rising off the Massachusetts coast on Saturday afternoon, was instantly rammed and sunk by the destroyer Paulding No. 17. The short length of periscope bringing the submarine dangerously near the surface before making a survey of surface conditions possibly may be one explanation. Carelessness in periscope use might be another.

IN ANY case our submarine service, necessarily dangerous in war, seems to be unnecessarily dangerous in peace. Could not a submarine in peace time send to the surface before rising a harmless detonation bomb to explode and spread a warning cloud of smoke at the surface just ahead of the submarine's appearance?

ONE self-approving hour is a valuable asset. A life-time of such hours must be amazingly pleasant. The postman handed to D'Annunzio a letter addressed to

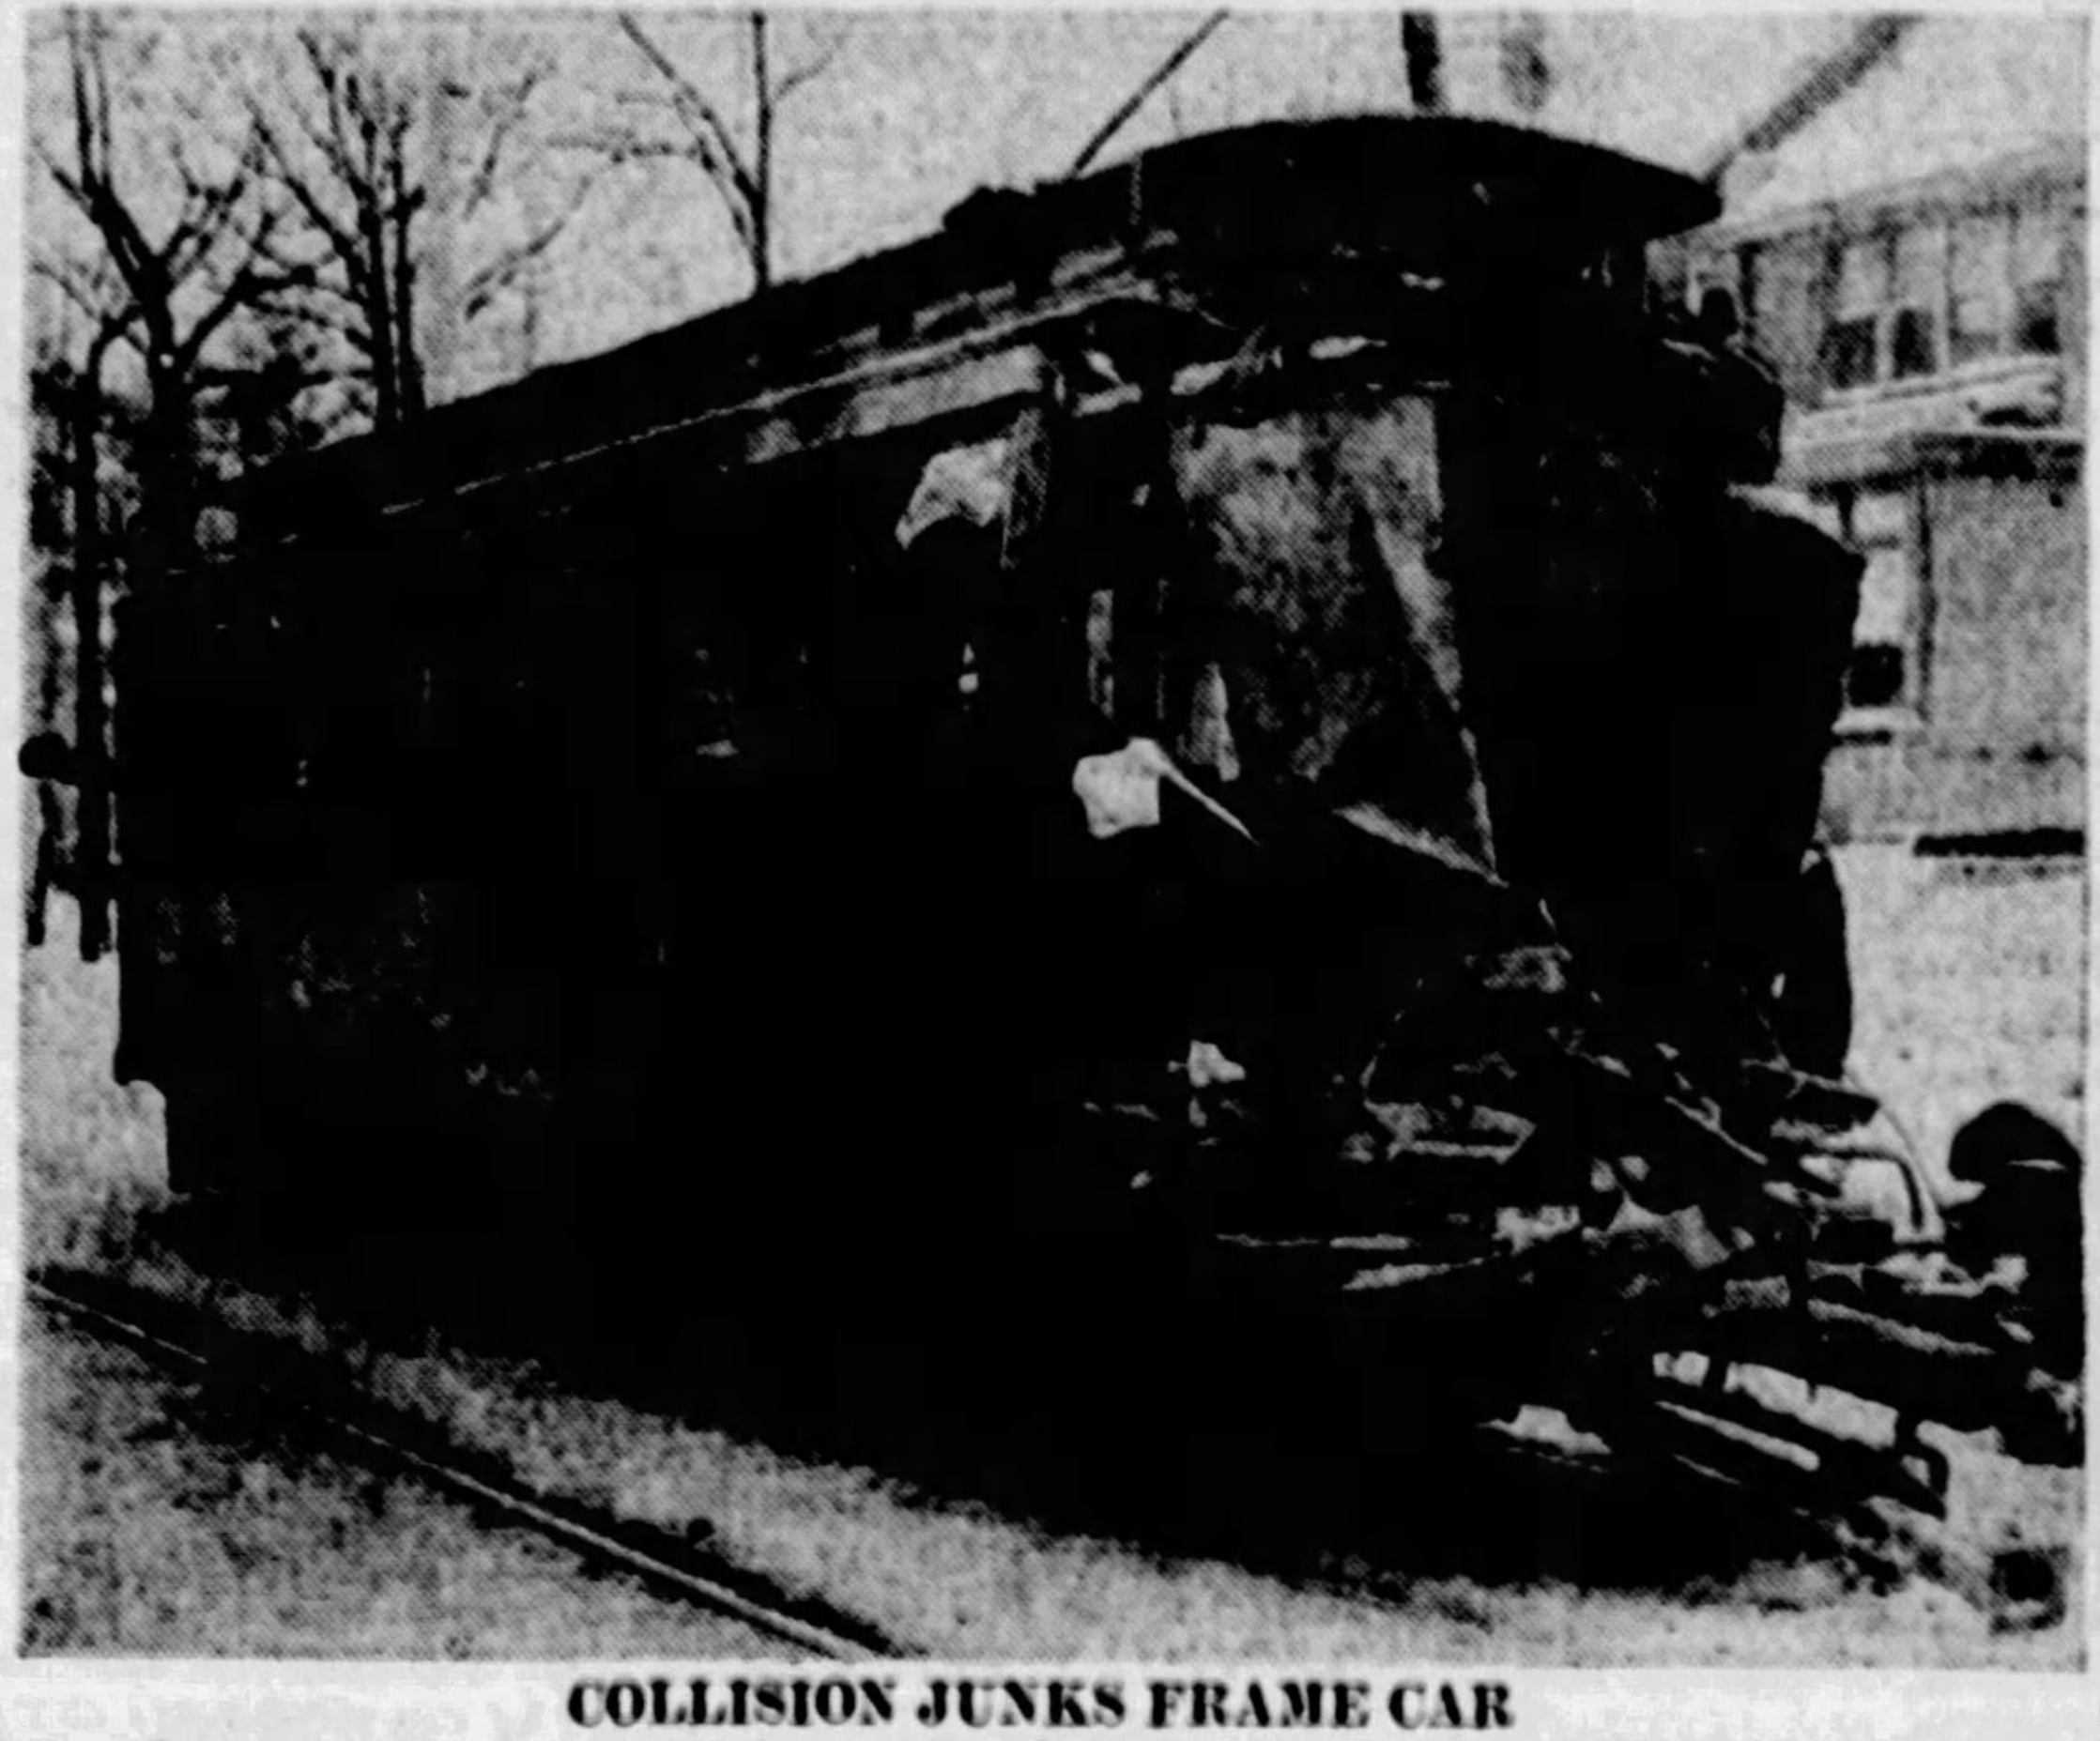
Five Injured :-: In Squirrel Hill :-: Trolley Crash

THREE OF WRECK VICTIMS

Five persons were injured when two trolley cars crashed on the icy tracks at Forbes and Wightman today. J. M. Harbaugh, left, of Elliott, and Mrs. Mildred Ritkewsky and her son, Sylvester, of Homestead, were among them. Harbaugh's injuries are said to be serious.



COLLISION JUNKS FRAME CAR

One car was steel, the other wood. The steel car coming down the grade from town, crashed into the wooden car which was standing waiting for a traffic light to change. The ancient wooden platform crumpled like paper under the impact, severely injuring J. R. Chigash, its conductor. He was pinioned in the wreckage and it was some time before volunteer rescuers could free him. The motorman of the steel car was uninjured.

RABBI HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Rabbi S. B. Weiss, of Beth-Jacob Synagogue, Duquesne, was jammed into a corner seat of the wrecked car. He crawled out through the wreckage which surrounded the injured conductor. He was bruised and lacerated.

CHAPTER I

AT 10 o'clock on a stormy March morning last year Lily Lexington opened her eyes upon a world that had always been wonderfully kind to her.

All her life it had treated her like the spoiled child of Fortune that she was.

It had coddled her and pampered her. It had granted every wish and every whim that she had ever had. Every one!

And now at 22, Lily was discontented and restless and unhappy—as might have been expected. She was exactly like a child who has had "too much Christmas." Too much candy, too many toys, too much fun and excitement.

She looked like a spoiled child, too, on this particular March morning, with her gray-green eyes full of sleep, her mouth a sulky, velvety bow, her golden-red hair a curly, tousled mass above a frowning forehead.

"Oh, dear—" She yawned, stretched herself and sighed deeply. In that unhappy sigh was all her dissatisfaction with life in general.

Then she held up her left hand and looked at the large diamond that decorated her engagement finger. Her frown deepened. The corners of her mouth drooped unhappily. "Oh, dear—" she sighed once more, turning the glittering thing slowly upon her finger.

As she sat up in bed the door of the room opened slowly was received by the minesweeper Falcon. Lieut. Commander Edward Ellsberg said that the message, tapped out in the Morse code, asked if the rescuers could send oxygen and emergency food supplies to the six men still alive on the submarine, through the torpedo tube.

By International News Service.

"Sea entirely too rough for diving and is getting worse," Admiral Brumby reported today from the rescue scene. A chill northwest storm has swept down on the huddled rescue ships, buffeting the seas into frothy waves many feet high.

Divers had earlier descended to the broken hull and reported code tappings from the six men trapped in the torpedo room. Other faint tappings were heard in the aft sections of the vessel, but whether they were those of men or floating pieces of wreckage washing against the flooded interior, the divers were unable to determine.

Lieut. Ellsberg, regarded as the country's foremost authority on submarines, intimated that raising the entire vessel might be a matter of weeks. The ill-fated S-51 and the tragic and despairing efforts that preceded its final rescue from the clutching mud and deep water pressure, was recalled as Ellsberg spoke.

The same problems as presented by the S-51 confront engineers here. But the S-51 held no survivors to tap their pleas for relief through the battered hull, no ghost-like messages to add to what almost seems a futile task.

To bring into use the huge pontoons to raise the submarine, divers must tunnel beneath the S-4, passing the heavy chain beneath its hull and the fastening it to the pontoons. Air pumped into the pontoons forces them to the surface, bringing the sub with them while tow-lines attached to each end of the vessel are hauled in opposite directions by surface craft. All this is not to be done in hours.

Submarine Briefs

Joyful prospects of having their sailor son with them for the Christmas holidays turned to anxiety and sadness when Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Kampfer, of Vinco, near Johnstown, Pa., parents of Paul R. Kempfer, an electrician's mate on the submarine S-4, received news that the craft had sunk.

Mr. and Mrs. Kempfer Friday received a letter from their son, in which he said he had been granted a 10-day furlough, to start next Wednesday. Kempfer's term of enlistment was set to expire June 5, next.

Escape through a torpedo tube was [illegible] Commander Kenneth Whiting, executive officer of the U. S. S. [illegible], who escaped through a tube from a sunken submarine on the floor of Cavite Harbor 18 years ago as a chance a chance for survival of some of those aboard the S-4. With the S-4 on the bottom on an even keel, said Whiting at Philadelphia, torpedoes might be ejected from the tubes to permit men to shoot themselves to the surface. All but one man could escape. He would have to stay behind to manipulate water and air valves.

Lieutenant Commander Roy K. Jones, commanding the submarine, thought he owed the Government more than a stretch of war-time duty in return for his training at Annapolis, so he stayed in the service. "Roy might have resigned after the war," said his father, John Jones, of Hennessey, Okla., "but he thought his duty was to stay in the service rather than take an outside position."

"I wouldn't give up the thrill of the Navy for the best job in New York," wrote Daniel Galvin to his brother, Joseph, in Brooklyn, a few days before he left port on the ill-fated undersea boat. Dan Galvin found a job as a runner in Wall Street not exciting, his guardian, Mrs. W. G. Mackay, said, so he joined the Navy and later secured a transfer to the submarine. Galvin went down with the craft.

A second son of Mrs. Sophia Kenerson, of New London, Conn., met with disaster at sea when the S-4 went down. Arthur Frederick Hodges, machinist's mate aboard the submarine, was a brother of Wallace Hodges, who was drowned 12 years ago when a tug was sunk by a German submarine off New London.

Simon Lake, considered one of the greatest living authorities on submarine construction, at Milford, Conn., suggested divers take diving suits in to the men imprisoned in the undersea craft. Air pressure from above would keep the men alive until they were removed, he said.

An underwater torch, an underwater light and a water drill went from the Brooklyn navy yard to the grave of the S-4. An air attachment keeps water away from the torch, used for cutting through steel. The light permits faster work beneath the surface and eliminates the delay caused by the failure of older equipment in the midst of a piece of delicate work by divers. The water drill bores holes in the ocean bed through which chains attached to pontoons may be drawn.

A terse request that two of his aides in the salvaging of the S-51 be located was the first order made by Lieut. Com. Edward Ellsberg when he hurried back into the Navy to aid in the rescue work at Provincetown. In effect, his request was: Find Bill Wickwire and John R. Kelly. Both are crack divers. They were believed in New York.

Charles Berresford Calcott, 19-year-old machinist's mate, who was reported among the crew of the S-4 when it went down, at home in Chicago was known as "Lucky Kelly" Calcott.

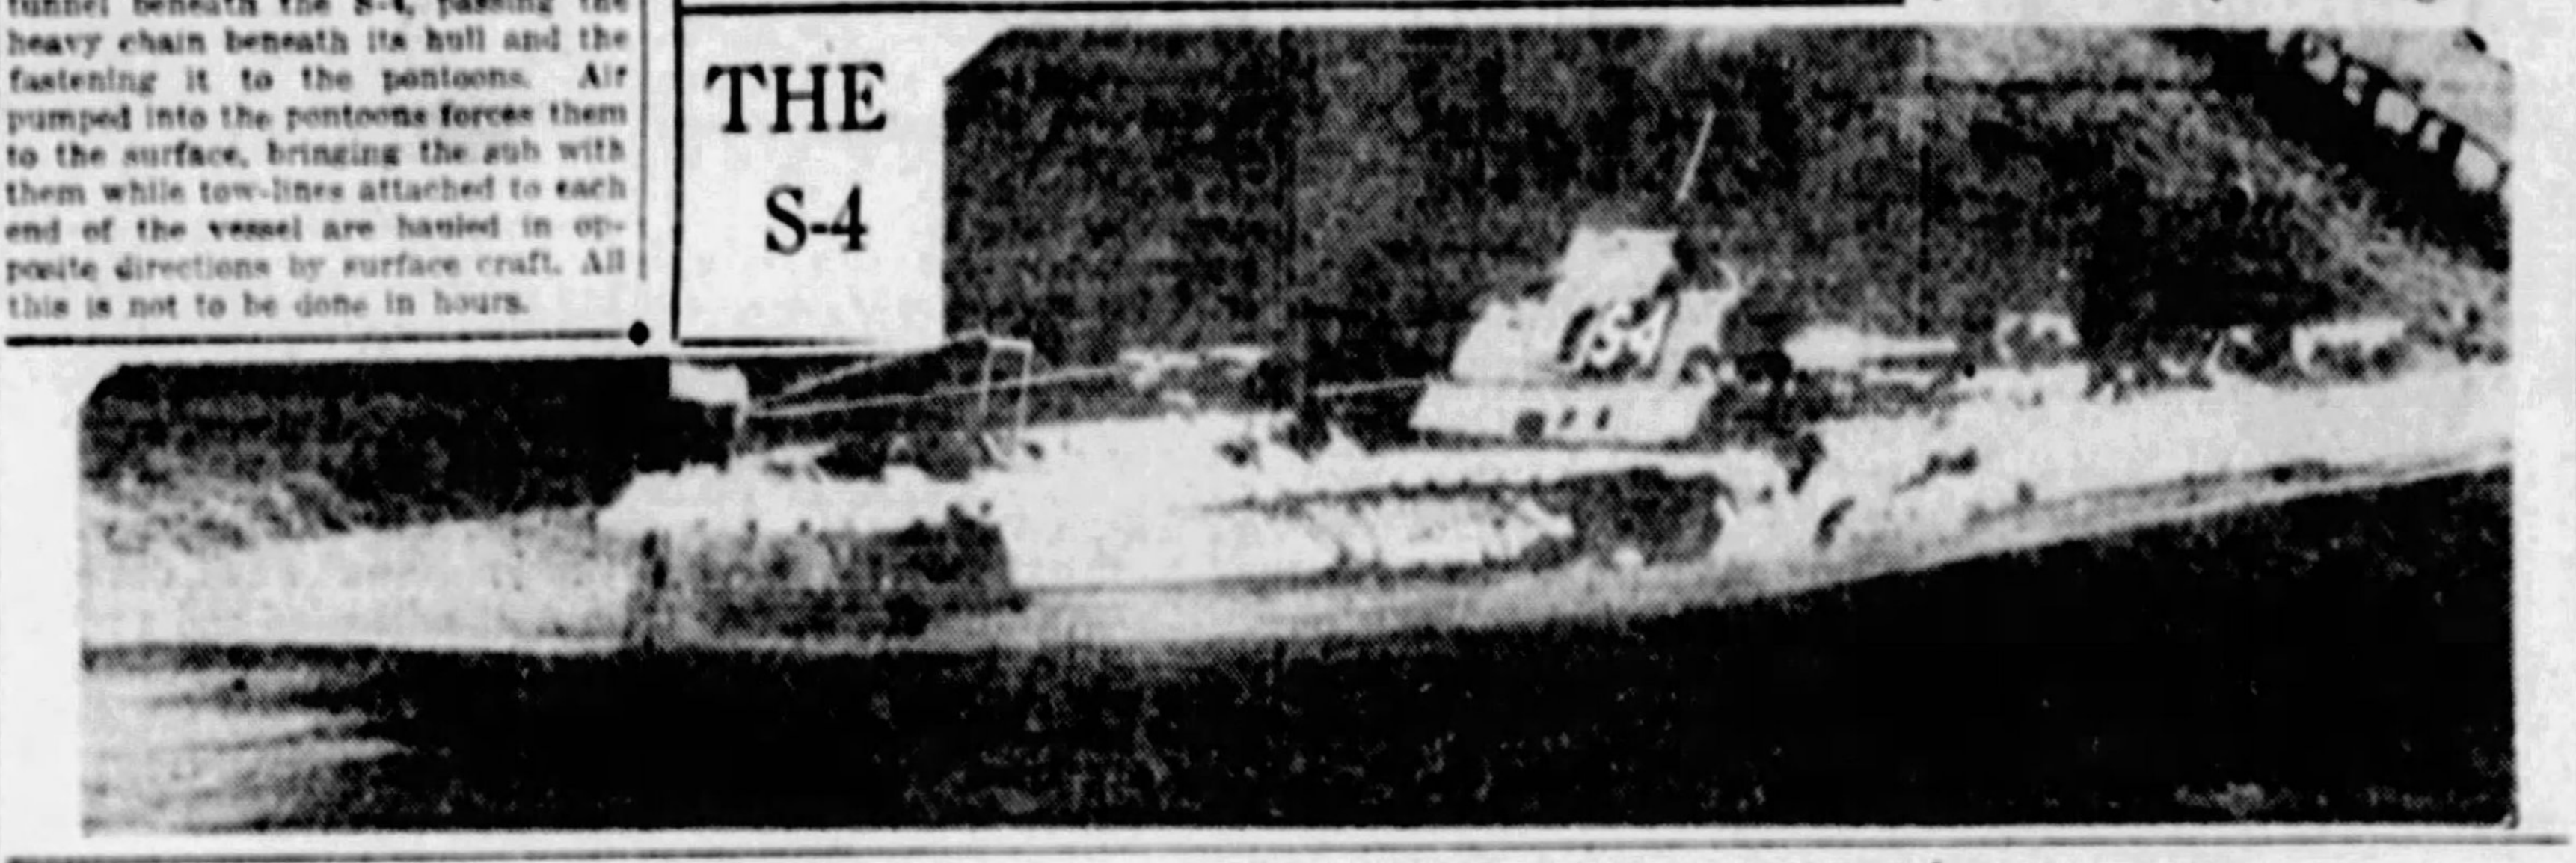
THE S-4



Frenzied Woman Held In Kidnap-Murder

girl and the dismembering of her body.

Police explained that while Barnaman was arrested at virtually the same time that Long and the woman were found, he was not in the immediate vicinity of the mysterious house.

The early morning raid was one of a series of climaxes in the greatest man hunt ever staged in Southern California. There is a price of more than $50,000 on the head of the kidnaper-slayer, whose letters and actions have shown him to be as cunning as his adopted name—"The Fox"—signifies.

The house was raided after police had been told that a woman had been running up and down the street shouting:

"I didn't kill her. I didn't kill her; they did it."

The police said the woman was intoxicated.

Long was hazy in his answers to the police questions, the officers said. He could not remember to whom he paid rent for the house, whose window overlooks the spot where Perry M. Parker Saturday night paid over $1,500 to the kidnapers who returned his daughter's mutilated body.

When pressed for the name of his landlady, Long answered:

"Mrs. Parker."

FIND BLOOD STAINS

Within the house, the raiding officers found heel prints sharply etched in what appeared to be blood stains; blood-stained towels and towels which had been freshly washed in an attempt to remove similar stains; a piece of men's clothing which still bore a large stain, although freshly washed.

Several razor blades were found which police believe may have been used in the atrocious crime.

Upon a wall was a crudely drawn picture of Judas Iscariot, whose name figured in some of the ransom letters sent Parker.

In a nearby garage was a sign:

"Abandon all hope, ye who enter here."

In that garage, the officers were told, there was an automobile last Saturday night. It was empty at the time of the raid.

Barnaman was captured while telephoning Los Angeles raid stations in an attempt to obtain the broadcasting of a message from "George Fox," the name signed to the ransom letters sent Parker. In his possession were found several newspapers and a list of telephone numbers of radio stations.

The police believe Barnaman would prove to be a "crank."

After questioning Long for sometime, police released him. The woman was booked on a charge of suspicion of murder. Barnaman was detained on a charge of grand larceny pending further investigation.

SISTER THREATENED

While four thousand trained men of the police, district attorney's and sheriff's offices continued the hunt, there came a mocking, defiant letter, purporting to come from the kidnaper-slayer. The missive promised a similar fate to Marian's sister, Marjorie. While the police guarded the letter, which had been posted on a fire alarm box, and delivered by means of a false alarm, many of the officers believed it the work of a crank rather than the real slayer.

Nearly a half hundred suspects had been taken into custody since Saturday night, when Marian's dismembered body was bartered to her father for $1,500—paid on the assumption of the parent that the girl still was alive. Virtually all of them were released after questioning.

The nerves of citizens, who had piled up reward money aggregating more than $50,000 for the capture of little Marian's murderer, received another shock last night when Miss Ethel Swapp, 14, daughter of a chauffeur, was kidnaped at Pasadena.

The second kidnaper failed to elude the law and he was cornered by a posse in the hills section east of Pasadena. Police said his description did not tally with that of the slayer of Marian Parker.

STRUCK THURSDAY

The kidnaper struck last Thursday morning. While Marian and Marjorie were on their way to school they noticed a stranger watching them from a coupe about a block from their home. He attempted to speak to them.

During the noon hour a stranger appeared at the Junior High School and told Mrs. Mary Ward Holt, attendance officer, that Marian's father had been hurt and was calling for her. It was a perfect piece of trickery and Marian was unwittingly released to a fiend who took her to a horrible death.

When Marian failed to return from school at the regular hour her twin sister told of the stranger and the search was begun. Shortly afterwards, two telegrams—one from Pasadena and the other from Alhambra, both nearby cities—warned the father not to attempt to interfere with the kidnapers' plans.

The next morning the frantic father received a special delivery letter which instructed him to obtain $1,500 in $20 bills and await further instructions.

Early in the afternoon there came a second letter—a pitiful handwritten appeal from the girl herself, asking her father to do as her captor desired and to come and get her.

Three times that afternoon the Parker telephone rang, but as Parker answered he spoke only to an open wire. The caller had broken the connection each time.

The first telephone message came from the kidnaper at 8 o'clock that night. Another, 30 minutes later, instructed the father to proceed by automobile to a designated spot with the $1,500. This he did, but the police, in their zeal to catch the kidnaper, sent detectives to surround the scene and the wily one sidestepped the trap.

DAYS OF AGONY

A night and a morning of agony for the Parker family elapsed before further word came. Then early Saturday afternoon came another letter. It contained another appeal in the girl's handwriting and two notes from the kidnaper voicing his anger at the father for permitting the police to set the trap. They threatened death to the girl if his instructions were not followed. The kidnaper's notes showed he had an accurate check on the police operations.

The distracted father finally asked the police to withdraw. That evening he was instructed to drive to a spot not far from his home for a final rendezvous.

Parker followed instructions and was met by a masked man in a small automobile. Beside the kidnaper was little Marian. The father asked for a glimpse of the girl.

With a terse "she's asleep," the kidnaper allowed Parker to peep in the car, then ordered him to hand over the $1,500, Parker surrendering the roll of $20 bills and the kidnaper informed him he would drive ahead and deposit Marian on a lawn a short distance ahead. The father followed the mysterious car. In a moment the kidnaper cast the heavily wrapped girl from his machine and sped away.

Parker hurried to the side of the object and clutched it in his arms. Marian was dead.

He opened the bundle. The body of the little girl had been dismembered and horribly mutilated. The arms were cut off at the elbows. The legs were cut off at the torso, which had been disemboweled.

FIND SEVERED PARTS

The dismembered parts of the body were found yesterday scattered along the roadway in well-wrapped packages. Apparently they had been tossed from the kidnaper's automobile as he sped away from the place where he had met Parker and later thrown the torso from his car.

While police kept on the alert, handwriting experts drew a picture of the kidnaper from what they saw in his handwriting. They described him as a cool-headed desperado—a man who had done little manual labor—of sound mentality and considerably above the average in intelligence. The belief that he is an educated man was deduced from his careless use of Greek letters in the missives. His chirography showed artistic inclinations and not the slightest nervousness.

A handwriting expert, after a lengthy examination of the letters from the kidnaper, said they were written by two persons—one of them a woman.

The handwriting expert's description of the character of the man who did the writing only bore out what the police already knew too well. The criminal was of more than average intellect, cool nerve and of the cunningness which had baffled the pursuing officers.

The autopsy performed on the body fell by chance to a next door neighbor of the Parker family, County Autopsy Surgeon A. F. Wagner. He went about his task with a face set in lines of pain, for he had known the small victim for years. He declared the small girl probably was slain within two or three hours of the time the body was delivered to her father.

TERMS IN LETTER

The first written word following the abduction reached the Parker home in a special delivery letter, which read:

"P. M. Parker: Use good judgment; you are the loser. Do this: Secure 75 $20 gold certificates—U. S. currency—$1,500, at once. Keep them on your person. Go about your daily business as usual. Leave out police and detectives. Make no search.

"Fulfilling these terms with the transfer of the currency will secure the return of the girl.

"Failure to comply with these requests means no one will ever see the girl again—except the angels in heaven.

"The affair must end one way or another within three days—72 hours. You will receive further notice.

"But the terms remain the same.

(Signed) "FATE."

P. S.—"If you want aid against me, ask God; not man."

The envelope bearing this letter was postmarked Los Angeles, December 15, at 2 p. m.—the day Marian was taken away.

Friday morning, Parker received a telegram sent from Alhambra, a suburb, December 15, marked as having been received in the Western Union there at 6:20 p. m., of that date. It read:

"Marian secure. Use good judgment. Interference with my plans dangerous.

(Signed.) "MARIAN PARKER."
"GEORGE FOX."

The sender's address was written in the corner of the original message as 2518 Birch street, Alhambra, but investigation developed the house at that address was vacant.

SENATORS'

Democrat, of Arkansas, and Johnson, Republican, of California, after the Senate had listened to the reading of an open letter from Senator Norris to William Randolph Hearst in which the publisher was severely condemned for publication of the Mexican articles.

Both Johnson and Robinson are members of the special Senate Committee which is investigating the authenticity of the documents. Both declared "not one scintilla of evidence" had been unearthed to indicate that any one of the four Senators had "even been approached" with a questionable offer by Mexican authorities.

Recalling that Hearst, on the witness stand before the Senate Investigating Committee, declared his personal belief that none of the Senators named ever received any of the money mentioned in the Mexican documents, Norris, in a letter to Hearst today, asked:

"If you wanted to be perfectly honest with these Senators why did you not state when the articles were published that you had no evidence that any of these Senators were guilty and that you did not believe any of the charges against them?

"What is your motive, Mr. Hearst? You have testified before the committee that you have very valuable properties in Mexico. It is almost common knowledge that you were in favor of the overthrow of the present government. You evidently believed that if a revolution could be started it would mean financial benefit to your investments in Mexico. For the sake of making a few paltry dollars you are willing to blacken the character of honest journalists in your own profession. You were willing to cast suspicion on the loyalty and integrity of members of the United States Senate. You were willing to charge that the President of a friendly republic is a traitor to his country.

"Because members of the United States Senate have not followed the course that you believed they ought to pursue, you were willing to go so far as to ruin their reputations and by falsehoods drive them from public life in disgrace and dishonor. You wanted to show the power of the Hearst papers."

"A fair analysis of the recent articles published in the Hearst papers showing an alleged attempt by Mexican officials to bribe United States Senators and editors of various publications, and an analysis of your testimony before the Senate committee, leads to the inevitable conclusion that you are not only unfair and dishonest, but that you are entirely without honor."

Earmuffs which prevented his hearing the warning cry of a foreman cost the life of Manuel Arris, 24, track laborer, this morning, when he was run down and killed by a southbound passenger train on the Monongahela division, Pennsylvania Railroad, near the Braddock bridge. He lived in Dickson street, Homestead. Other members of the section gang leaped from the tracks when the foreman shouted.

Parker Kidnap History

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Here's the day by day and hour by hour resume of the kidnaping and slaying of 12-year-old Marian Parker.

Thursday, December 15, 8:15 A. M.—Marian and Marjorie, twin sister, on their way to school, notice a stranger in a Drake coupe about a half block from their home. He attempts to speak to them and follows them to the street car.

12:15 P. M.—A stranger appears at the Junior High School and tells the attendance supervisor that Marian's father, Perry M. Parker, banker, has been injured and is calling for the girl. Marian is excused and the stranger drives away with her.

Late Afternoon—Marian fails to return; Marjorie tells parents of the stranger; the story is checked by telephone, and the search for the girl is begun.

Two telegrams, one from Pasadena and the other from Alhambra, both suburbs, are delivered to Parker. Both warn Parker to attempt no interference with the kidnaper's plans.

Friday—The first special delivery letter, mailed at 6 p. m. the previous day, is delivered to Parker. It instructs him to obtain $1,500 in $20 bills and await further instructions. The second letter follows, postmarked 1 p. m. the same day. It includes a pitiful appeal from Marian.

Three times in the afternoon Parker's telephone rings and he answers, to find an open wire and silence at the other end.

Shortly after 8 p. m. the first actual telephone message from the kidnaper reaches Parker. At 8:30 p. m. the second call comes, instructing Parker to proceed by automobile to a designated spot with the $1,500. He obeys but police send detectives to surround the scene. The kidnaper fails to appear.

Saturday—In early afternoon the third letter comes to Parker. It encloses another pitiful appeal from Marian and two "last chance letters," from the kidnaper in which he assails Parker for his appeal to the police and shows that the kidnaper has an accurate check of police operations. The police, on Parker's insistence, withdraw.

At 7:15 p. m., Parker received his instructions by telephone for the final rendezvous. Parker, alone, obeys.

He is met at the designated place by a masked man in a small car, who gives the father a glimpse of Marian with a terse "She's asleep." Parker hands over the $1,500. The stranger drives a short distance, casts out a bundle and speeds away.

Parker hurries to the side of the object and finds the mutilated body of his daughter.

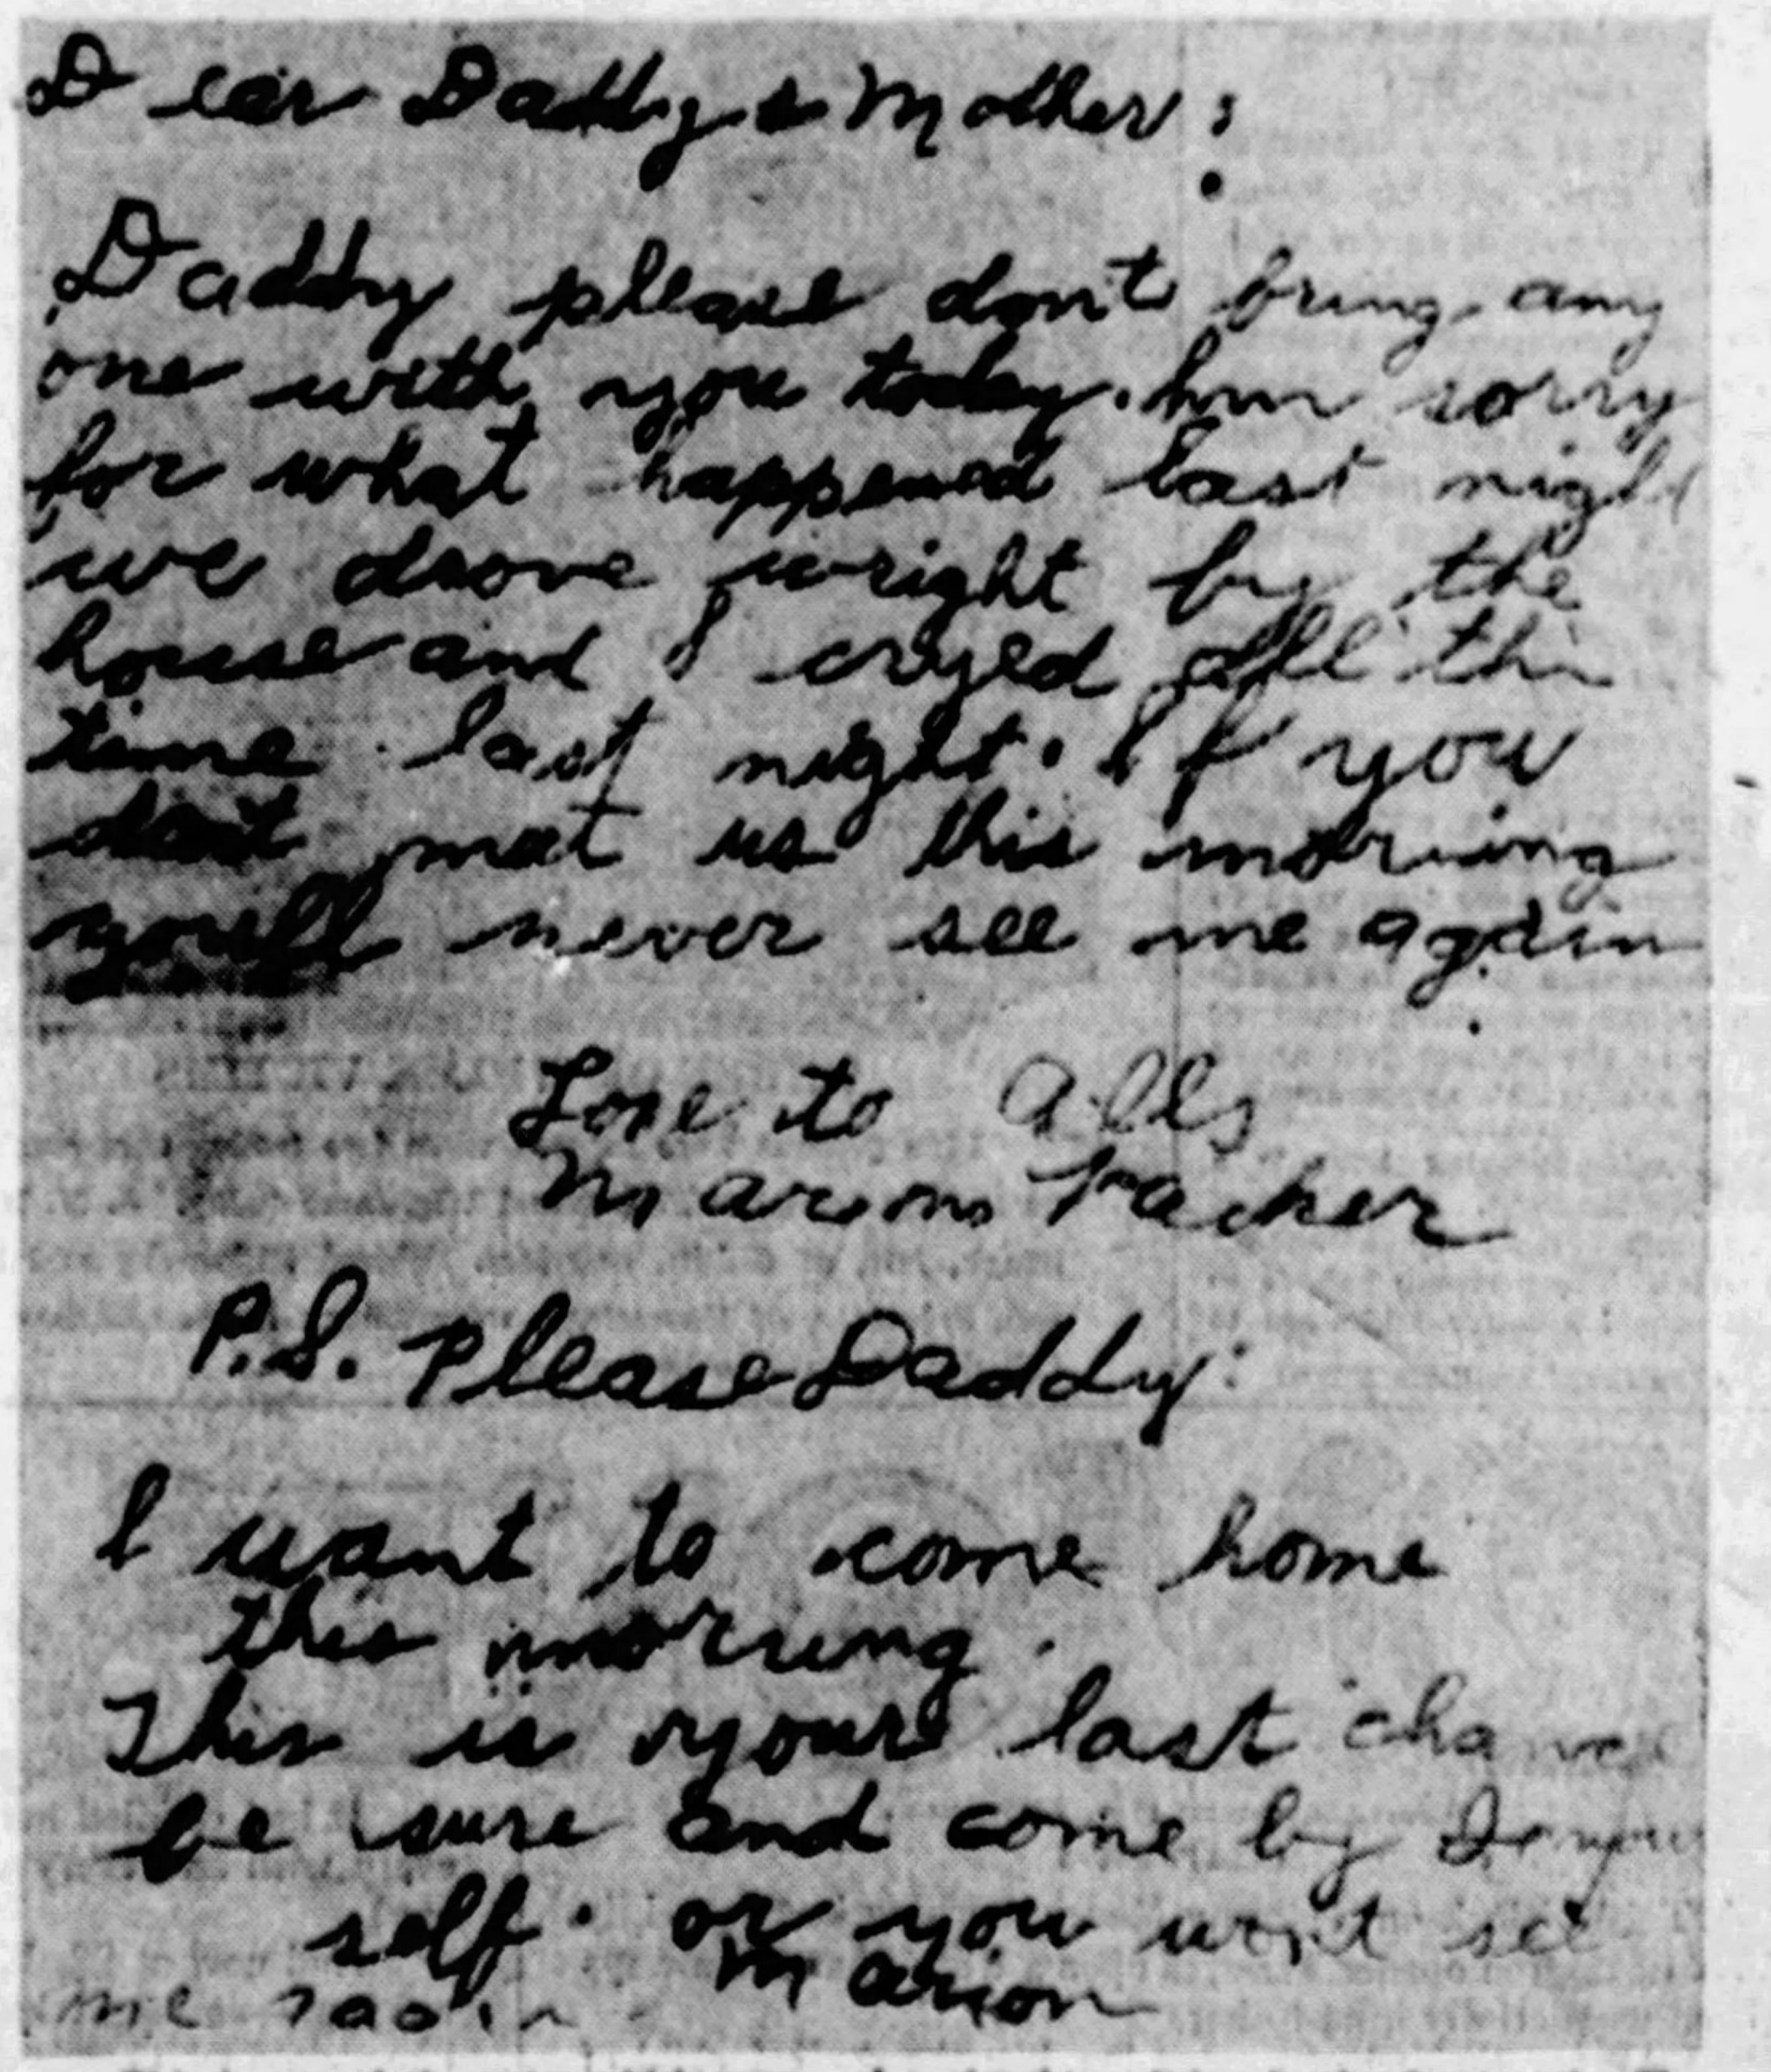
SCHOOL GIRL, 12, VICTIM OF FIEND



Dear Daddy & Mother:

Daddy please don't bring any one with you today. Im sorry for what happened last night we drove right by the house and I cryed all the time last night. If you dont meet us this morning you'll never see me again.

Love to all,
Marian Parker

P.S. Please Daddy:

I want to come home this morning. This is your last chance be sure and come by yourself or you won't see me again.
Marian

This is one of the notes which were sent Marion's father, Perry M. Parker, Los Angeles bank official. They were all in the girl's handwriting and apparently had been written at the dictation of her captor. Parker, ordered to have $1,500 at a designated spot, took the money to meet the captor. A machine drove by with his daughter sitting in the front seat. The driver passed Parker, returned, collected the money, went back to the machine, started away and threw the girl to the ground. The father, rushing to her, found her dead with her legs and arms severed and missing.

SHOOT, ROB STOREKEEPER OF $5,000 IN AMBUSCADE

TATTERED MINERS' CHILDREN PLEAD FOR AID

When the Sun-Tele reporter visited the new union barracks at Acmetonia, a mob of half-fed and half-clothed children swarmed around the automobile, thinking the newspaper men were bringing bundles they heard were being collected for them. Tomorrow is your last chance to help these unforunate youngsters who have been ousted from company houses at Harmarville at a time when they most need a warm house.

TOMORROW IS BUNDLE DAY—HELP THESE FAMILIES

There are 11 persons in this family, although the Sun-eTle photographer caught only nine seated around an empty table. Mrs. Isabelle Wolmsley, the mother, holding one of her daughters, Isabella, 5, on the left, says she has a hard time making both ends meet these days. Around the table next to Mrs. Wolmsley are her other children and jobless husband: Eliza, 10; Walter, Jr., 14; Walter Wolmsley, Sr., holding Janet, 1; Alex, 12; Howard, 7, and Anna Ruth, 3. Two other children, James, 8, and Margaret, 16, are not shown in the picture.

THIS IS THEIR HOME NOW

After living in the comfortable company houses at Harmarville, the strikers and their families must call the low wooden building alongside an open ditch home. Many are hungry and need clothing. If you have a contribution, take it to the nearest fire engine house, or if you live in the outskirts, notify headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America and a representative will call.

DORIS KRESGE ACCUSES STENOGRAPHER

DORIS MERCER KRESGE

Mrs. Kresge, the former Doris Mercer, of Pittsburgh, said she found Gladys Adele Fish, a stenographer, in an apartment with her husband, Sebastian S. Kresge, when she raided it.

ACCUSED GIRL'S PARENTS STAND BY

"Our daughter would do no wrong," declared Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Fish, at Natick, Mass., when told of their daughter's plight. "She knows Mr. Kresge and so do we—but he's just a friend. She never was much of a hand for the men." Gladys left school teaching in Natick to become a stenographer in New York.

GLADYS ADELE FISH

Miss Fish has denied charges made by Mrs. Kresge, who is suing her husband for $25,000 to cover expenses of a law suit she has waged against him since 1924.

GIRL'S DELINQUENCY LAID TO TEACHER

John D. Hoyt, 29, a teacher at Liberty Manual Training School, was held for court on a statutory charge by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today.

The charge grew out of the disappearance of Lorna Barr, 17, from her home at 361 Flowers avenue, Hazelwood, for four days and her subsequent return with Hoyt, according to testimony at secret hearings.

Hoyt gave himself up to police. On Saturday when P. H. Rodgers, 55, of 5344 Rosetta street, was arraigned in a private hearing to tell what he knew of the girl's disappearance, Hoyt appeared and, arrested, revealed that he and Miss Barr had been engaged from January to June and that he was ready, at the present moment, to marry her. Rodgers was fined $5 when testimony showed he had seen the girl during her absence from home.

The girl testified that, following her disappearance last Monday, she had stayed with a girl friend one night and had spent the other two in the Pennsylvania Railroad station.

LIE IN WAIT, ROB MAN OF $5,000

Percy Harris, chain market proprietor of 6616 Beacon street, shot early yesterday by bandits who staged a holdup almost on his doorstep, was reported recovering in his home this morning. The bandits obtained $5,000 in cash and checks after cowing John Rinklvich, 18, an employe of Harris, and James Kane, of Mt. Oliver, a taxicab driver.

Harris was shot as he attempted to wrest a revolver from one of the bandits and was beaten with blackjacks as he tried to flee in an effort to save his money. The bandits escaped in a stolen automobile.

The robbers had laid in wait at the Harris home for their victim, parking their machine in the Harris driveway. A revolver was thrust into the face of the taxicab driver when he asked that the machine be moved.

Shot in the right shoulder during a struggle with a highwayman in Mt. Troy road, Reserve township, early Sunday, Herman Helfrich, about 32, of 1716 Ludy street, was found lying in the road by residents and taken to the Allegheny General Hospital. The holdup man escaped with $40.

Helfrich is a baker and was on his way home from a shop on the North Side where he is employed when attacked. He told County Detective Phillip Goldberg the man stepped from a dark alley and commanded him to hand over his money. As he turned over all the money he had, he attempted to wrest the gun from the highwayman and while struggling for possession of the weapon he was shot.

Persons living in the vicinity heard the shot and ran to Helfrich's aid, but the holdup man fled.

25-MILL CITY TAX VOTED

Council today handed Pittsburgh what citizens may deem a doubtful Christmas present in the form of a tax increase, the raise being 2.6 mills on land and 1.3 mills on buildings.

By a unanimous vote, the millage for 1928 was fixed at 25 mills on land and 12.5 mills on buildings, as compared with 22.4 and 12.2, respectively, for 1927.

Shortly before fixing the millage the lawmakers decided not to increase the water rates, but to hold them the same as in 1927.

The rate fixed will not provide sufficient funds for 100 additional policemen and 50 firemen asked in the budget presented by Mayor Charles H. Kline unless Council, in the next few days, should make unexpected slashes in appropriation items already approved.

Shortly before the increased levy was decided upon, a motion to add the 100 additional police, made by Daniel Winters, died for lack of a second. James F. Malone asked the statistician to report on the cost of adding 25, 50 and 100 police on a nine-months per year basis and on the amount that would be needed to add 10, 15 or 25 firemen.

Requests of police, firemen and other city employes for pay boosts are regarded as doomed.

The decision not to raise the water rates were made after a committee headed by Harry A. Little had presented an adverse report. The report showed, however, that the city's charges are far lower than those of private companies.

Under the terms of a law passed by the last Legislature through the efforts of Senator Frank J. Harris, the 1928 tax levy will have to be expressed in dollars and cents as well as mills. The 25-mill tax on land will mean that the taxpayer must pay $2.50 per $100 of assessed value. The tax on buildings will be $1.25 per $100 of assessed value.

ASTLEY C. TERRY DIES SUDDENLY

Astley C. Terry, secretary of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce from 1918 to 1925, who previously had served for 10 years as superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company in Pittsburgh, was found dead in bed today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. B. Fawcett, 7013 Willard street. He had suffered an attack of indigestion on Friday and was thought to be recovering. At 7:30 o'clock this morning he said he had enjoyed refreshing sleep, but an hour later when Mrs. Fawcett visited his room he was dead.

A. C. TERRY

He was born in Wellington, Canada, and for many years resided in Buffalo, where he worked with the Western Union Telegraph Company. He came to Pittsburgh nearly 25 years ago and was district manager of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

On leaving the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce two years ago he went to Miami Beach, Fla., where he was a Chamber of Commerce secretary. He was obliged to retire on account of a fractured leg, and since last April he had resided with his daughter. He leaves his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Fawcett and Mrs. William S. Cochran, of Northfield, N. J.

"MA" LINDY TAKES OFF

By International News Service.

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 19.—Carrying Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, mother of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, her message of Christmas cheer, a huge all metal tri-motored Ford airplane took off today on the first leg of the long journey to Mexico City, where Mrs. Lindbergh will spend the holidays with her famous son.

Mrs. Lindbergh's revised route was announced shortly before the take-off. It includes stops at Indianapolis, St. Louis, Springfield, Mo., Tulsa, Dallas, San Antonio, Brownsville and Tampico.

In addition to Mrs. Lindbergh, the airplane had as passengers William B. Stout, head of the Ford aircraft division; his wife, Senor Luis Lejus, representative of the Ford Motor Company, in Mexico; Harry Brooks, pilot, and Harry Russell, mechanic.

The take-off was witnessed by Henry and Edsel Ford and a score of friends, who wished Mrs. Lindbergh luck.

REACHES INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 19.—Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, mother of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, completed the first leg of her Christmas fight to Mexico when she landed at the Indianapolis airport here at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon, in the Stout all-metal Ford tri-motored airplane.

AUTO HITS WAGON NEAR TUBES: MAN HURT

Sam Sotin, 38, of 5131 Overhill street, was knocked from his wagon and dragged along the street when an auto struck the vehicle near the south end of the Armstrong tubes. Sotin was taken to Mercy Hospital suffering from cuts and bruises about the head.

HEALTH COLONY CLUB -:- SENDS ANNUAL GIFTS -:- TO CRESSON YOUNGSTERS

INSTITUTED BY AUTHOR.

The Health Colony Club of Pittsburgh, gave its annual Christmas cheer in the way of presents to children of the Cresson Tubercular Sanitarium, at Cresson, Pa. The annual giving of presents to the tubercular children, was instituted by Mary Roberts Rinehart, in 1914. Above, Mrs. Robert K. Cochrane, chairman of the Christmas party, looking over the array of dolls, sleds, skates and games.

Will Save S-4 Crew, Says Admiral Here

If any of Uncle Sam's naval men are alive in the sunken submarine S-4 their mates will rescue them if they have the barest fighting chance.

Admiral Henry B. Wilson.

Admiral Henry B. Wilson, retired, commander of the United States naval forces in France during the World War, who is in Pittsburgh today, holds this optimistic view. All the Navy's sources, he said, are being mobilized in the rescue attempt, and, if loyal comradeship and heroic deeds can accomplish anything, he believes the men will be brought out alive.

Admiral Wilson is the guest of Lieutenant Commander John D. Pennington, prohibition administrator, his former aide. While in Pennington's office this morning, he declared:

"This undersea navigation is uncanny business, but its fearsomeness is due rather to a popular misconception than to real danger. There have been only three major accidents in the entire history of our Navy's submarine operations. This is due to the efficiency of our personnel and to the alert care exercised by our officers and men."

the greatest poet in Italy. It's not for me, said the brilliant Italian, otherwise it would have been addressed to the greatest poet in the world. Even that would not be saying much, as there is no second, or even third-rate poet now living.

D'ANNUNZIO, disliking the banal, says he means to be buried in the ocean. "The sea is the sepulchre that I want and shall have."

A crematory fire makes a better grave. In the sea the body swells and becomes hideous, abhorrent to a poet, little fishes nibble at it or octopuses seizes upon it. To go up in smoke through a chimney, sail around in the sunshine as dust for awhile, then fall as fertiliser, is the least unpleasant plan.

LINDBERGH'S mother will spend Christmas with her son in Mexico City and fly there in one of Henry Ford's airplanes from Detroit. Like mother, like son, it seems. The son, after Christmas, will fly to the various countries of Central America, then come home.

TO CELEBRATE Lindbergh's friendly reception in Mexico our government will remove its embargo on shipping airplanes to Mexico and that country will be able to get as many as it may need to hunt rebels, etc. Let's hope the planes sent from our side of the border will not come flying back before we are quite ready for them.

A HUGE telescope lens, made by the Bureau of Standards, will interest real men after today's political and financial events shall have become unimportant. Every new truth seen through a telescope lasts forever and increases the dignity of the human race.

THIS giant lens, 70 inches in diameter, 12 and a half inches thick, was cast last May but is still cooling off in the furnace and will continue the cooling process until next February. Such is the careful precision with which such instruments must be made.

SOME man will find a way to make a telescope so far above our best as ours is above the little one made by Galileo when he heard that a man had put two lenses in a tube and thus brought distant objects nearer. Then we shall see the surface of the moon and our neighbor planets with our eyes, or by photography, and begin to know the universe.

JUDGE HARDY of the Superior Court in San Francisco says crime could be abolished if mothers would teach their children, in pre-school days, obedience, truthfulness, honesty and the golden rule. That is just what mothers have been teaching their children for 500,000 years, according to the light of their period, and they have achieved wonders already.

LESS than 50,000 years ago all human beings were cannibals except the lowest, most miserable specimens, too dull to kill anybody. Cannibalism has gone, and the teaching of mothers has abolished it.

SLAVERY was universal only a few years ago and the greatest Greek philosopher said no civilization would be possible without it. But it has gone, women hated it and a woman wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

THE teachings of mothers and 50,000 more years in which foreheads will be made higher and wider and the facial angle improved, will do away with crime. But poverty must go first and the miserable dullness of life in which a majority are really slaves merely transferred from "slave quarters" to the weekly payroll.

IF YOU have an old Bible look in the book of Genesis where it tells about the start of the clothing business. In the King James version Adam and Eve sew fig leaves together and make themselves aprons. But one old Bible has the word "breeches" in place of "apron" and if you find "breeches" in your Bible it is worth a large sum. A "breeches Bible" has just been discovered in Marion, N. Y. Look in your family Bible.

WHAT would have happened had Eve told the snake to mind his business, refusing the apple? Would snakes now walk on the tips of their tails, not having been condemned to travel in the dust on their bellies? Should we all be naked, would the colder regions of the earth in that case be uninhabited, would there be no industry, automobiles, radio, real estate profits? Is it conceivable that the snakes really did us a favor, making life more interesting? Certainly Eden as described would bore modern Americans.

"KING BEN" DEAD

morning an undertaker or making any announcement of his death.

Early this morning only a comparatively few of the colony who reside at the headquarters on Britain avenue knew that Benjamin had died. Many of those who heard that death had come to the 66-year-old "Seventh Messenger," refused to believe it. Those who accepted Dr. Sowers' word that Benjamin lived no more were confident that he would arise as Christ arose, on the third day.

This is the third day of Benjamin's demise. Under the state law regarding the handling of the dead Benjamin must be moved within 72 hours.

Benjamin's death is a stunning blow to the faithful. The underlying cardinal faith of Benjamin's religion was that death would never come to those who were "chosen," including himself.

The immediate cause of death, according to Dr. Sowers, was tuberculosis of the lungs.

PINCHOT WOULD CURB ELECTION COST BY LAW

A law limiting the expenditures of all candidates for national offices to 10 cents for each vote cast by the candidate's party at the preceding general election is advocated by former Gov. Gifford Pinchot in a letter received today by The Sun-Telegraph. In Pennsylvania, such a law would limit a candidate for the United States Senate to an expenditures of about $110,000.

Pinchot suggested that a candidate who exceeds the legal expenditures, or who spends money for any purpose not allowed by law, or who is found guilty of fraud or conniving at fraud, should lose the nomination or election.

"The point is to make any candidate who cheats, lose the office he cheated to get," he wrote. "That will be a far better deterrent than merely putting some minor election official in jail, desirable as that is, also."

Other features of the proposed law, which Pinchot said would be introduced in Congress shortly, would require each candidate to appoint an agent through whom all campaign expenses would be paid, would require that all contributions exceeding $5 be made by check, would prevent candidates running together as a ticket from spending more money than a candidate running alone, and would require complete publicity of expenses.

3 DETOURS ON ONE ROAD GIVES M'KEAN RECORD

KANE, Pa., Dec. 19.—The record for detours is probably held by the northeastern section of McKean county, where three detours are in use between Ceres and Shinglehouse, ordinarily a highway distance of five miles. The first detour going from Ceres is caused by a damaged bridge, the second is near the village of Myrtle, caused by the construction of a new bridge over Bell Run; the third is outside of Shinglehouse, where a new state highway is in the process of construction.

MINE BUNDLE DAY TUESDAY

CHANCE TO AID DESTITUTE IS GIVEN

Tomorrow will be Bundle Day for the families of striking miners. Throughout Western Pennsylvania an opportunity will be given citizens to aid the families of the miners, who are in dire need of food and clothing and in some cases shelter. Final plans for the collection of bundles are being completed today and from all indications there will be wholesale donations of food and wearing apparel.

Preparations are being made at Miner Relief headquarters, 1903 Fifth avenue, to receive bundles, either by mail or by personal delivery. Residents of Pittsburgh who have serviceable clothing they wish to give, principally children's shoes, are asked to leave their bundles at the relief headquarters or at the nearest fire engine house. for the miners' children, bed clothing also is wanted. Non-perishable food also will be welcomed, as many of the families are going hungry. A

While the greatest need is shoes general cleanup is being made in homes here today by those interested in securing bundles for the miners.

Arrangements also are being made in many boroughs and townships for the collection of the bundles. A central station has been designated. A truck will transport the bundles to the miners headquarters. In boroughs where no arrangements have been made, residents are asked to bring their bundles to city engine houses or send them parcel post to the miners headquarters at 1903 Fifth avenue. They also can be sent to the headquarters of the United Mine Workers in the Columbia Building, Fourth avenue and Wood street.

HOW YOU CAN AID

Pittsburghers are requested to go through their closets and trunks and take out every piece of apparel for which they have no need, add cans or packages of food, tie it into a package, and deliver it to the nearest fire engine house. The locations of the engine houses are as follows:

Boy Bandit

JOHN IVANCIK

Arrested in a gun battle with police after they had robbed the Jordan drug store at 1500 Woodlawn avenue, Woods Run, Ivancik, of 3002 Mullins street, escaped injury but his two pals were hit by bullets from police revolvers. He said he was not a relative of his namesake, John Ivancik, 16, of 3152 McClure avenue, one of the wounded pair.

LOUIS VOLZ DEAD AT 80

Louis Volz, one of the best-known German citizens of Pittsburgh, died at 10 o'clock this morning in his home, Stamm avenue, Mt. Oliver. Mr. Volz was president of the German Beneficial Union, which he founded on April 12, 1892, and which today has 75,000 members and a reserve fund of $6,000,000. He was born in Darmstadt, Hessen, March 17, 1848, the year of the German revolution. He came to America in 1872, after having served in the Franco-Prussian War. For many years he was in the printing business. His death was the result of pneumonia. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity and of the Allentown Turners.

PARTING OF WAYS HOME OPENS MAIL CAMPAIGN

Residents of Pittsburgh and Allegheny county are being solicited by mail to enroll in the annual membership effort of the Parting of the Ways Home, 216 East Stockton avenue, North Side, where released prisoners are given aid to assist them to lives of usefulness and respectability.

Membership in the home is gained by contribution to its work, the amount of the contribution being fixed by the donor. The funds contributed in this manner are placed in the operation and maintenance fund and used to conduct the reform activities among released prisoners. This is the only appeal of the home for released prisoners. It conducts no tag days and receives no financial aid from the city, county or state.

AUTO THIEF SUSPECT FACES MANY CHARGES

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 19.—Frank Wilson, San Antonio, Tex., arrested Tuesday for automobile theft, is wanted on numerous charges at Shelby, O., according to reports received by Sheriff Nierstheimer. Wilson must answer to the charge of passing worthless checks in Livingston county before either Ohio or Texas officials can obtain his custody.

To you who are suffering and unable to find relief by ordinary means, new hope is now offered through the I-ON-A-CO, an electro-magnetic appliance which is a powerful foe to pain and disease.

Most diseases start with toxaemia—that is, a poisoned condition of the body. In the normal cell growth of the body, there are produced waste products which must be oxidized before they can be eliminated. When these are not oxidized, when they do not combine with the oxygen which we breathe and which is carried in the blood stream, they remain in the tissues and poison the body.

Many scientific authorities agree that the atoms contained in the body cells are subject to the influence of electro-magnetic lines of force. The I-ON-A-CO acts upon the component ions of the cells, increasing cell activity and through this increase promotes oxidation, which is the normal process by which toxic products are eliminated.

There is nothing mysterious about the I-ON-A-CO. It is based upon a simple scientific theory. However every theory must stand or fall by results. And in the case of I-ON-A-CO, you are invited to experience these results for yourself—without charge, without the slightest obligation on your part.

Come in and take a Delightful 10-minute FREE TREATMENT

There are no drugs used in the treatment, no exercising, no manipulation. You simply place the I-ON-A-CO around the shoulders, without removing the clothing.
Surely renewed health, happiness, relief from pain is worth your making this simple test. Visit us today. Judge the I-ON-A-CO solely by what it does for you.

An Electric Radio

No other Christmas gift can give quite so much pleasure as an Electric Radio. Wonderful musical programs ... exciting sports events ... instructive lectures ... news of the moment ... come over the air at the twist of the dial—the new models have eliminated all bothersome batteries and eliminators and maximum power comes directly from the light socket The rich, wonderful new tone—made possible by the new A. C. and power tubes, and improved speakers, is like nothing else in radio.

There is still time to select an Electric Radio and have it installed for Christmas eve. Nine leading makes of Electric Radio—the largest and finest line in the city—available here:

Stromberg-Carlson Zenith Crosley
Atwater Kent Radiola Steinite
Kellogg Sparton Bosch

Electric Sets from $130.00 (complete) up

Illustrated—a five-tube Stromberg-Carlson, used with the Stromberg-Carlson wall-type speaker, which is suspended like a picture. Complete, $498.50.

Convenient Payments.

"I SPY"

Being the observations of an adventuring Christmas Shopper in quest of the unusual.

A Little Grandmother Clock of solid mahogany in chaste Colonial design. Its companionable face warns "Tempus Fugit!" and its base is a little cupboard in which to lock keepsakes. A friendly gift. $100.00. Sixth Floor.

AN ENCHANTING Candelabra, wrought by hand in England, of antique brass and supporting five tapers. A bell suspended in its stem adds greatly to its charm. Singly or in pairs. Each, $20.00. Floor of Ideas, Fifth Floor.

A French, Negligee whose colors major in black and minor in yellow. Black satin trimmed with yellow marabou edged with black curled ostrich. For decor, a huge heron of infinite grace. $110.00. Third Floor.

LLAMA Wool Stockings from Great Britain with hand clocking, which will end your search for the softest, smartest thing imaginable in warm hose. Appropriate for her who loves sports togs. $7.50. Main Floor.

ITALIAN Baskets packed with Lady Anne Toiletries. So there can be no mistake, Lady Anne, herself, will help you choose—as many or as few as you wish. As a gift, nothing could be nicer. Upwards from $5.00. Balcony.

A Real Dresden China Lady with lace-trimmed dress and holding an old-fashioned nose-gay. When illumiuated she makes a bewitching lamp. A very "gifty" gift. $37.50. On the interesting Floor of Ideas, Fifth Floor.

Fine Dresser Sets

Beautiful three-piece dresser sets of sterling silver such as the one shown here, come in three patterns. "Delphine" (shown) $95.00. "Camille," $75.00. "Corinne," $90.00 set.

Seven-piece set of enamel, $50.00. Six-piece set of enamel with miniature design, $50.00.

Four-piece set of filigree gilt encrusted with carnelians and green stones, $75.00

Ten-piece French gilt set with miniature hand-painted on ivory set in rose or blue enamel, $295.00.

Fourteen-piece set with hand-painted miniature on ivory, heavily encrusted with jewels, $375.00.

Old English Silver

A few beautiful pieces of rare old English silver, dating from the time of George III, are for sale in the Sterling Silver Shop. Also several pieces of fine Old Sheffield plate. Included are entrees, candlesticks, trays, tea services, baskets and sauce boats.

MAN HELD 2 COUNTY JOBS, AUDIT PROBERS TOLD

DREW DOUBLE PAY, HEARING REVEALS

Chalmers B. Topley, of Wilkinsburg, held two county jobs for more than a year, receiving a salary as a health officer as well as a clerk in the commissioners' office, testimony revealed today at Controller C. C. McGovern's audit hearing.

Dr. John Conover, county medical director, testified he had been informed six or eight months ago that Topley, who had been appointed a health officer at $165 or $170 a month by former Gov. Gifford Pinchot, also was employed in the commissioners' office at $200 a month.

County Solicitor W. Heber Dithrich explained that when Gov. Fisher took office, Topley was dropped from his position with the commissioners.

Mrs. James A. Cannon and daughter, Alice, of Ingram, testified that in August, 1926, a county truck load of posts and fence materials was dumped off at the home of Frank Forrest, a county employe, in Ingram, and that subsequently the posts were used in building a fence around Forrest's yard.

After officers of the Westmoreland Country Club, Penn township, failed to answer when their names were called, Controller McGovern announced that a charge of $10,000 would be entered against the club for county materials and equipment used, McGovern says, in making improvements on the club grounds.

Solicitor Dithrich said a grave mistake had been made in previous testimony of William McClurg Donley, engineer for McGovern, in charging that contractors had duped the county by using poplar and chestnut posts for road barriers instead of the specified locust. The posts in question, Dithrich said, were installed by the State Highway Department and the County Road Maintenance Bureau.

McGovern said he would be glad to take testimony of county employes to that effect and set Wednesday for an airing of the charges.

'Funny Folks' Orders All to Be Filled

A replenished supply of "All the Funny Folks" rests on the counters of many news dealers and news stands today. And with it came the promise that every order in before Wednesday night will be delivered before Christmas. This is made possible by the publishers of this great comics book, who are rushing an emergency supply for last-minute buyers.

With this ideal gift—112 pages of jingles, prose, illustrations and fun—within reach of everyone's pocketbook, no belated shoppers will be disappointed.

For those who have just discovered the story of the comic characters, let it be known that it is written by Jack Lait. The book is bound in green cloth, contains an interesting story of the aristocrats of the newspaper comic sections, and is illustrated with 500 drawings in full colors.

Likely your news dealer has a supply. If not, search through the paper, find the advertisement and send in the coupon to The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, "All the Funny Folks" department, and your order will be filled

OLD WEST WASHINGTON SCHOOL TO BECOME HOTEL

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 19.—The old West Washington public school will be converted into a hotel by George M. Swingle, who has just purchased the structure. The hotel will have 25 rooms.

5 BANDITS KILL BANK CASHIER

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—John W. Hopson, assistant cashier of the Hodiamont Bank, was shot and killed and John G. McCool, chief bookkeeper, was shot in the chest and seriously wounded today by five robbers who held them up three blocks from the bank and escaped with between $10,000 and $15,000.

Hopson and McCool were carrying the money from the Bank of University City to the Hodiamont Bank. The windows of their sedan were shot out.

Mining Town Parents Pray for Son on S-4

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Dec. 19.—An elderly mother and father today sent up prayers that their son is one of the six still alive in the sunken submarine S-4.

In their modest home in the mining town of Vinco, near here, Arthur and Gertrude Kempfed listened tearfully to neighbors' reassurances that "their Paul" might still spend with them the Christmas holidays. He had written them just last Friday that he had been granted a 10-day furlough to be with them on Christmas day.

Paul, 24, quit his job as electrician in Vintondale in 1924 to join the navy. His enlistment period was to end in five months.

POLICE NEXT DOOR, BUT THIEVES STRIKE

Police were no drawback to thieves who entered a new structure at 1905 Center avenue and escaped with tools valued at $350. The Center Avenue Police Station is located next door.

Dressing for the Holidays

If One Is Going Away

—she will revel in a travel dress from the women's Tailor-Type Section, made of one of the delightful sheer woolens, especially brought out for The Fifth Season which smart femininity is now observing. It may be of striped or checked composette, or of solid-color wool georgette, in notably subtle colorings. $29.50 to $55.00.

Or it may be one from the Misses' Shop, of featherweight tweed or wool crepe, which need cost but $25.00.

For the Christmas Dinner

For this important hour of family gatherings, a woman may choose a chic, graceful dress of satin in black or matinee beige, perhaps a simply styled one with the new Vionnet neckline, which makes a smart back-ground for modern costume jewelry. Or, possibly a dress of printed silk or chiffon in The Fifth Season's new patterns. $39.50 to $95.00.

If one is between sixteen and twenty, then a frock of georgette crepe or chiffon, with animation in its pleated skirt — in amberglow, a warm red shade, a soft blue or green. $25.00 to $65.00.

For the Gay Evenings of Christmas Week

Women's Evening Wraps, of metal brocades and velvets—lightweight ones at $49.50, interlined models at $59.50 to $250.00. Misses' Wraps, $39.50 to $225.00.

Women's Evening Dresses of transparent velvet, satin, georgette crepe and crepe romaine, beautifully plain or rhinestone studded. $39.50 to $95.00.

Misses' Evening Frocks—models with the new "crisp" silhouette, others softly fluttering, and dazzling beaded frocks from Paris. $25.00 to $150.00.

Evening Slippers, of metal brocades, silver and gold kid, and satin. $10.00 to $20.00. (Satin slippers dyed to order at a few hours' notice).

Dolores Del Rio, Recovering From Mosquito Bites, to Star In "The Red Dancer of Moscow"

By DOROTHY HERZOG

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 19.

JAIME DEL RIO—Dolores' husband—departed recently for New York on business. Jaime (pronounced Heime) owns vast real estate holdings in Mexico, not the least of which is a millionaire ranch. A British syndicate has been dickering for this property, and Jaime has at last decided to sell, if transaction details can be satisfactorily arranged.

It is not at all likely he will return West in time to spend Christmas with his wife.

Doldres has been ill for the past few days with a bad case of septicaemia. She was poisoned by mosquitos recently, and rubbed a liquid on the ailing bites, causing a painful swelling. She is recovering slowly.

Miss Del Rio's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Asunsolo, have arrived to spend the holidays with her. Mr. Asunsolo is a banker in Mexico City.

Meantime, the story of "The Red Dancer of Moscow," is being molded into shape at the Fox plant, and Dolores begins work on it shortly, under the direction of Raoul Walsh, who will also enact the role of the lover, with Charlie Farrell and Andres de Segurola prominent in the cast. Walsh returned to the silver sheet as an actor in "Sadie Thompson," Gloria Swanson's current cinema, developed by him.

Much has been heard concerning Tod Browning's future directorial plans. Tod has written and megaphoned many of Lon Chaney's M.-G.-M. hits. His contract expired with the completion of Chaney's latest, "The Big City," and it was doubtful if Tod would renew. He signed on the dotted line last week, however, and remains with M.-G.-M. Prior to beginning any new film, Browning entrains to New York on January 10 and goes thence to Europe, for a vacation for two or three months.

Alice Joyce is another who sails in January. If present plans materialize—and everything points to them doing so, she will star in a Harley Knoles cinema to be produced in London. Alice will enact a modern mother part. She is in New York at present with her husband, James B. Regan, Jr. She recently completed "The Noose."

Scenes seen!

Hedda Hopper and Marie Dressler joyously pepped up over their abruptly planned jaunt to New York. They will be gone until January, making their Manhattan headquarters at the Ritz. Lucky Hedda and Marie. . . . Fred Thompson has been puttering around with a three-cylinder engine for his motor boat, putting enough power into the three to equal six or eight. Fred is so pleased with results, he has entered his motorboat in the races in San Diego.

Wilke Howard lunching with George Bancroft and Myron Selznick in the Famous Players studio lunch room. Bill and "His Country" troop are shooting scense on F. P.'s spacious New York set. 'Tis Bill's first invasion of this lot since he departed two years ago. . . . Rudolph Schildkraut, star o' the flick, arriving at the studio made-up as an immigrant. The gateman took one peep at him and spoke rough. Mr. Schildkraut argued he was working on the lot. But you can't tell a gateman anything. Not this season. Finally, Schildkraut turned away, prepared to go home. Another member of the company managed to convince the gateman he was a player and not a crasher!

Blanche Sweet gave a birthday party for her grandmother, Mrs. Alexander, somewhere in the sixties, but the youngest youngster in Hollywood.

Bad-News Nora Speaks

KATE PRICE and Sally O'Neil in a scene from "The Lovelorn," soon to be on the screen. It is from the Beatrice Fairfax serial of the same title which has been appearing in The Sun-Telegraph.

MUSICAL COMEDY IN BILLS

"Rose Marie" again will be seen in the Alvin for one week, beginning tonight with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Beulah Berson, Paul Donah, Hazel Guadreau, Charles Meakins, Peggy Pates, Houston Richards, Daisy Gibson, Sano Marco, Ross Gibson, Neil Moore and 90 others are in the company.

Tonight, the second and last week of the mystery thriller, "Wooden Kimono" opens in the Nixon. Matinees will be held Wednesday and Saturday.

The Alvin will house "The Shanghai Gesture" Christmas week, beginning Christmas night, and playing the regular matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Florence Reed will be seen in the leading role, and in her support is the same cast that presented this dramatic offering in New York and Chicago for long runs.

Earl Carroll's "Vanities," which ran all last season in the Earl Carroll Theater in New York, will be presented in the Nixon Christmas week, opening with a Monday matinee, with the regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees. The company is headed by Moran and Mack, the "Two Black Crows," blackface humorists; Julius Tannen, jester; Johnny Dooley, comedian and eccentric dancer, and Norman Frescott, mind-reader and comedian.

Maxwell Anderson's comedy, "Saturday's Children," with Ruth Gordon heading the cast, will be the Christmas week attraction in the Pitt, beginning with a matinee Christmas Day and playing the usual matinees Thursday and Saturday. The cast includes Humphrey Bogart, Ruth Hammond, Frederick Perry and others.

Rose Rosanova In Film Version Of "Abie"

They've been busy around the casting office of the Paramount studios in Hollywood lately trying to locate an actress suited to the comedy role of Sarah, the deaf housekeeper, in the picturization of Anne Nichols' "Abie's Irish Rose." That actress has just been chosen. She is Rosa Rosanova.

Miss Rosanova last completed an important role in "His People," which starred Rudolph Schuldkraut, and did another big piece of work in D. W. Griffith's latest, "Drums of Love." Prior to that she was in a number of earlier successes, including "Blood and Sand," in which she played the mother of the late Rudophe Valentino, and was with Eddie Cantor in "Special Delivery." She is a former star of the Russian stage, beginning in Moscow when 16 years old.

MAN BURNED WHEN SPARK FROM PIPE SETS COT AFIRE

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 19.—When a spark from his pipe ignited a cot on which he was lying, Robert McDaniel, 39, suffered burns that may cost his life. He was taken to the Washington Hospital with burns on his face, arms and shoulders after being rescued by neighbors. Only slight property damage was caused.

ACTRESS DEFEND MELODRAMA

By FLORENCE REED,

Starring in "The Shanghai Gesture."

The drama deals, or should deal, with the high points of life—with its tensions, its climaxes, its moments of victory or defeat. In short, the drama's at its best when it deals with a melodrama of life—either on the emotions of the mind, or of the body.

An actual physical struggle would perhaps more accurately and vividly symbolize the function of the theater as distinct from all other mediums of literary expression than a thousand words of Oscar Wilde, or a thousand shrewd comments of Bernard Shaw on the unsatisfactory world in which we live.

The Greek tragedies were melodramas. The tragedies of Shakespeare are melodramas. I speak of their dramatic content apart from their poetry. Stripped of its jewels of words and its splendid music, "Macbeth" is "blood and thunder." So is "Othello." So is the final scene in "Hamlet." I think the critics, if they were taken unaware by them and had not three centuries of preparation, would find them as easy to poke fun at as they do at the melodramas of their contemporaries.

This is a critical attitude I do not at all understand. Why the gentlemen of the press treat melodrama as if it were some poor relation of the theater, I do not know. Do they deny its validity as a form of dramatic expression? If so, why don't they boldly and uncompromisingly say so, and have done. If not—if melodrama is still a legitimate form of expression in the theater—is it not worth dignified consideration?

I love and admire comedy and wit and fantasy and romance in the theater. I do not think I need be instructed in delight and reverence for Moliere and Sheridan and Congreve and Goldsmith and Shaw. I like the sophisticated and the urbane and the suave. I am even interested in some of the brooding and mysterious and evasively profound things that come to us out of Greenwich Village, and sometimes out of central Europe.

But these are neither all of life nor all of the drama. People do have powerful emotions; life and love do get a bit violent in this uncertain world; clashes ensue; murder and sudden death, and these things have been greatly reported in the theater. They still may be, I hope. I still confidently believe that a melodrama may not only be validly written out of the Nordic world, but out of the more colorful life of the Orient and take thereby an added vividness, in its background. Like "The Shanghai Gesture," for instance.

Feminine Beauties "Atmosphere" In "Love"

Edmund Goulding, the screen's famous exponent of sophisticated drama, seems to be out for a new honor. He has made a bid for the title "Ziegfeld of the Screen."

In his ballroom scenes in "Love," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's filmization of Tolstoi's "Anna Karenina," which opens Monday, December 26, in the Penn, he has assembled what sober observers declared the most remarkable array of feminine beauty ever gathered at a studio. Goulding put in several days gathering a bevy of "matched pearls," so to speak; the prettiest girls in the ranks of the screen extras, all of the same type, to form a picturesque background in the grand ball, in which John Gilbert and Greta Garbo appear in a spectacular replica of a Russian function, in the days when the Russian court was the gayest in the world.

Handsome officers in gorgeous uniforms, and the "handpicked" collection of girls in elaborate costume, appear in a large setting, depicting a royal castle in Russia in the days of the czar. Choosing the "beauty chorus" was one of the elaborate jobs of the director and casting office.

Gilbert has the role of Count Vronsky, and Miss Garbo plays the tragic Anna. The cast includes George Fawcett, Brandon Hurst, Emily Fitzroy and many other notables, it is pointed out.

Two Heroines For Barthelmess Picture

Richard Barthelmess has returned from his brief vacation following the completion of the picturization of Willard Mack's stage play, "The Noose," and is at First National Studios preparing to start work on John Fox, Jr.'s, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come."

Barthelmess will have two leading ladies in "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come." They are Molly O'Day, who played in "The Patent Leather Kid," and May McAvoy. Gardner James will play the second male role.

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" is to be an Alfred Santell production, and he will personally direct the picture. It was Santell who was at the megaphone on "The Patent Leather Kid."

Ann Nichols Lauds Newspapers As Ad Medium

Newspapers are the greatest advertising mediums in the world, declares Anne Nichols, author and producer of "Abie's Irish Rose." Before "Abie" came to the Paramount studio in Hollywood, where it is being made into a moving picture, more than $1,500,000 was spent in newspaper advertising, and the results of this tremendous campaign were greater than through any other method. In Europe the press was the only form of advertising used by the "Abie" companies, says Miss Nichols.

HEBREWS HONOR TREE OF LIFE TEACHER

Abraham Goldstein, sexton and Hebrew teacher at the Tree of Life Synagogue, Craft avenue, Oakland, for 44 years, was the honor guest at a celebration of his seventieth birthday anniversary in the synagogue last night. Several hundred members of the congregation and former students, as well as members of Mr. Goldstein's family, attended.

An elaborate program of entertainment and complimentary addresses preceded a social hour, for which the sisterhood of the congregation acted as hostesses. The speakers included J. H. Frank, president of the congregation, who presented Mr. Goldstein with a substantial purse; M. D. Bachrach, chairman of the school committee; and Rabbi Herman Hailperin. Mrs. Caroline Himeblau and Miss Gertrude Grossman sang, accompanied by Mrs. Edward Lencher. Master Jack Larner played the violin to a piano accompaniment by Mrs. A. L. Balter.

Mr. Goldstein's five children and nine grandchildren were present.

Policemen and Firemen Must Be Fit

To be an efficient policeman or fireman a man must be physically fit. This is the contention of Director James M. Clark, Public Safety Department. Starting today each member of the police and fire bureau will be put through a strenuous physical examination. Dr. Daniel E. Sable, chief surgeon, Public Safety Department, will have charge of the examination.

The physical requirements of both the police and fire departments are said to be the strictest in the country. Tests of sight, hearing, weight-lifting, blood pressure, strength of arms and legs and alertness are a few of the hurdles the fireman or policeman must pass if he wishes to continue a member of either department.

Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh and Fire Chief Richard Smith were the first two to "strip" and take the tests today. District fire chiefs and police inspectors also were examined today. It will take about two weeks to complete the examinations. Dr. Sable will be assisted in the examinations by Thomas M. Clark.

NEVADA SMELTER FACES RECEIVER

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Officers of the Eureka Smelting Company of Nevada, owners of the Eureka Croesus mine, today were ordered by the Federal Court of the Seventh district to show cause December 23 why a receiver should not be appointed for the company. Charles A. Crane, of Boston, a stockholder and creditor, instituted the action.

GASOLINE FOUND IN FIRE; HOLD SUSPECT

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Dec. 19.—Seven inner tubes filled with gasoline were discovered by firemen fighting a fire in the two-story frame building at 1265 Fifth avenue, here this morning and resulted in the arrest of Umbert Manjuria, owner of the building. Damage amounted to $600. It was the fourth fire in the building in four months.

As firemen burst into the kitchen a tube, believed to have been placed over the door dropped and exploded. Three of the filled tubes exploded, and four others were found intact.

Levi Adams, Negro, only occupant of the place, claimed he had been requested to stay in the building by Manjuria. According to Adams, Manjuria and his wife left the place Saturday night. This morning Manjuria was taken into custody by Fire Marshal Raymond Stevenson, who is investigating.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Christmas Spirit Creeps Into Dinners and Dances as Holidays Approach

WITH ideal Christmas weather here and Christmas itself just a few days off, the Yuletide spirit creeps into every dance and dinner and luncheon.

At the dinner-dance the M. Baird Youngs of Penn avenue gave Saturday evening in the Longue Vue Country Club in honor of Nan Bunton, the debutante daughter of the C. C. Buntons, the holiday spirit ran riot. Crimson masses of poinsettias and miniature Christmas trees decorated the table, at which covers were laid for 24.

Nan is to come out, you will recall, at a tea-dance her parents will give on Wednesday in the Pittsburgh Country Club, Beechwood boulevard.

The Christmas season, when everyone is imbued with the spirit of Tiny Tim, is always a profitable time for benefits, philanthropic society women have found.

One of these Yuletide benefits is that given this afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock in the Hotel Schenley for the Girl Scouts of Allegheny County.

Mrs. W. Edgar Reed, who is chairman of the benefit, has named these men to serve on the floor committee: George Latimer McCook, Wilfred Murtland, James H. McCutcheon, Edgar K. Lowry, R. Manrice Trimble, Jr., W. McCook Reed, Gordon Fisher, Jr., William B. Schiller, Jr., Chester J. Verner Scaife, Jr., and James O. Flower II.

Now that members of the school set are arriving in the city daily from the East, the debutantes will have rivals; for the school set is going to be honored at many a party during the all too brief fortnight.

Dr. and Mrs. Ogden M. Edwards of Fifth avenue will entertain with a small dinner and dance in the Pittsburgh Golf Club the evening of December 31 for their youngest daughter, Katherine Harkness Edwards. Katherine will arrive home on Thursday from Dobbs Ferry.

There will be a good old-fashioned Christmas at the Edwards home, for their family will have a typical Yuletide family reunion. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cook of New York will arrive in the city tomorrow and Mr. and Mrs. Harkness Edwards came last Thursday. Mrs. Cook is the former Lela Hakness Edwards. And the Harkness Edwards, needless to say, are the son and daughter-in-law.

The Thomas Drummond Chantlers of the Ruskin will join their son and daughter-in-law, the Everett Chantlers, in Philadelphia for the holidays. Mrs. Chantler will then go to Savannah, Ga., to spend the remainder of the winter with her son-in-law and daughter, the Frederick J. Robinsons. Later in the season Mr. Chantler will join her there.

Jane Marjorie Jenkins, daughter of Mrs. C. A. Jenkins of the Stanton Arms Apartments, will return this week from Miss Sayward's School, Philadelphia, and remain in the city throughout the holidays.

Another member of the school set home for the holidays will be Dean C. Masten, son of the R. C. Mastens of the Schenley Apartments, who will arrive Tuesday from the Milford School, Milford, Conn.

Among the Princeton boys who arrived in the city on Saturday for the holiday season were Lyle Thoburn, John Wilson of South Rebecca street, and John D. Singley II, son of Dr. and Mrs. John D. Singley of North Highland avenue.

Eleanor Chalfant, daughter of the Henry Chalfants of Ridge avenue, is home from New York for the holidays. Eleanor has been studying at Columbia University for several months.

Miss Emily Lippincott will entertain at a tea-dance December 29 in her home in Sewickley for her nieces, Adele and Marianna Lippincott. Adele and Marianna go to Briarcliff Manor.

Frank Moore Bowie, of Avondale place, announces the engagement of his daughter, Miss Janet Way Bowie, to Walter G. Flood, of South Negley avenue.

Among the girls who will return Wednesday from the National Park Seminary, Washington, D. C., for the holidays are Miss Mary Mildred McAteer, Miss Elizabeth Kramer, Miss Ursula Hart, Miss Helen Louise Brown and Miss Mary Louise McCaskey.

THAT WOMAN-HATER FROM YALE!

YALE THESPIANS AT CARNEGIE HALL.

Showing a scene from "That Woman Business," which the Yale Dramatic Club presents tomorrow night in Carnegie Music Hall.

Yale Dramatic Club Presents Play

"This Woman Business" is the title of the play to be given by the Yale Dramatic Club at Carnegie Music Hall tomorrow night.

The play portrays a satire on manners. Light, breezy humor and keen characterization are the outstanding features.

It deals with the intentions and actions of an enlightened group of misogynists, who have declared a masculine holiday in the country with a ban on all women. A comedy of manners, the play is entirely English in atmosphere.

The setting is in an English country shire. Hodges, a confirmed woman-hater, played by W. Hobson, class of 1928, has invited a number of his friends to spend a few weeks in the country on a strictly no-woman basis. Hodges has so far progressed in his theory of woman-hatred that he is writing a little essay on the immoral and ruthless ways of a "useless sex."

A disrupting element at this masculine house party is a woman. A girl bursts in upon this man's habitation as a thief; she remains as a maid; becomes a beloved mother to them all; is loved secretly by the various members of the party, who do not dare admit it to the others. Besides Hobson, the cast includes C. B. Ives, A. Lambert, G. A. Sanderson, J. K. Jessup, S. O. Jones, C. T. Bingham, R. S. Allison and L. M. Baldwin.

Many social events have been planned for the Yale boys while in the city, and large parties are expected to be in attendance at the performance of "This Woman Business" tomorrow night.

The Death Roll

W. E. Wrenshall.

William Ebbs Wrenshall, 79, member of a pioneer Western Pennsylvania family and grandson of Christopher Cowan, who in 1812 built the first Pittsburgh rolling mill, died Thursday at his home in Woodville. He was a son of John F. and Mary Ann Cowan Wrenshall. His paternal grandfather, John Wrenshall, was the pioneer of Methodism in Pittsburgh, and the first Methodist meetings were held in his home. Later he was ordained a preacher and officiated at "Old Brimstone Corner" church in Smithfield street. The Wrenshalls were blood relatives of the Washington family on the Potomac.

William E. Wrenshall was graduated from the Western University of Pennsylvania. For many years he was vestryman of the Episcopal Church of St. Luke's on Chartiers. He leaves his wife, Sarah Steele Wrenshall; a son, William Ebbs Wrenshall, Jr., and a daughter, Mary Wrenshall Fauset.

John M. Brown.

John M. Brown, 89, died Saturday in the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. S. Cousley, 1429 Denniston avenue. Mr. Brown was born in Blairsville and came to Pittsburgh with his parents when a child. He was the first man to enlist in Company F, Sixth United States Cavalry, and served in that organization through the Civil War. He was a member of the G. A. R. since 1881 and for a long time was connected with Post No. 128, in which he served as commander. During his membership in this post he located the records and secured markers for 291 soldiers' unmarked graves. He was a member of the Arch Street Methodist Episcopal Church for 46 years. He was a civil engineer. Besides Mrs. Cousley, he leaves four other children: Daniel H. Brown, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. John M. McComb, of New York; Mrs. Charles D. Park, of Wilkinsburg, and Lewis E. Brown, of Salt Lake City.

Capt. Peter W. Boli.

Capt. Peter W. Boli, 74, county public works department employe and retired river pilot, died Friday at his home, 503 Kelly street. Born at Port Perry on the Monongahela River, near Braddock, Capt. Boli for more than 60 years was actively associated with the rivers about Pittsburgh. He piloted vessels down the Ohio and Mississippi to New Orleans. Years ago, when sculling on the rivers was a popular sport, Capt. Boli was a noted oarsman and took part in many races. He was a member of the Second United Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg. He leaves a daughter, Miss Enid Boli; a son, Robert F. Boli; two brothers, George C. Bolol, of Pittsburgh, and W. C. Boli, of Braddock, and two sisters, Mrs. George Soles and Mrs. Elizabeth Boli, both of Braddock.

Enoch George.

Enoch George, Sr., 71, for 26 years a blacksmith for the city of Pittsburgh, died Sunday in his home at 239 Holmes street. Mr. George was born August 27, 1856, at Halton Chirk, North Wales, and immigrated to America in 1881. He was an active worker in the First Primitive Methodist Church, Holmes street, serving as secretary of the board of trustees and superintendent of the Sunday school for 35 years. He leaves his widow, Mrs. S. A. George; three daughters, Mrs. Edith Leach of Cleveland, O.; Miss Anna and Miss Elizabeth George, at home; six sons, Arthur, Joseph, Thomas, Enoch, Jr., Samuel and Charles George, all of Pittsburgh; a sister and 10 grandchildren.

Michael Wolfarth.

Michael Wolfarth, 82, husband of Mrs. Susannah Renger Wolfarth, died Sunday in St. Margaret's Hospital. Mr. Wolfarth was born in Germany and came to Pittsburgh in 1865. He had lived in Aspinwall 25 years. For 25 years he had been superintendent of funerals in Allegheny Cemetery. He was a member of the Sharpsburg Evangelical Lutheran Church. Besides his widow, he leaves a son, Henry M. Wolfarth; three daughter, Mrs. C. H. Wamhoff, Mrs. John F. Loresch, both of Aspinwall, and Mrs. P. J. Wagner, Pittsburgh; 17 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Closs.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bielel Closs, 58, a lifelong resident of Pittsburgh, and active in local politics, died Sunday in her home on Kirk avenue, Carrick. Mrs. Closs, who was the mother of Justice of the Peace Harry Closs of Carrick was born on the South Side. She lived in Carrick for the last 25 years. She took keen interest in politics and was one of the charter members of the Allegheny County League of Women Voters. She was a member of St. Basil's Catholic Church. She leaves two children, Miss Florence Closs and Squire Closs.

Alexander H. Gilchrist.

Alexander H. Gilchrist, 77, a resident of Pittsburgh for 58 years, died Saturday in his home at 234 McKee place. Mr. Gilchrist, who for 25 years was associated with E. E. Baker Company, office furniture, was born in Keene, O., February, 1852. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Lida M. Gilchrist; a son, W. C. Gilchrist of Los Angeles, Cal., and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Morrow.

Cyrus W. Thomas.

Cyrus W. Thomas, 66, manager of the Bellefield dwellings and a vestryman of St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church, died Saturday at his home in the Bellefield dwellings, Center and Bellefield avenues. Born in Niles, O., he came to Pittsburgh about 29 years ago and until a year ago was connected with the John W. Hubbard Company. He leaves his widow, Mrs. C. W. Thomas; one daughter, Mrs. Aldin Sherrill, of Tarentum, and one son, Paul Thomas, of New York.

Mrs. Kathryn Kearns.

Mrs. Kathryn Kearns, 81, died Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Kathryn Hagan, 5167 Columbo street. Born in Ireland, Mrs. Kearns came to this country as a girl and lived for more than 50 years in the old Sixth Ward. She was a member of Old St. Paul's Cathedral parish and Epiphany parish of the Catholic Church. She leaves her daughter and one son, John J. Kearns.

Joseph Cohen.

Joseph Cohen, 63, died Sunday in his home, 2307 Pittock street. Mr. Cohen was a member of Beth Jacob Congregation and Pittsburgh Lodge No. 16, Order Knights of Jacob. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Annie E. Cohen, and a son, Julius A. Cohen.

Mrs. Ross C. Mohler.

Mrs. Blanche Staving Mohler, wife of Ross C. Mohler of Ingomar, died Saturday in St. John's Hospital after a brief illness. Mrs. Mohler was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Staving. She leaves her husband, four daughters, Miss Marjorie, Miss Jane, Miss Alice and Miss Louise Mohler; a brother, Edward Staving of Pittsburgh; two sisters, Miss Clara G. Staving of Bellevue and Mrs. Harvey E. Naser of Tuscarawas, O.

H. Albert Sheppard.

H. Albert Sheppard, 49, died in his home, 118 Sarah street, South Side, Friday evening, December 16. He conducted a grocery store in the South Side market for many years, and was a member of the Bingham Street M. E. church. He leaves his widow, Bella Sheppard, nee Sanders, and two daughters, Betty and Melba Milde Sheppard.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

WHY MEN DON'T UNDERSTAND WOMEN

EVERY woman goes through life looking for enchantment.

Every woman wants to dramatize herself, her life, her love-affairs—and even her husband.

That is what makes her do all the foolish things and all the sublime things, which frighten, annoy or amaze men, and keep them wondering about her.

To a man, life, love and women are just facts. To a woman, life is a play, love the third act, and the leading man of the moment is the "hero."

HELEN ROWLAND

That is why men never can understand woman.

When a woman feels like staging a romantic scene, she doesn't wait for Prince Charming to arrive; she picks out the nearest personal man and drapes her illusions on him, dramatizes him and splashes her sentiment all over him. Many a perfectly unsuspecting man has been astonished to be rushed off his feet, propped up on a pedestal, handed a halo, and "emoted" over.

But, if a woman were not gifted with beautiful illusions, she could never visualize the blundering, incoherent creature in tweeds and a stiff collar who caresses her with one hand, while he runs his car with the other, as the romantic Adonis of her dreams.

It's her search for enchantment, her imagination and her illusions that sustain a woman all through this sordid, commonplace life and make it bearable for her.

She parts with her illusions as reluctantly as she does with her teeth, one by one, resorting to all sorts of devices to retain each to the last moment.

* * *

The most tragic moment of her life is that in which she takes off her rose-colored glasses and looks at life and her lover through the painful clarity of her bi-focals.

* * *

A man on the other hand, is much more comfortable when he has gotten rid of his illusions. When he finds that it is time to give them up, he philosophically "has 'em ALL OUT"—and lets it go at that!

* * *

By the time a man has reached forty or fifty, he has enough to worry him, what with his business, his neuritis, his speculations, his reducing diet and his golf course, without wishing for any illusions to complicate matters.

* * *

But, many a woman spends half her Indian summer HUNTING for her vanished illusions, and trying to stage a beautiful "last act" for the drama of Youth, before the curtain goes down.

* * *

For a woman knows that she is old, indeed, when her last illusion has been burned out and her last love-affair has faded out. If she has never found her Isle of Enchantment, by then, she feels that she has never really LIVED!

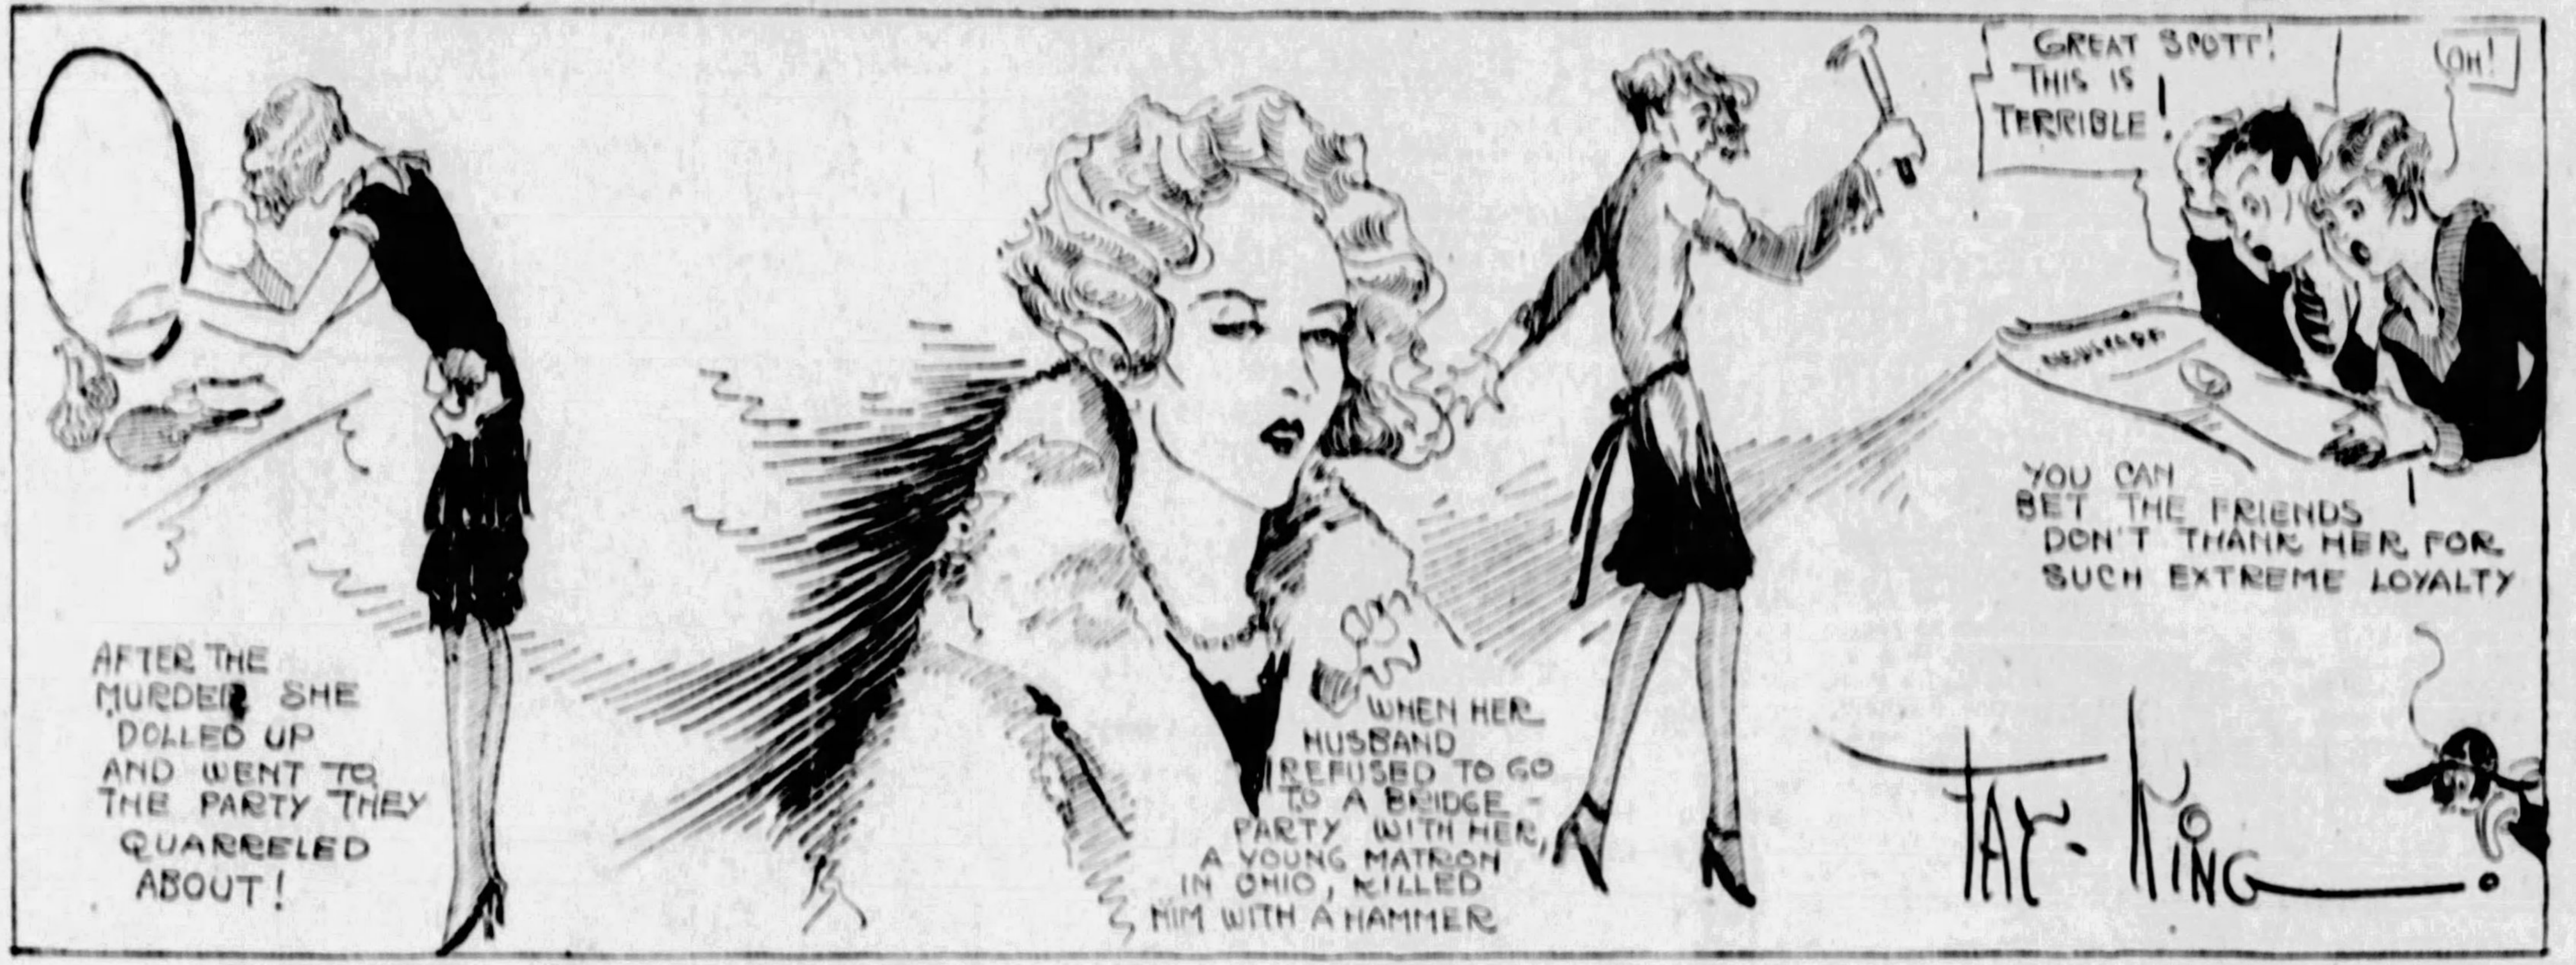
Fay King Points Moral in New Hammer Slaying



AFTER THE MURDER SHE DOLLED UP AND WENT TO THE PARTY THEY QUARRELED ABOUT!
WHEN HER HUSBAND REFUSED TO GO TO A BRIDGE-PARTY WITH HER, A YOUNG MATRON IN OHIO, KILLED HIM WITH A HAMMER GREAT SCOTT! THIS IS TERRIBLE!
OH!
YOU CAN BET THE FRIENDS DON'T THANK HER FOR SUCH EXTREME LOYALTY
FAY-KING

By FAY KING.

A SMALL Ohio town furnishes the latest murder horror.

A young wife became infuriated because her husband at the last minute refused to accompany her to a party they had planned to attend in a nearby city!

Her rage and disappointment reached such an uncontrollable volume that, reaching for a hammer with which she had been putting up drapes, she struck him again and again until he lay dead at her feet.

Then she changed her clothes, went to the party, had a pleasant time, and later shopped with mother, as if nothing had happened!

Naturally, this is most revolting to normal people who still retain their sense of values.

In looking at pictures of this unfortunate woman, she seems much too thin and emaciated for her height. Can it be that in over-dieting she has reached a snarling semi-insane condition? It would not surprise me to find this to be so.

Many women today suffer extreme irritability from semi-starvation and under-nourishment.

She explains that she flew into this rage because her husband said some unkind things about her friends. Well, you may be sure that these friends will not thank her for this abnormal loyalty to them.

Quarrels between married people over friends that are not congenial to both are frequent. Fortunately, they do not all end in murders. But regardless of why, or for what reason, one or the other does not approve of certain friends.

Nothing, and no one, should be considered more important than the peace and happiness of a home.

Friends who persist in butting in where they are not wanted should take heed of this case. By gracefully choosing their exit they may avoid being involved in such a case as this one.

As an automobile is as good as its brakes, so are people as strong as their self-control.

What the world needs is less of self-expression and more of self-control!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland, M.D.
U.S. Senator From New York

The Delicate Process of Weaning the Baby

AMONG the letters I get are many relative to the weaning of the baby. The exact time to start depends upon the individual case, but no matter when it takes place the weaning period is a critical time in the history of the child.

DR. COPELAND

If the mother is healthy and the child continues to gain in weight it may be kept upon the breast beyond the time when the average child should be weaned.

In every household there should be a set of scales. There is no surer test of the welfare of the infant than its steady increase in weight.

In the last analysis the child itself must determine the change in feeding. This is true, not alone in fixing the weaning time but it is just as true all the rest of the time. If the infant stops gaining weight or has repeated attacks of vomiting and diarrhoea and, particularly, if it begins to lose weight, something is wrong in the feeding. There should be an immediate investigation to locate the trouble.

The symptoms I have mentioned may come from irregular feeding. They may result from feeding the wrong quantities of food, either too much or too little.

The first thing to do then when there is loss of weight and unpleasant symptoms occur is to study the hours of feeding and the quantity of food given.

No matter what the age of the child may be, if regulating the hours of feeding and quantity of milk given do not restore the health, the child must be weaned at once.

It is bad practice to continue breast feeding after the child is a year old. Ordinarily, it should be much earlier than this, usually at the age of 9 months.

It is needless to say that the health of the mother is a factor which cannot be overlooked. Sometimes a woman who has been perfectly well will develop ill health after the birth of the baby. If the mother is sick or feeble, breast feeding should be abandoned.

In every case common sense must rule.

Answers to Health Queries

L. E. Q.—What do you advise for psoriasis?

A.—In its cure first attention must be given to digestion. Constipation is an important factor and, even though the bowels move daily, there may be sluggishness. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

E. F. Q.—What will clear up pimples?

A.—Careful diet and regular elimination should be most helpful. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

L. F. Q.—What should a girl of 15, 5 feet 4½ inches tall weigh? What should a girl of 20, 4 feet 11 inches tall weigh? What should a girl of 17, 5 feet 4½ inches tall weigh?

A.—They should weigh, respectively, 120, 114 and 125 pounds.

Y. O. Q.—How can I clear my face from pimples and blackheads?

A.—Correct the diet, by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee. Eat simple food. Almost always constipation or at least sluggish bowel movements are present. Correct this condition. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

J. P. T. Q.—I had a tooth filled four weeks ago and it is still sensitive to cold water. Should the nerve have been removed before filling?

A.—This would depend upon the condition of the tooth. Your dentist should be the judge. It is not unusual for sensitiveness of this sort to last for some time.

M. H. Q.—How can I gain weight?

A.—Proper dieting and deep breathing is the secret. You should eat nourishing foods and have plenty of sleep and rest. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

The New Easy saves you Wringing the Clothes and Emptying the Water

In place of a wringer the New Easy Washer gives you a wonderful drying tub that dampdries an eight-sheet batch of clothes all at one time, ready to hang out, without broken buttons, without deep wrinkles squeezed in the clothes.

Two things are done at once, for while one batch is dampdried, another big batch is washed.

There are no pails of water to be emptied. The handy gas heater keeps the wash water hot, and an automatic starting and stopping switch protects your fuses. You never have seen a washer so safe, so convenient, so speedy, and so easy on the clothes and on you.

Phone today for a personal demonstration. Liberal monthly terms.

"GIVE NEEDIEST MY GIFT," BOSS TELLS WORKERS

Says Fund Donation Will Do Most Good

> ### How 20 Neediest Cases Money May Be Sent

Instead of giving a Christmas present to the "boss," give the money that it would cost to the Twenty Neediest Cases of poverty in Pittsburgh, for whom The Sun-Telegraph is raising a Christmas fund.

The foregoing suggestion came from a "boss," who found that the employes in his office were taking up a collection for the purpose of buying a Christmas gift for him.

"You are under no obligation to spend money on me," he said, "and I would rather that you would not do it. I can appreciate your loyalty and good wishes without any such reminder. Send the money to The Sun-Telegraph's Twenty Neediest Cases fund, where it will do more good."

Those who inveigh against the extravagance and wastefulness of Christmas giving can lodge no such complaint against contributions to the Twenty Neediest; for the money will be applied to the purchase of the necessities of life—food, clothing, shelter, fuel, medicine and physicians' services—which, if not provided in this way, will have to be supplied by the public through taxes levied for the upkeep of the poor house.

The families in question are weighed down by sorrow, fearing they are going to be separated, the children sent to orphanages, and the mothers to other institutions. But if aid is furnished this can be prevented. For the sick or disabled wage earner sooner or later will again have an income, the older children will soon be in position to earn something, and other means of assistance will be available.

The Twenty Neediest Cases have been reported by the Associated Charities, the Catholic Charities of the diocese of Pittsburgh, the Pittsburgh Association for the Improvement of the Poor, the Salvation Army and the Volunteers of America.

Checks and money orders should be made payable to the "Twenty Neediest Cases Fund" and sent to The Sun-Telegraph, or if preferred, to one of the societies named.

All of the 20 cases were described in The Sun-Telegraph of November 27.

One case was then repeated each day. All cases are being discribed for the third time this week. Here are cases Nos. 4, 5 and 6:

Case No. 4

This is a case of trouble coming in bunches. Mr. A was in a train wreck and after recuperating from that was in an automobile accident. Now he is flat on his back. Their constant doctor bills and hospital bills have brought them to the place where they found it necessary to ask aid. There are four children ranging in age from 6 weeks to 8 years. (Reported by the Salvation Army.)

Case No. 5

On account of a mental condition and the father's inability to secure permanent employment there is a family of four who need material assistance to keep them together. There are three children, two boys, 10 and 6, and a girl 8 years of age. The mother goes out working by the day when she can find employment, but is not strong enough on account of the lack of proper food to do any regular heavy work. Five hundred dollars is needed to help these people to get the clothing, food and fuel to tide them over until the husband is fit to apply for a position.

(Reported by the Volunteers of America.)

Case No. 6

John, an alert bright-eyed boy of 10, is, so his mother fondly declares, already beginning to take his father's place and manifests a feeling of responsibility for her and his younger brothers. Poor little Sammie is blind. When last July Mrs. B was told that Mr. B was insane and should go to Mayview she would take no action in the matter until after she had consulted John, who was having a vacation at a summer camp for boys. Now that she is alone with the children it is John to whom she turns at every point. "Now don't worry about Mom, Sammie and Joe, 'cause me and the lady that comes to our house are taking care of them," John wrote his father. Fifty-two dollars a month added to the day-work earnings of the mother will provide for this family.

(Reported by the Associated Charities.)

Cases Nos. 7, 8 and 9 will be described tomorrow.

MONEY LOVE by BEATRICE BURTON

Introducing Lily Lexington, Beautiful, Headstrong, And Her Family

and her mother poked her head into the opening. It was a very imposing head, crowned with iron-gray hair, dressed in a high pompadour.

"You're awake, Lily!" Mrs. Lexington's voice was rich and full, but it had a note of sharpness in it just as her full, richly-colored face had a sharp look about it sometimes.

She was tall and heavy, but she moved with a surprising swiftness. Her pink linen housedress crackled like paper, some keys in her pocket jingled, and her heels clicked on the polished floor as she went around the room pulling up the shades, putting down the windows and lighting the gas logs in the grate. She was as full of energy as an electric fan.

"Let me see your ring again, Lily," she said, pulling up a chair to the side of the bed. Her eyes warmed as she looked at it, and then at her daughter's lovely, sullen face. "I've always wanted you to marry Staley Drummond. His ring is just like him—substantial and good. It must weigh all of three karats, Lily, that diamond!"

"Three karats," the girl repeated, lifelessly, and from her tone she might have been saying "carrots" instead of "karats."

Somewhere in the big, comfortable house a bell rang shrilly, and her eyes went to the gilt telephone that stood on the table beside her bed.

"If that's Staley, tell him I'm asleep, mother," she said quickly. "Tell him I'll be home this afternoon at 5 if he wants to see me."

Her mother stared at her. "But, dear, he probably wants to see you now, on his way down town," she said with a cold, sprightly air. "He's been engaged to you less than 12 hours, and naturally—"

"You heard what I said!" Lily interrupted, and her lips came together with a snap. She dropped back upon her pillows and turned her brilliant eyes upon the ceiling.

LILY, FAIR BUT—

A trifle headstrong, stopped dead still and stared at him.

It was Staley Drummond on the telephone, and Mrs. Lexington gave him Lily's message. "She is going out this afternoon, Staley," she told him in her very best voice. "But she'll be home at 5 and she wants you to stay for dinner. . . . Goodby."

"What did you tell him that for?" asked Lily, when her mother had hung up the receiver. "If I'd wanted him to stay for dinner I'd have told you so, wouldn't I?" She was scowling now, like a beautiful cross baby.

Mrs. Lexington shrugged her shoulders. "You're going to eat dinner with him all the rest of your life," she pointed out, sensibly. "You're engaged to him and you're going to marry him the first of June, so you told me last night. . . . You care for him, don't you?"

Lily groaned. "Yes, but that's no reason why I have to eat every meal with him from now on is it?" she asked, and yawned again behind fingers that were like bits of carved ivory. "Jiminy! I've seen the man every day for weeks. I'm tired of looking at him—" She shut her fringed eyelids to show how tired she was.

"I'll have my coffee now, please," she said.

Her mother studied her for a full minute before she got up from her chair beside the bed. Then she shook her handsome head.

"Well, I give you up, Lily!" she decided then. "Here you are, engaged to marry a man who can give you everything worth while in life—and you're as indifferent about him as you can be! Any other girl in this town would give her eye-teeth to be wearing that ring on your finger this morning. I'm sure I don't understand you at all. I thought you'd like me to ask him here for dinner." Still shaking her head, she went out of the room and down the stairs for the coffee tray.

Lily lay perfectly still, staring up at the ceiling.

She wasn't at all sure that she understood herself this morning. . . . Last night she had been filled with triumph and happiness when she had walked into the house with Stanley Drummond's kiss on her mouth and his diamond upon her finger. For months and months she had been trying to get him to the "sticking point"—the point of proposing marriage to her.

"He'll never do it," her best friend, Susan Cain, had told her in their heart-to-heart talks. "Staley's almost 40—and a bachelor as old as that is as slippery as a cake of wet soap."

But he had done it! Last night on the way home from Sue Cain's house he had asked her to marry him, and before she had had time to say "Yes" he had taken her in his arms and slipped the ring over her finger.

Looking back upon it now, it seemed to Lily that he had been too sure of her. Too sure that she would say "Yes" and fall into his arms. Too sure that she wanted him and all the things that he could give her.

"But am I sure of myself?" she thought, her eyes on the gray, slanting rain outside the windows. "I'm going to marry him right enough, but do I really love him the way I should?"

She wondered.

She liked him, of course. No one could help liking Staley Drummond, with his quick, friendly smile, his nice eyes and pleasant face, his generosity and his good nature. He was just as attractive as a man could be, aside from the glamour that his money gave him. And yet—

"What is it I want?" Lily asked herself. "There's nothing that he can't give me."

Without realizing it, that was the way she always summed up people—from the viewpoint of what they had to offer her. What could this one give her? What could that one give her? And she liked or disliked them accordingly.

For instance: she liked Sue Cain better than any of the rest of her girl friends because Sue had the largest house and a car of her own. Because she gave more parties than anyone else, and because she knew more men . . . A girl couldn't have a more useful friend than Sue Cain.

Then Lily loved her father and mother because they managed, somehow or other, to give her all the things that she wanted. She knew that they denied themselves in order to buy her beautiful clothes and matinee tickets and to keep her little imported handbag filled with money for luncheons downtown and for bridge debts and fresh white gardenias to wear on her shoulder. She loved them because they were her father and mother, too, of course. . . . But then, that was only natural.

The door opened and Mrs. Lexington came in with the tray of coffee and orange juice. She set it on the bedside table beside the gilt telephone and the gilt clock and the hand mirror.

Then she settled herself down by the window with a mending basket filled with chiffon stockings and soft silk under-things. She always mended Lily's clothes with her own hands.

The Cyrus Lexingtons had no upstairs maid to keep the bedrooms in order and do the darning and patching. For Mrs. Lexington figured that she could do that work herself without anyone being the wiser.

She was one of those women who can make one dollar do the work of two, just as she could make one servant do the work of two in her house. She was a hard-task mistress, but she was an excellent manager; and everyone thought that the Lexingtons had twice as much money as they really did have—which was exactly what Mrs. Lexington wanted everyone to think.

If there was turkey on the table when people came for dinner, there would be corned-beef hash for the cook and the housemaid in the kitchen.

If she paid a hundred dollars for a dress, she wore cheap muslin princess slips under it. And if she always wore white kid gloves on her large, capable hands, they were the washable sort that last forever and do not cost much to begin with. She was all for "show."

For five years she had been telling her beautiful daughter that she wanted her to marry the man she loved when it came time for her to be married. "But," she had always added, "it's just as easy to fall in love with a rich man as it is to fall in love with a poor man. That's just commonsense, Lily."

And now that Lily had done that very thing, she was much pleased. Her handsome blond face wore a satisfied look as she rocked in her chair this morning and ran her needle in and out of Lily's gauzy silk stockings.

"I'm so glad we didn't sell the house last year when your father wanted to," she said comfortably. "I've always dreamed of you coming down the stairs in your white satin wedding dress and your veil. . . . We'll have the house decorated with yellow roses and smilax for your wedding, Lily, and have a little altar in the alcove off the living room."

Lily nodded over her glass of orange juice, and a gleam of interest came into her big gray eyes. . . . She could see herself, all in white, coming down the wide stairs next June.

"And Sue can wear yellow chiffon," she answered eagerly. "I think I'll run over to her house this morning and tell her I want her for my maid of honor. She'll drop dead when she finds out that Staley did ask me to marry him after all. She was so sure that he was a confirmed bachelor!"

She jumped out of bed, slipped into a wadded silk bathrobe, and went into the bathroom to turn on the water in the tub. Above the rush and roar of it, as it came pouring from the faucets, she heard her mother's voice telling her again how lucky she was to be engaged to a man like Staley Drummond.

The only automobile that the Lexingtons owned was a large dark-blue limousine.

Every morning Mrs. Lexington drove her husband down to his law office in it, and then drove it home so that she and Lily could use it if they wanted to, during the day.

It was standing in the garage on this wet and windy March morning when Lily went downstairs. She stood in the window of the sunroom looking at it for a minute as she buttoned her gloves. Then she shook her head. . . . She would walk the three miles to Sue Cain's house. She was tired and pale, and the wind would whip some genuine color into her rouged cheeks and put some life into her body, she told herself. There was no beautifier like a windy spring day.

"You're surely not going to walk on a day like this!" her mother called to her from the head of the stairs as she opened the vestibule door.

Lily glanced up at her and nodded. "Do me good," she said, shortly.

"But you'll ruin your clothes!"

"No, I won't—and what if I do?" The girl laughed. It was a careless sound, even if there was nothing light-hearted in it. "I'll never be able to wear out all my clothes before June, Mother, and after that—" Her words were swallowed in the wind. The door closed behind her.

"And after that," she said to herself, starting down the wet, shining sidewalks on slender arched feet in the thinnest of kid pumps, "I'll have everything I want."

Everything she wanted . . . and yet she felt that she was being cheated of something. That she was missing something that she ought to have. Something important. Something worthwhile. What it was she didn't know, but she missed it anyway.

And Lily hated to miss anything!"

Sue Cain was not at home.

"She's gone down town for lunch," the old colored house man who opened the door of the Italian villa where the Cains lived, said.

So Lily swung around on the heels of her wet slippers and set off through the misty rain once more to the street car line.

It was half-past one when she reached the busy downtown district, with the lights shining in the shop windows and the people rushing about under their dripping umbrellas, jostling each other in their hurry to get to shelter from the rain.

The smartest restaurant in town was the Park Lane, at the corner of Albermarle street and Magnolia avenue. Lily and Sue always had lunch there when they were shopping or going to a matinee or a eauty shop.

"Sue's sure to be there now," Lily told herself. She knew Sue's habits almost as well as she knew her own. They had been bosom friends ever since kindergarten days.

She started down the foggy length of Albemarle street, stopping once to look at some diamonds in a jeweler's window and once to inspect herself in the mirror outside a tailor's shop. She never had looked better in her life. The wind and the rain had whipped her bright hair up against the brim of her tiny black hat, and had brought color to her cheeks and sparkle to her eyes.

"I am good looking," she thought, tilting her hat down over her forehead. "There's no doubt about it."

As she turned away from the rain-bespattered mirror she felt someone's eyes upon her. Not more than six feet away, on the other side of the walk, a man stood looking intently at her.

She stopped dead still and stared at him. For a good half minute she saw nothing of him but the eyes that held hers. Blue eyes under straight, black brows—the bluest eyes she ever had seen.

Then she saw that he was young and broad shouldered and very nice to look at, in spite of his hard, impudent stare. He was leaning against a taxicab that was parked before the tailor shop, with his hands in his khaki-colored pockets, and a khaki-colored cap upon his dark hair. There was a badge upon the lapel of his jacket.

"Why, he's a taxi driver!" Lily gasped inwardly, and went on her way down the sidewalk. After a few seconds she turned her head and looked back. He was watching her.

She stopped for an instant, her head down, thinking. Then slowly she swung around and went back to where he stood!

CHAPTER II

LONG afterward Lily knew exactly why she turned in the street and went back to the orange-colored taxi-cab and its driver.

But that afternoon she had no idea why she was doing it. She simply did it—moved by some impulse that pulled her back as if she had been a marionette jerked this way, and that by slender threads.

With her eyes on the driver's face, she opened the door of the cab and climbed nimbly into it. She dropped down upon the leather cushions.

"Where do you want to go, Miss?" the man asked, and instantly Lily liked the sound of his voice. It was low and deep. It was the very nicest voice she had ever heard. She felt as if she had been waiting to hear that voice for ever so long—for years and years. It soothed her, and it excited her, too. It stirred her.

She was more excited at that moment than she ever had been before in her life that had been filled with excitement of all kinds.

"Where do I want to go?" she repeated. "Why—where do I want to go?"

As a matter of fact, she did not want to go anywhere, except to the Park Lane restaurant that was not 30 yards away. She had come down town to see Sue Cain, and here she was!

"I want to go home," she decided, "Montpelier road. You know where it is?" It was far out beyond the city limits, and Lily was grateful for the long ride ahead of her.

The cab jerked and started. Lily leaned back against the cushions and studied the back of the driver's head—a very well-shaped head, with its ears pressed flat against it under the stiff-visored cap.

Then suddenly she sat forward in her seat.

Just above the "jump seats" was a small pasteboard card, and upon it was the driver's photograph! Above it was this legend:

"MERCURY TAXI COMPANY Owner-Driven Cabs."

And below that was the signature of the driver himself—"Patrick France."

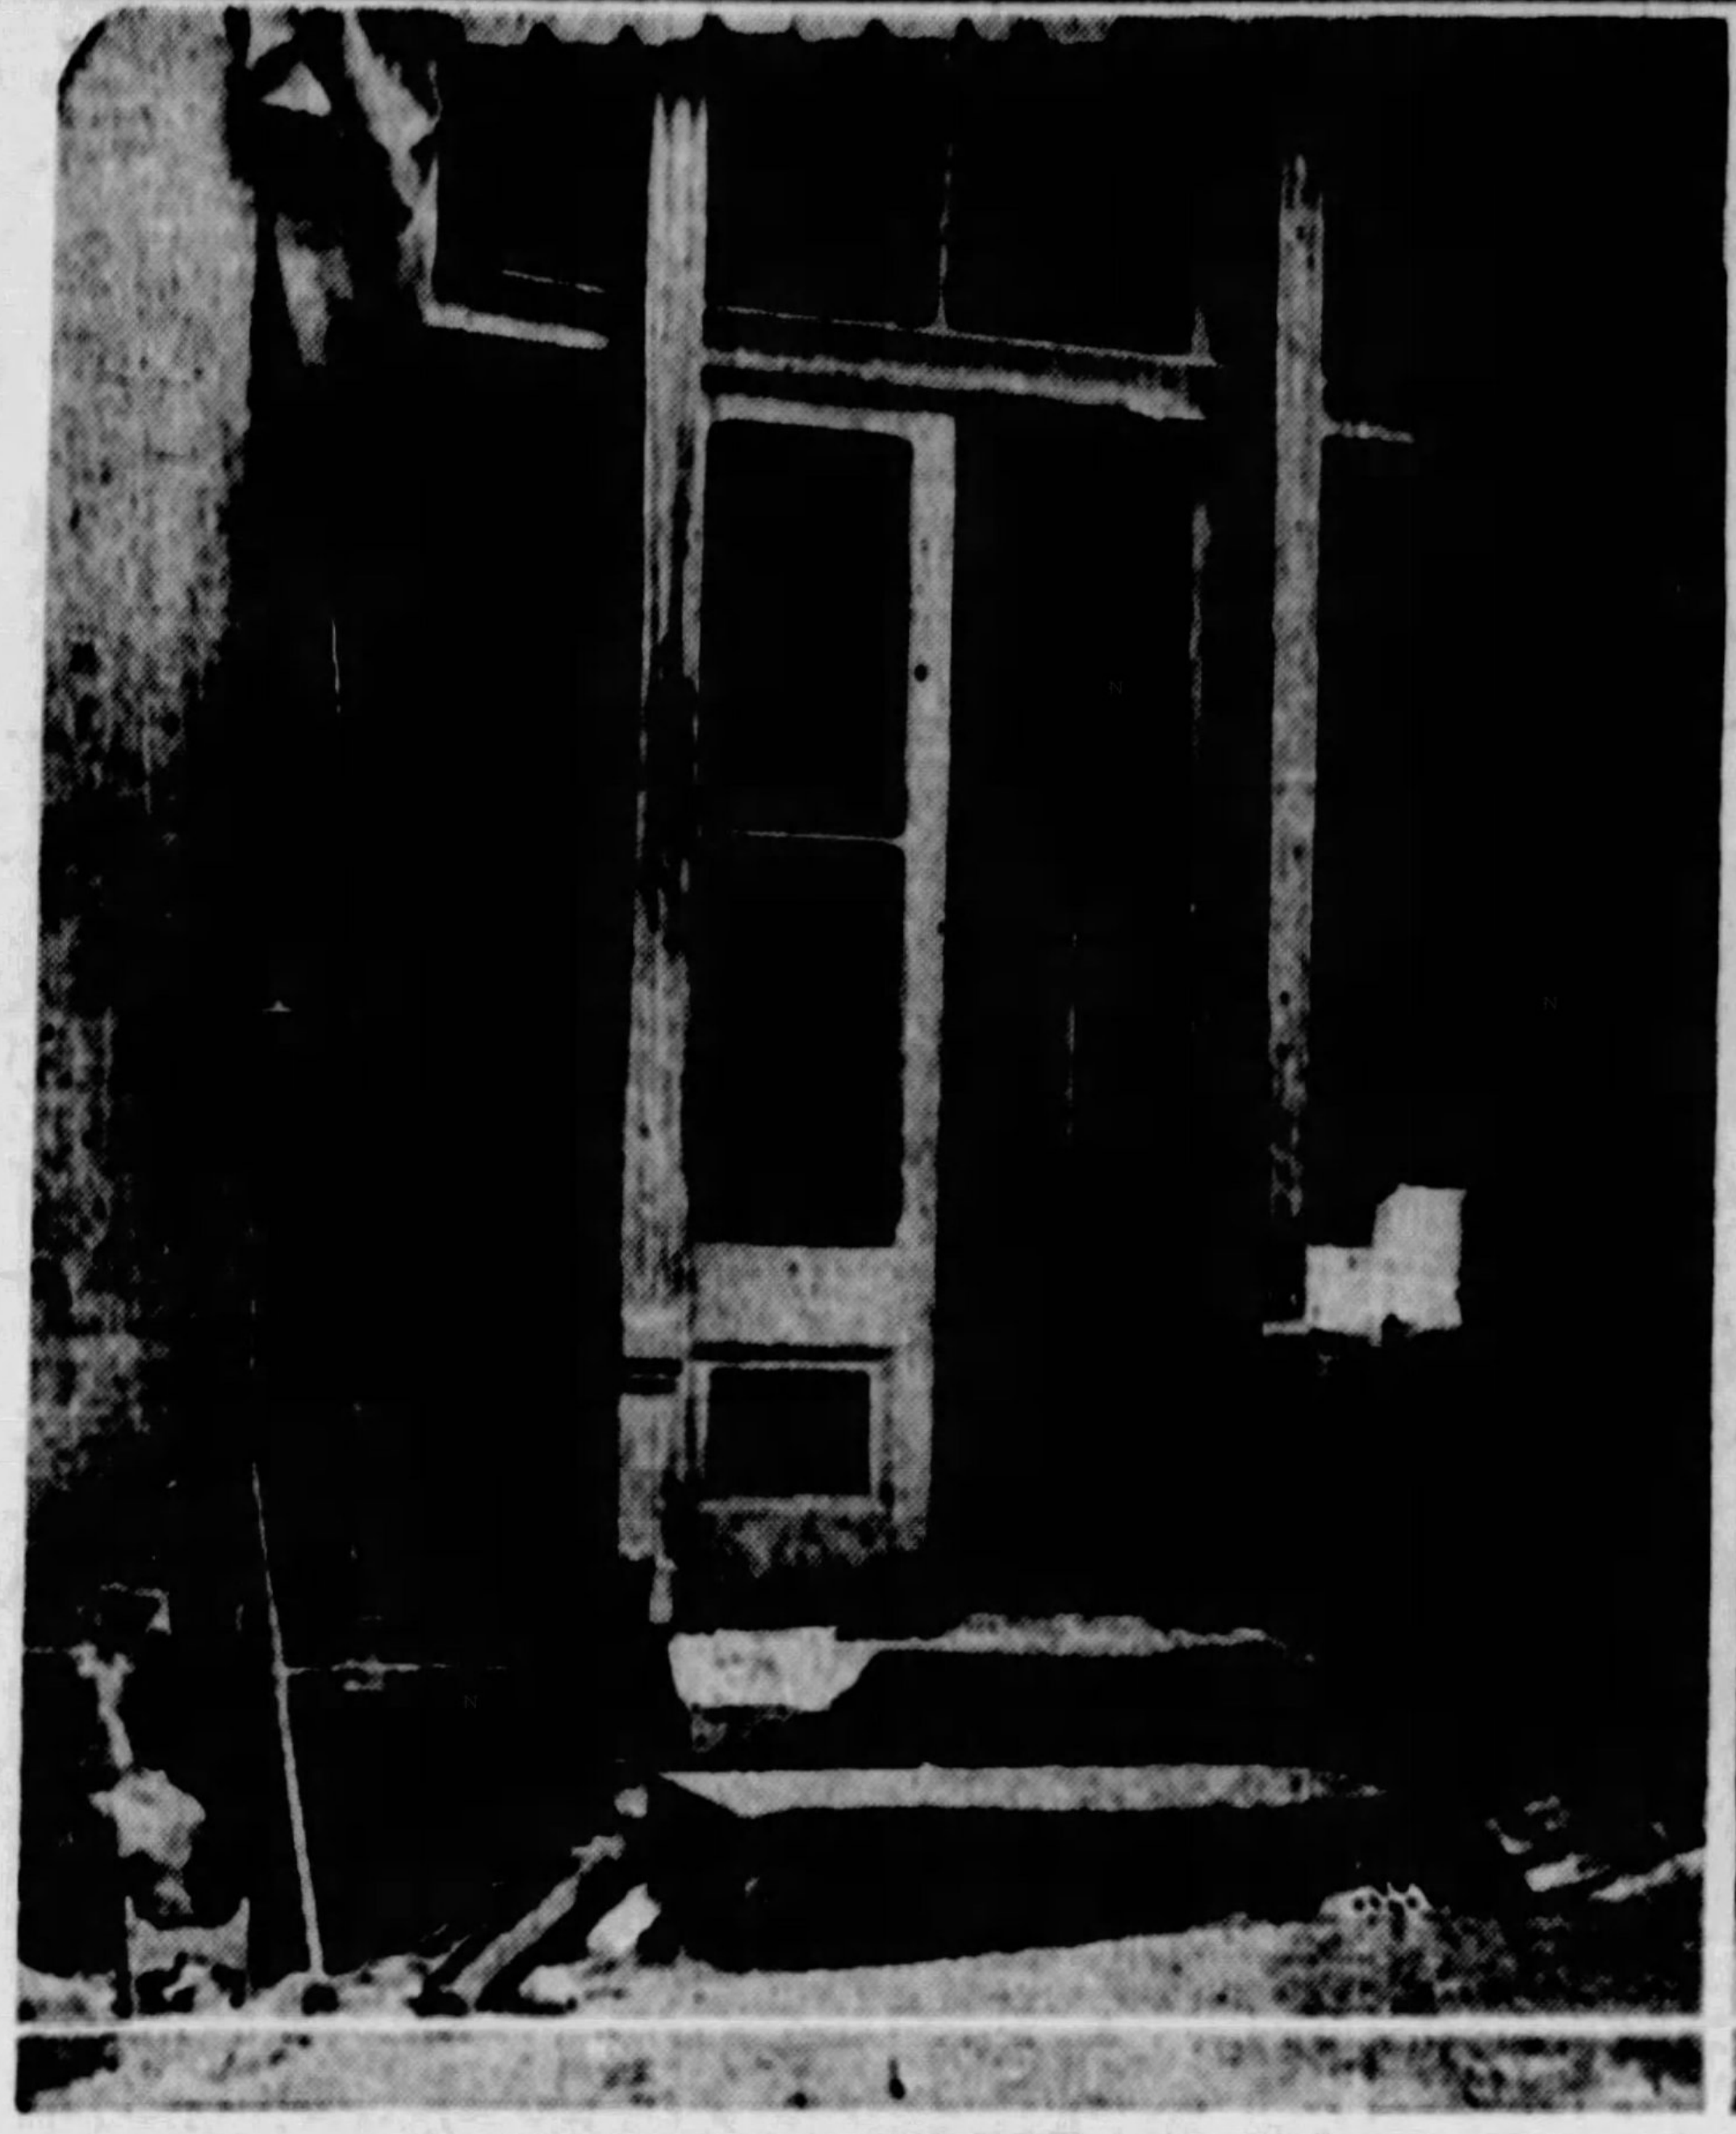
HILL DISTRICT STORE IS BOMBED

WEBSTER AVENUE BOMB -:- SHAKES HILL DISTRICT



SHATTERS WINDOWS FOR BLOCK

Families were buried from their beds, windows were shattered for a block in all directions and the store of Patsy Melareno was wrecked when a bomb exploded early today in Webster avenue. Photograph shows the front of the wrecked store.

THROWN FROM BEDS

EXPLOSION WRECKS SHOP

The Hill district was shaken and windows in an entire block were shattered early this morning when a bomb exploded in the grocery store of Patsy Melareno, 1027 Webster avenue.

A fire alarm summoned engines to the scene of the explosion, although no fire followed. A score of police and detectives rushed to the vicinity, but were unable to discover who set the bomb.

The explosion occurred at 2:30 o'clock. Malareno, his wife and five children, asleep on the second floor of the four-story building, were uninjured. Malareno could give police no clues to the identity of the bombers.

The bomb, according to polive, was placed in the cellar. Windows on Webster avenue and Congress street were shattered. Damage was estimated at $10,000. Malareno's store was wrecked.

LOVE'S EMBERS by Adele Garrison

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

Philip Veritzen Decides to See the Transvanians

"NOEL has odd fancies, any way," went on young Veritzen's father, while I sat stonily awaiting the revelation of his knowledge of Mary Harrison's escapade, which by now I was sure he possessed. From her corner Lillian's eyes warily scanned her old friend's face, and I knew that she shared my anxiety.

"All last Winter—did you know it?"—Mr. Veritzen's eyes swept both our faces, and my excited imagination told me that they held distinct mockery—"he was madly infatuated with that mysterious masked dancer who appeared upon the same program with him, at that unspeakable cafe. I don't believe the foolish boy ever had even a glimpse of her face behind the mask, for that flower of chivalry, Jack Leslie, kept her practically incommunicado all the time she danced there."

Mr. Veritzen's voice, for all its calmness, was so filled with venom as he spoke of Leslie that I realized his hatred of the youth was responsible for his own son's unmerited but always unexplained disgrace at college.

"But how forgetful I am!" he claimed in what appeared to be absolutely genuine realization of a memory lapse, but which I skeptically believed to be clever camouflage of his real knowledge. "You were both there at the time Noel staged that absurd Don Quixote exhibition over the absence of the masked dancer. Neither one of you need any information concerning Noel's feeling for her. He left nothing to the imagination of the audience. On my word, if it had not been for your husband, Mrs. Graham, I believe he would have killed Leslie."

"The Dicky-bird always does manage to spoil a good job," Lillian drawled, and as I joined Mr. Veritzen in an involuntary laugh, I felt the tension at my throat relax. There was that in Lillian's voice which told me that she meant to transfer my burden of conversation to her own shoulders.

"By the way, Phil," she went on with apparent carelessness, "did you ever get to see that masked dancer? Madge and I planned several times to go again, but we never did, and then her appearances suddenly stopped. I wonder what became of her."

"Leslie could tell, I imagine," Mr. Veritzen replied. "I confess for a time that I thought Noel might be responsible for her leaving the night-club, because after her disappearance, he never returned to his work there. But I found out later that he met with a motor accident about that time and was taken to a hospital for treatment. Then he went out to the east end of the island, the discriminating, fortunate young dog! I envy him."

By a private little signal, one of a code which she and I used to use in our days of comradeship in the war secret service work, Lillian conveyed to me her realization that he had not answered her question concerning the masked dancer. But though I shared her comprehension of that fact my spirits had been lifted by Mr. Veritzen's absolute air of frankness. Surely he could not be hiding a knowledge of Mary's secret behind that open manner!

"But I'm going to do more than envy him," the great dramatic producer went on, looking steadily at me. "I'm going to join—not him—but the charming colony of which he is a member. I have heard so much of the Graham farmhouse that I confess to a strong wish to see it, and your description of that Transvanian family who so naively call themselves the Lincolns has whetted my curiosity to see them. I have had—some—little—experience with Transvanians, and I am much interested in anyone of that nationality. Then, too, I shall wish to see you quite frequently concerning this work we have been discussing, and I really haven't the heart to drag you up to the city this hot summer, even if I could endure town life myself in summer—which I can't."

"ACtually, my dear, those odd souls ARab and NOIsy SIMply SLAY me because it simply takes YEARS for anything to PENetrate their CRAniums and by the time you've had a SWELL IDEA and gotten OVer it, sort of, they are JUST beginning to SEE what it's all aBOUT, do you know what I mean? Like this PSYchoanALysis stuff that I was all hot and BOTHered about last WEEK, my dear. I mean it HONestly had me all-of-a-DOOdah for a WHILE, but it's all so SIMple, sort of, that it practicably took me NO time at ALL to LEARN it from A to IZzard and when you know EVerything there IS to know about something like that I think NOTHing in the WORLD is more FOUL than to keep your MIND on it, because after ALL, my dear, vaRIety is the spice of LIFE and where on earth would you BE if you just CONsecrated on ONE THING all the entire time? But I was SIMply conVULSED when ARab apPROACHED me terribly SEriously, sort of, the other day and ASKED me to tell him something about this PSYchoanALysis because he and NOIsy wanted to SETtle some QUEStion—can you BEAR it, my dear? I mean I NEARly had hysTERics because you might KNOW that something like that would begin to INT'rest those odd souls only when it began to be unINT'resting to everybody ELSE. TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

Tuesday, December 20

Providence sends every bird its food, but it does not throw it into the nest.—Proverb.

THIS day holds opportunity by means of well-directed labor and industry, as well as by enterprise and holding one's ground in face of opposition. Change would prove hazardous and employment may cause small anxiety.

Social, domestic and affectional matters may thrive and bring much happiness.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of opportunity, with lively and prosperous conditions, which industry and good judgment may wring from small complications. Personal affiliations should bring happiness.

FOR THE LOVELORN

By ELEANOR GALE

Too Dumb

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have written to you before and your advice was wonderful. Please help me this time. Here is my case: A certain young man who knows only my name made this statement, "She is too dumb to live." This gentleman knows nothing about me as he has never gone out with me or been where I have been at the same time. I think he made this statement because he knows (through other sources), that I will not drink or smoke. Now, Miss Gale, I want to show him I am not "too dumb to live." How can I do it? Please answer soon as I want revenge. Wishing you luck I thank you, and remain, TOO DUMB.

You best course is to ignore this remark. Even if he has been insulting, don't try to "show him."

Two Pals

DEAR MISS GALE:

We are two girls in our early teens and in our second year of high. We are both very small in size and are considered good-looking. Now here is our trouble: There are two certain boys whom we know who are very good pals. We have been out with them several times and have become very fond of them. We would like to know how we could get them to be as fond of us as we are of them. Both boys go with other girls. We also go with other boys. Now please do not think we are jealous, but we would like to know how we could get them to keep steady company. We are old enough and our parents approve. We have been told that these boys care for us a little, but we would like to be sure of it. Please advise us. TWO PALS.

There is no sure way to make anyone like you, my dears. They evidently like you now, so don't suddenly change your manner toward them or they might not like you as well. Be friendly and pleasant and interested in what they say and do—and trust to luck.

Troubled

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been interested in your wonderful advice and I am sure that you can help me solve a problem which is more than I can figure out. For the past nine years I have been keeping steady company with a girl whom I have known practically all my life, a friendship which has developed into true love for each other. Now what has me puzzled is, why do so many desire to keep us apart? Her people as well as mine try to keep us from each other, but still our love is too strong and we would make any sacrifice that is necessary to keep each other happy. Our parents have old-fashioned ideas and this seems to be the cause of all our troubles. "True love never runs smooth," and believe me it is for that reason alone that I am willing to stick to my own mind and the girl I love. We agree with each other in all our undertakings and both willing to look into the future and better days. Although I may have worries and troubles the day will come when my parents will be convinced that we were meant for each other and when I select a girl for a wife I'll need no other help. TROUBLED.

It seems to me, Troubled, that if you have gone with this girl for nine years you should be old enough to marry her without consulting your parents. Marriage would certainly put a stop to your difficulties, and you seem quite sure of your love for each other. Why wait any longer?

Wondering

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have enjoyed reading your wonderful advice to the young people, and thought likely you would be kind enough to answer my one question. My husband is the teacher of a ladies' class in Sunday school. Would it be proper for him to give each one a Christmas card with his name only, or would it be better to say from Mr. and Mrs. So and So? Best wishes. WONDERING.

I think I should sign it with both names, if I were you.

Peppy

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am one of the many modern flappers seeking advice. I am in my teens, and am very much in love with a young man six years my senior. He tells me he cares for me, and has told some of my very best friends. Out of the many dates I have had with him he has broken two. Afterward he has called me and has made very fair excuses. Just lately I have learned he has been keeping company with another girl. He comes out to see me, but never shows any difference in his affection for me. My mother forbids me to see him, so please advise me what to do. PEPPY.

This boy doesn't seem worth while, so why not follow your mother's advice? A broken engagement is really an insult, you know, if the excuse is not absolutely waterproof.

ECZEMA ITCHED AND BURNED
On Face, Scalp and Limbs. Healed by Cuticura.

"My little son at fifteen months broke out with eczema. It looked like hives at first, but later broke out in water blisters and affected his face, scalp, arms and limbs. It itched and burned so badly that he could not sleep day or night without crying out every few minutes, and his limbs had to be bandaged. We had to hold his hands to keep him from scratching.

"A friend advised Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I purchased some, and in four months he was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Gilbert Lindsey, Hallstead, Pa., April 26, 1927.

SHOTS and PASSES

by Julius Levin

EVERY year at this time sponsors of amateur basketball in this vicinity awaken from their lethargic state long enough to issue a ridiculous proclamation threatening excommunication to teams that have found it to their best advantage to operate in leagues not governed by the A. A. U.

These self-styled paragons of amateurism, blind to their own blunders, have taken it upon themselves to criticize independent basketball leagues which have done more toward restoring interest in the popular winter indoor sport than the entire Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U., which controls the simon-pure athletes in this section.

THE Pittsburgh and Ohio Valley League is the latest target of the amateur authorities. This league, one of the best ever organized for light first-class teams in this section, has been branded a professional organization because its members have steadfastly refused to place themselves under the jurisdiction of the Allegheny Mountain Association. Yet many products of this league will be found in the lineups of the Pitt Freshmen and the Duquesne University varsity teams this year, despite the edict issued by the A. A. U., branding the P. & O. circuit a professional loop.

PHIL AIELLO, the Miele star, who will enter Pitt; Eddie Losman and Sammy Pratt, Somerman stars, who have enrolled at Duquesne; Vincent Burns, St. Catherine center, enrolled at Duquesne; Pete Collodi, Siano forward, likewise a student at Duquesne, besides Ganzy Benedict, last year with the Duquesne Lafayettes, and who has clinched a regular berth on the Duke's varsity squad, never have received a penny for their work in the Pittsburgh and Ohio Valley League and Allegheny County League and will be eligible to compete for berths this winter, despite the rulings of the A. A. U.

The appearance of the above-mentioned boys in the two independent leagues has not injured their amateur standing with the colleges in the least.

WHAT punishment is to be meted out to the teams in the P. & O. League this winter? They have been barred from entering the annual A. M. A. basketball championship tournament, staged every year in the University of Pittsburgh Stadium pavilion. That's a terrible blow to clubs that have operated successfully without assistance from the A. A. U.

Clubs operating in this league never had any intention of enrolling in this tournament for the so-called amateur championship of Western Pennsylvania. They are satisfied to remain in the professional league, if it must be called such.

IT is interesting to note the "reward" and consideration given an amateur club for winning the annual A. A. U. championship.

The Doc Gordon Club, an amateur club in good standing, won the tournament last year and this season was duly elected to a franchise in the West Penn League, only to be barred when two other teams, the Knickerbockers and Homewood Presbyterian Church team, threatened to withdraw from the league if the champions were allowed to compete.

Here was a bonafide amateur team, champion of the district, ostracized by two members of the West Penn League, yet no effort was made by the officials of the A. A. U. to intercede in its behalf. Instead the Gordons were eliminated from the league and forced to operate independently.

The A. A. U. officials would do far more good if they corrected their own mistakes before taking it upon themselves to criticize leagues that have functioned without their assistance.

DETROIT, Dec. 19.—Encouraged by their 3-3 tie with the league-leading Cougars here last night, Pittsburgh's Ice Pirates left this morning for New York, where they battle the Rangers tomorrow.

Hay for Detroit and Burke for Pittsburgh were the stars in the fray here. Brown scored the first goal on a pass from Hay, and the latter scored two more without aid. McCurry, Burke and Milks tallied in rapid succession in the second period to force a deadlock. Worters' work in the Pirate nets was exceptionally brilliant.

The Bucs are to play at Toronto on Thursday night and Saturday they entertain the Les Canadiens in Pittsburgh. The lineup:

AMERICANS WIN

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The Americans defeated Chicago, 2 to 0, before a capacity crowd at the Garden last night. Bouchard and Himes scored the winners.

Clean Sweep Panther Aim

IOWA CITY, Ia., Dec. 19.—Cocky and confident, with three Big Ten scalps tucked away comfortably under their belts, the basketball warriors of the University of Pittsburgh arrived here this morning for the closing contest of their four-game invasion of the Western Conference with Iowa tonight.

Michigan, Chicago and Northwestern have fallen before the powerful attack of the Panthers, who have played championship basketball three nights in a row and turned in their most astonishing performance of the trip Saturday when they overcame an 11-point lead held by Northwestern at half time and ran through the Purple for a 39-31 victory.

The play of Steaks Hyatt and Stash Wrobleskie, the little fellows of the team, and of Capt. Sykes Reed has been standing Big Ten audiences, critics, coaches and officials on their respective heads. Hyatt tallied nine goals from the floor against Northwestern, seven against Michigan and three against Chicago. His all-around play has been the sensation of the trip.

Iowa will furnish stubborn and dangerous opposition, as it lines up to make the final try for a Conference victory over the flashy Pennsylvania invaders tonight. The honor of the Conference is at stake, for it is a long time since any Eastern quintet traveled through the Big Ten and took four successive victories. The Big Ten isn't used to being run ragged by Eastern college athletic teams, and doesn't like it a bit.

Pitt's squad left Chicago last night and arrived here this morning. The players, though a bit tired, are in good condition, both physically and mentally. A triumph tonight will start them well on the way to what may eventually turn out to be a national championship.

Magnates Plan New Draft

By DAVIS J. WALSH,
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—With Judge Landis acting as mediator and final court of appeal, a new major-minor agreement, amicable to all baseball, is in the process of being drafted, the writer learned today. The contract will be ready for signature within a month, at which time it will be duly signed by all concerned, I am informed, and once more peace will reign in this most turbulent of families.

The decision to leave the draft controversy in the hands of the judge was reached at the major league meetings here last week when the little minors found themselves in possession of a perfectly good resolution and very little to "resolute" about. They had neither the majors nor the big minors with them, which meant that they were out on a limb and it wasn't bird's eye maple, either.

In consequence, they had no alternative but to abide by the compromise suggested, which in effect called for a general acceptance of any logical plan advanced by Landis. It will be submitted for formal approval, I am informed, to Presidents Barnard and Heydler of the American and National League, respectively, and to President Mike Sexton of the minor league association, thus bringing all contending factors to a common focus.

THE wintry winds wrecked a perfectly good soccer schedule Sunday, quite a number of games being called off owing to ice and bad traveling conditions. The game between Corinthians and Mustard Hollow should have been transferred to the latter's field when it seems that someone intends to prevent any more soccer on Cooley field. Referee Donegkay inspected the field and while the ice was very evident, posts had been driven all across the field, so Cooley can be forgotten in the future.

The big surprise of the day was the brilliant performance of the National Amateur Champions from Heidelberg who traveled to Harmarville and met the best team that Manager Robinson has had on the field this year and left with the game in the bag by a 6 goals to 0 score. Puck Donnelli was on a rampage for he netted the ball three times. Brother Buff kicked in with one and Chappel scored twice.

All the talent in the district looks alike to Heidelberg at the present time, and it seems as if the champions have found the stride that carried them to a national crown last season. Outside of the fact that the forwards are getting goals, the defense, led by Joe Fagan, is also operating well and little is being scored on the Green and Gold.

Yesterday's staging of the national amateur cup ties found another playoff facing the commissioner. Westinghouse and McPhersons played for 75 minutes and then found it was too cold to continue. Hostilities were called off, to be resumed at a later date.

But could anyone imagine a more arctic section of the world than at Chambers field, and before the final whistle sounded for 90 minutes play, Referee Brown decided that both aggregations had seen enough soccer for one day.

The Internationals pulled a fast one on the McKees Rocks eleven. The Curry boys found themselves losing by a 3 goals to 1 score when the interval was reached, but managed to find the net four times in the second half and that proved enough to defeat the Rox by a 5 goals to 3 score.

The West Penn Football Association will hold a meeting at headquarters Thursday night at 8 p. m. It is understood that a number of protests will be decided.

DIEGEL WINS SAN DIEGO OPEN

By MAXWELL STILES,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 19.—Mr. Leo Diegel of the Fenimore Club, New York, yesterday struck the first pay dirt along the dust of California's "gold trail" when he won the San Diego $2,500 Open Golf Tournament with 215 strokes for 54 holes. The money-seeking Mr. Diegel added a 72 and a 75 to his bristling 67 of Saturday and forced himself in under the sting of a lashing, whiplike wind to lead a championship field by two strokes.

Horton Smith, of Springfield, Mo., holed out a six-foot putt on the final green to tie with Bobby Cruickshank, the Gallant Scot, for second money. Smith's three rounds were 70, 71 and 75; Cruickshank's 71, 71 and 74.

Billy Burke of the Blind Brook Club, New York, turned in a card of 67-72-76—218 for fourth place.

MAY CHARGE GRIDDERS FOR TRAINING TABLE

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Representatives of the five Pennsylvania colleges in the Eastern Collegiate Conference, gathered here Saturday to discuss matters of importance to the colleges they represent. They decided that the training table, formerly prohibited, may be adopted by the conference colleges, but that the athletes must pay for the food themselves.

Muhlenberg, Ursinus, Dickinson, F. and M. and Gettysburg were represented. They set dates for the annual freshmen events, the track and field meet and the tennis matches to be held at Lancaster, May 11 and 12, and the cross-country run at Dickinson on October 27.

Following the business meeting, the delegates were entertained at dinner by the Muhlenberg College Athletic Council.

SOUTHERN ALL-STAR SQUAD STARTS WEST

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Dec. 19.—Nineteen husky football stars composing the picked Southern Conference squad, started on their journey westward to the Pacific Coast Saturday to do battle the day after Christmas with the select of the Pacific Coast gridirons.

Although the team will make several short stops on the way westward, there will be no workouts. They are scheduled to arrive in Los Angeles tomorrow and will drill there several times before the charity benefit game between South vs. West in the Great Los Angeles Coliseum.

With the exception of Shivers and Nash, all-America wingmen of Georgia University, all those selected to make the trip were present when the squad left.

U. S. Net Chances Good

By LEWIS BURTON,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Many a spongeful of figurative tears went to waste last week when Messrs. William Tatum Tilden II and Francis T. Hunter got an idea. If Tilden had said with less heat that he intends to polish up his tennis act with Hunter in Europe, the 48 states might have been less alarmed. There really is no cause for the United States to regret that it will not have the services of Tilden and Hunter in the American Zone Davis Cup matches.

On the contrary, their absence during the preliminaries ought to be commended, although their absence in the challenge round might decrease America's chances, if by accident there should happen to be some at that time.

What this country needs, aside from bigger and better this-and-thats, is more good tennis players. Vincent Richards, Bill Johnson and Tilden were sufficient for about a half dozen years, but the country needs replacement material. And it certainly isn't going to build up the young ones by letting them suffer for lack of experience. Tilden and Hunter are hardly needed to assure the success of the American inter-zone campaign.

George M. Lott, Jr., and John Doeg alone may take care of all the eliminating in American territory. In their support such players as Jack Van Ryn, Kenneth Appel and Wilmer Allison may be called upon. This would serve to develop and encourage America's potential challenge round players without impairing its chances in the finals.

AMATEUR SOCCER TEAM PLANNED FOR OLYMPICS

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Plans for selection of a soccer team to represent the United States in the Olympics at Amsterdam next summer have been made by a committee of the United States Football Association.

There will be elimination games between teams representing various districts of the East and Middle West and eventually leading clubs from both sections will contest.

Substitute players will be permitted. All players chosen for the Olympic competition must be American citizens and qualify as amateurs. Such contestants shall not demand nor accept compensation for wages lost during the time of absence from the United States.

W. & J. INTRODUCES FOOTBALL IN ITALY

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 19.—American football is being introduced among the students of the University of Naples, at Naples, Italy, by Nicholas Tesauro, Washington and Jefferson College graduate and a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tesauro of this city. He is studying Medicine at the University of Naples. The Italian students have become so enthusiastic that Tesauro has written here for rules books and others containing formations and instructions in the rudiments. Other Italian students at Naples, also, have studied in America and are assisting in the introduction of the sport. Young Tesauro has spent most of his life in Italy. Five years ago he enrolled at W. & J. with only a smattering of English, but he completed the course in a three-year period.

MILLSAPS GET WIN OVER MIAMI, 31-9

CORAL GABLES, FLA., Dec. 19.—On a rain-drenched field Saturday afternoon Millsaps College defeated Miami University's eleven, 31-9.

A fumble gave the invaders their first touchdown in the second quarter. Crawford and Bilbo for Millsaps and Courtney and Hauser for Miami were the outstanding stars of the game. An old-fashioned fist fight enlivening matters during the first period and resulted in two players being sent to the showers.

JESS CARVER'S VARSITY COLUMN

PITT will be home tomorrow or early Wednesday after a splendid invasion of the Middle West. So far, in three games, they have walloped Michigan, Chicago and Northwestern, three fives that have been conceded top rating as potential Big Ten champs. Tonight they meet Iowa, and will figure to bump the Hawkeyes just as they did the other three. They've had two full days of rest and should be in fine fettle tonight.

REGARDLESS of whether they win tonight or not, they are deserving of much credit and praise for their triumphs over Michigan and Northwestern. They were not content to nose out the Big Ten teams, but turned in decisive victories on both occasions, and sandwitched in a 10-point walloping of Chicago.

PITT will open the home season Friday night with another strong opponent—Dartmouth. The strength of the Green is totally unknown, although I am informed that four men from a strong 1926-27 varsity are left for this season's quintet. Playing smart Eastern basketball as Dartmouth undoubtedly will, it will furnish just as much of a test for the fine Pitt team as did any of the Big Ten opponents, and on their own floors, too.

PRO GRID

view of an opinion that the pro league was losing ground and might pass out of the sport picture. Pyle said:

"The season, speaking for my own team, was not as successful as it was last year, but the difference was slight. The injury to Red Grange was one reason for our club falling behind its 1926 receipts, and the bad weather of the two Sundays when we played the Giants was another reason. I am satisfied from the size of the crowds on those two Sundays, that we would have drawn from 20,000 to 25,000 under good weather conditions for these games.

"Business was good in a number of cities in our circuit. As a result we drew remarkably well in spite of bad weather at home. In another season the schedule will not list Yankee-Giants games for December. We will play one in late October and another in November, and probably we will do away with games after December 1.

"It is evident now that there never will be a dearth of high-class paying talent. Each June closes the college career of numerous football stars who are keen to accept good salary for a season or two in professional football. Many a young graduate will be able to tide himself over the toughest year by the money which he can earn at the game."

JOE M'GRAW PLANS NEW RECORD ATTEMPT

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 19.—Joseph M. McGraw, of this city, just home from Phoenix, Ariz., where he supervised the effort of Guy McKinney, 1:58¾, to break the world's trotting record, will leave today for Hanover, Pa., to confer with the owners of Guy McKinney relative to another attempt to lower the all-time trotting record of 1:58¾ held by Lee Axworthy, now dead. This attempt will probably be made at Macon, Ga., in the near future, Guy McKinney being now in the stable of Tommy Berry, formerly of Flemington, N. J., at the Georgia track.

Berry drove Guy McKinney when he established a 4-year-old stallion trotting record at Phoenix, making him the fastest living stallion trotter. McGraw, widely known harness horse race official and president of the Keystone Short Ship circuit, was sent to Phoenix to supervise Guy McKinney's trial by the American Trotting Association, which will also sponsor his trip to Macon when Guy McKinney's owners decide to send the great trotter after the world's record again.

Ellis Starts Comeback Try Today

POPULAR

Charley Ellis, former world's three-cushion billiard champion, is going to try to regain the heights after having been forced to give up active competition because of an injury. He starts out over the "comeback" trail in a match with Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago in his own parlors here today, and the local fans, with whom he is popular, are pulling for him to come through.

TEST MATCH WITH THURNBLAD OPENS TODAY

BANKING FOR BREAK

Thurnblad, the man who is to put Ellis to his first test, is the former Milwaukee representative in the Inter-State League. Arthur finished third in the last national tournament, and is to met Otto Reiselt in a challenge match for the championship soon. Ellis (left), and Thurnblad are shown banking for the "break" in a practice match. Like Charley, Arthur has serious designs on the crown, and no love will be lost in their joust to decide which one is best fitted to wear the royal purple. Thurnblad arrived in Pittsburgh last Friday and now is well acquainted with the table on which the match is to be played.

Here is the shoulder that gave Ellis so much trouble. A "catch" in his shoulder muscles ruined Charley's stroke, and it was not until Bonesetter Reese had straightened out a twisted ligament that he was able to play again with precision and confidence.

NEWSIE AGAIN FOR A DAY

Red Chapman of Boston, one of the leading featherweight contenders, who boxes Tommy Crowley of the South Side in the main bout at Motor Square Garden tonight, couldn't resist the temptation to go back to his old corner at Fifth avenue and Smithfield street to hustle papers for a few minutes upon his arrival in town Saturday. Back about 15 years ago, he sold papers and flowers on the "avenue." He has two brothers living in the East End and two married sisters, who make their homes in Boston. His parents are dead. The famous Red Chapman of the ring is Morris Kaplan in real life and it was to be Morrie Kaplan again for a day that Chapman went back to the old corner for a thrill. Notice him counting the pennies on the stand as he did in the leaner days when every copper meant a great deal to him.

RED CHAPMAN

TUNNEY READY BY JUNE 15

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Gene Tunney, the well known man-about-his-business, will be ready to defend his title by June 15 next, he said Saturday afternoon as he sailed on the steamship Iroquois to take up winter quarters at Miami, Fla. The statement was by way of being the heavyweight champion's affirmation of a previously expressed determination to fight twice next summer, but it don't necessarily mean that he was serving any ultimatums on Tex Rickard.

Having carried his point, Tunney must begin to get into condition earlier this year than ever before and, in consequence, the Florida sojourn, atmospherically speaking, will lean less toward the drawing room and more toward the gymnasium.

'PRO GRID GAME SOUND'—PYLE

By BILL SLOCUM,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Professional football is on a sounder basis today than at any previous time since the first league was formed, and the continuation of the sport, with two clubs in New York, is assured for 1928 and for some years to come.

Such was the positive statement of Charles C. Pyle, owner of the New York Yankees, as he prepared to leave New York with his players for a tour which will carry all the way to California. Pyle has been one of the leading figures in the pro game for the past two years and he insists that both he and Tim Mara, owner of the Giants, are perfectly satisfied with the returns of the past season.

Pyle's statement was interesting in

Dukes May Get W.-J. Date

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 19.—The award of the one open date on the Washington and Jefferson football schedule—October 13—lies among Marshall and West Virginia Wesleyan, in the Mountain State and Duquesne University of Pittsburgh, according to the best obtainable information from football headquarters here. Manager Theurer said yesterday that negotiations had been pending with all three institutions for some time and he was awaiting the definite award of the date merely to ascertain as well as possible which one is the most desirable to the alumni.

Marshall has never played Wash-Jeff in football and Duquesne has not appeared on a Red and Black schedule in many years. West Virginia Wesleyan during the Folwell regime and for two or three years thereafter was a regular opponent for the Presidents and gave the Red and Black some notable battles.

Inasmuch as Wash-Jeff will be playing its final home game on October 13, Manager Theurer is anxious to provide the team that the alumni want the most, inasmuch as many of them are expected to return for that contest.

Duquesne University, one of the strongest teams in the Tri-State Conference, is being boosted for the open date.

Former State Star Is Near Death

WINDBER, Dec., 19.—Harry N. Bentz, star center at Penn State in 1921-22-23, is dying of typhoid fever in the Windber Hospital. He was admitted several days ago in a critical condition and has failed to respond to treatment.

Little hope is held for his recovery. Bentz went to Penn State from Kiski, and was a teammate of Glenn Killinger, Pete Redinger, Tiny McMahon, Rags Madera, Harry Wilson and Frank Bedenk.

SPO[illegible] COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

ONE week from tonight, the University of Pittsburgh football team will be steaming westward on the first lap of the long journey to Pasadena for the big Tournament of Roses game, on January 2, in which the Panthers will meet double opposition in Pop Warner's Stanford eleven and the California climate.

The return of wintry conditions here threaten, if they continue during this week, to add largely to Pitt's already heavy handicap in the final period of home practice, as the more accustomed Blue and Gold gridders become to cold weather the more weakening will be the effects of the much higher temperature in Pasadena upon the unacclimatized Easterners when they attempt the violent exertion necessary in a real football contest.

IN THIS connection, Coach Sutherland believes that the spirit of his players will count for a whole lot. His team of 1927 is an unusually intelligent one, as well as a great one physically, and the mentor is

Hoppe Smashes Record in Cue Loop

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(INS.)—A new record had been set by Willie Hoppe today in defeating Harry Wakefield, 50 to 2, in only 24 innings of play, in an American Three-Cushion Billiard League match. The one-sided score was the most decisive victory ever scored in championship play. Hoppe required only 28 minutes to run out his game and made runs of nine, eight and five.

KERR'S MEN ON COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19.—Led by Andy Kerr, Washington and Jefferson football coach, 21 of the brightest luminaries in the Eastern constellation of grid stars arrived here yesterday for their forthcoming battle on December 26 with a hand-picked eleven, composed of the cream of Western grid performers. The contest is to be the annual Shrine East-West football classic.

[illegible]ambling Hockey Evil

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Professional hockey, though somewhat new to New York, already has collected a barnacle. Professional gamblers, the same clique that has made itself obnoxious for years in the ranks of boxing, have hooked their tentacles onto the ice game and unless the promoters of hockey put some check on their activities the game will pull up short some of these days with a scandal attached.

The actions of the gamblers in the Garden lobby on nights when hockey games are being played have become so distasteful that Tex Rickard served notice on them last Thursday night that it had to stop.

"I am rather glad that the Rangers lost the game," said Tex just after the local sextet, controlled by Tex and his associates, had been beaten by the Detroit Cougars, 2 to 1. "The professional gamblers, with the air of being extra wise as usual, had been quoting 2 to 1 against the Detroit team, and I suppose some of them got stung, at least I hope so."

HENRI COCHET BEATEN

LYONS, France, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Henri Cochet has suffered his first tennis defeat since he returned with the triumphant Davis cut team from the United States last September. The latest French marvel, 17-year-old Georges Soyson, defeated him 6-2, 8-10, 6-4. This was Cochet's first tournament in his home town since 1926. He now resides in Paris.

Hawaii Eleven Beats Utah by 21-20 Score

HONOLULU, T. H., Dec. 19.—The University of Hawaii nosed out the Utah Aggies by the slim margin of one point in their gridiron clash at Victory Stadium here Saturday. The final score was 21-20.

The Hawaii line outweighed the Utah line more than 20 pounds per man. A large crowd witnessed the struggle.

Congress Loses Gym; Members Play Golf

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(INS.)—Congress has the golf bug, and as a result the gymnasium of the House is being dismantled and turned into offices.

"We're too busy in the winter to use it and the rest of the time we play golf," explained one member.

The gymnasium was maintained by individual subscription of a number of athletic Congressmen.

SANDLOT GRIDIRON CHAMPIONSHIP REMAINS IN AIR

CHILLY SAUCE

By CHILLY DOYLE

WALTER HAGEN, master of the links, is working hard these days to become a baseball magnate. Hagen is anxious to purchase a part interest in the Rochester club of the International League. The deal hinges on the ability of the golf star and his partner, John Ganzel, Rochester manager, to raise about $40,000 in the next week. The pair already has produced $25,000.

HAGEN had so much baseball skill that he thought of following the profession instead of golf, but he finally decided in favor of the links sport. That the decision was wise from the standpoint of fame and fortune seems to be accepted, for Walter, even though he had enough diamond skill for big-league play probably could not have won as much prestige as has come to him by following the other sportive path.

THE call of the diamond is strong in nearly every golfer, the professional boys being exceptionally strong for the other game. Golf and baseball appear to be companionable sports. You will hardly find an athlete in the baseball profession who is not fond of the Scotch game.

ON THE whole it is better for baseball to have men of actual sports experience in the saddle. The "boners" pulled by club presidents and owners who have only a small knowledge of the game are too numerous to mention.

IN THE official conducting of the game now there appears to be a slight trend toward the assignment of players and umpires to posts of responsibility. John McGraw, Branch Rickey, Wilbert Robinson, Connie Mack and Billy Evans are qualified to sit in at the councils of the sport. The more actual athletes in power the better it will be for baseball. The players and umpires intuitively knows what the game needs.

OUTSIDE of Barney Dreyfuss, Johnny Heydler, and a few other there are few magnates and owners who have the right slant on the sport. The Pittsburgh magnate has always had a fondness for the actual play of the ball. He played enough as a youngster to develop this strain and he never misses a ball game if he is in a town where one is being staged. Heydler was an umpire and, he, too, gets a big "kick" out of any contest on the diamond.

Odds Draw With Burns

By TOM BIRKS

THE awarding of the much discussed Western Pennsylvania sandlot gridiron championship seems as far away as ever today after the Burns A. A. of New Kensington and the Carrick Odds battled through four periods on an ice frozen field to a scoreless tie game at West View Park yesterday with 500 shivering fans standing around the side lines.

The contest was late getting started and finished in semi-darkness. Owing to the snow and ice on the field, it was found impossible to line it off, and the officials found it very difficult to place the ball and determine first downs. Only three were given during the game.

With footing so precarious, good football was impossible, and both elevens resorted to a kicking game, punting on the second down for the most part. The Burns eleven threatened early in the game, but Carrick's defense braced and turned back the New Kensington eleven's attack. Neither team showed a touchdown punch after Burns' sortie in the first period.

On two occasions the Odds tried for field goals, Moon Klinzing missing a try in the second and final periods.

The Odds tried to gain through the air in the last period, but the Burns defense easily broke up the Carrick passing attempts.

Kalitz staged some classy line plunging for Carricks, though the only chance to score came in the second half when Herbster blocked one of Doll's punts and Carrick had the ball on the 10-yard line. But line plunging failed and Klinzing's attempt at a field goal went wide. An attempt will be made to bring the teams together in a play-off on the Parnassus High School field next Monday afternoon, it was said today. The lineup:

CARRICK—0		BURNS—0
[illegible]	L.E.	Hudson
M. Klinzing	L.T.	Sweet
Herbster	L.G.	Gunther
Brown	C.	Jasky
Pallow	R.G.	Young
Kapsil	R.T.	Jones
Cancrell	R.E.	Gillas
McCleary	Q.	Doll
Lacellis	L.H.	Davis
O. Klinzing	R.H.	Dunn
Kalitz	F.	Shawkey

Substitutes—Brindle, Herrington, Imms, Albertson, Moll, Hope. Officials—Miller, referee; Friesel, umpire; Dumner, linesman.

confident that any physical toll that the change of climate may naturally exact will be kept down to a minimum by Pitt's spirit of determination and the ability of his warriors to use their brains on the field. He coached them to waste no more of their store of energy than is necessary to thwart any tricks the wily Warner may try to pull on them.

In short, Jock is working for a mental state on his team that will offset to some extent the physical handicaps.

AS A matter of fact, it is the mental state that counts most heavily for or against a football team in any game.

No matter how well prepared the players may be in a physical sense, if they are not at the right mental pitch for any particular contest they will not be able to show anything like their best form.

AND Coach Sutherland is all the more hopeful that school spirit and the mental side of football will work out in Pitt's favor in this instance because he has a team that is exceptionally rich in those qualities.

"You will always find that a football team that is really a good team on the field is also a good one in school," said the Blue and Gold coach yesterday. "When the right school spirit and scholastic advancement are shown in the class rooms, they will be reflected in the work of the player on the field."

THE coach's remarks are borne out by this year's Pitt team. Among the 16 boys whom he used most regularly during the season, there are only two or three who are not well above the class average in scholastic standing.

Cutler ranks very high as a student, and so do Booth, Fisher, Donchess, Wasmuth and Kern. Most of the others rank above the average in their classes.

In past years, too, it was frequently shown that the most brilliant students also were the most brilliant players. Charley Bowser and Hube Wagner were first honor men in their classes, and Andy Hastings also had few superiors in scholastic attainments.

So the Pitt players who are going to the coast are not merely athletes, but fine students, in addition, and the spirit that they have shown in the classrooms ought to help them a lot in their efforts to accomplish something for their university in the big game on the coast that will attract the attention of the whole country.

FOLLOWING the capture of the National League pennant by the Pirates, and the winning of the Eastern football championship by the Panthers, Father Pitt, far from resting on his laurels, is startling the country by the great start he is making for high honors in another sport—college basketball.

The Pitt quintet opened the season in sensational fashion last week and put the Middle West in a daze by defeating Michigan, Chicago and Northwestern on their own floors on three consecutive nights.

Iowa remains to be met tonight in Iowa City, with the Panthers having a fair prospect for a clean sweep on the trip, but even if Coach Carlson's passers slip in this final game they will be able to come home with a record that cannot fail to convince the remainder of the basketball world that this city is going to be very much in the race for intercollegiate honors.

And the Dukes and Carnegie Tech are yet to be heard from.

MARTIN BURKE, new defense man on the Pittsburgh hockey team, who was obtained from Les Canadiens in exchange for Charley Langlois, has already won a home here. Even though his coming has not enabled the Pirates to break their losing streak, Burke's brilliant work here Saturday night made a big hit with the fans, and it was not due to any fault of his that the Pirates lost again, 2 to 5, in the setto with Chicago and were held to a 3-to-3 tie in Detroit last night.

Even more pleasing than the playing form displayed by Burke is the spirit that he has shown.

As a general rule, in professional baseball, hockey or any other sport, when a trade is made after the race is under way that sends a player from a team with an extra-money chance to a tail-end aggregation, the athlete in question becomes very much peeved, and, if he does not actually balk at reporting, he performs in a listless fashion for his new outfit.

AS A member of Les Canadiens, Burke had a fine chance to get in the play-offs for the championship at the end of the season and collect some extra money, as baseball players do in the world series.

How slim his chance is for getting anything of the sort as a Pirate may be judged from the fact that out of ten games played to date the locals have failed to score a single victory, losing seven and tying three.

Yet Burke never murmured about the trade, but joined the Bucs with as much enthusiasm as if they were leading the league, and he put everything he had into his first two engagements. His spirit was refreshingly different from that of many professional athletes whose efforts are chiefly devoted to figuring out the dates of "pay days."

Chapman Meets Crowley

man can make more money right at home in the same length of time if he gets any sort of a break, but there is no guarantee that he will get that break. Several times, Chapman has appeared to be on the threshold of big things and great wealth only to have everything go wrong at the eleventh hour. As a result, Cardio will do a lot of figuring before he turns down the proposition, which comes from a London promoter.

CARDIO is a former famous motorcycle racing star, who held world's and other records up to a time when he was seriously injured. He limps to this day as the result of the accident, which ended his racing career. He started out to battle the world as a messenger boy and was the first messenger in Boston to ride a motorcycle in the performance of his duty. It was his own 'cycle, and from this beginning he entered the racing ranks.

CARDIO was telling me yesterday of an experience he had out in California, which leads him to absolve Max Waxman, manager of Joe Dundee, of blame for the fiasco which resulted when the welterweight champion refused to go through with a match with Ace Hudkins in Los Angeles recently.

"I was offered three matches and guaranteed half traveling expenses to bring Chapman to Los Angeles," Cardio said. "When we arrived out there, we found the club had changed matchmakers and the new boss calmly told us he hadn't sent for us and didn't know anything about any sort of an offer. When I explained the idea to him, he said he'd try to use my boy if he could get someone to fight him. We stayed there for two weeks and when we finally demanded a showdown, he offered us Ace Hudkins, a welterweight; Johnny Lamar, a lightweight, and a few other impossible opponents. I saw we were getting what is known as the 'run-around' and told him we'd go back home if they'd give us our carfare. He tried to laugh that off and I finally had to invoke the assistance of the boxing commission to make him come clean.

"Yes, sir, that's the break we got on the coast and I don't blame Waxman or any other Eastern manager who is invited to go out there for watching his step."

CARDIO really believes he has in Chapman the uncrowned featherweight champion of the world. When Johnny Dundee was featherweight champion, he boxed Chapman in Boston. Red weighed in below the featherweight limit of 126 pounds in the afternoon and Dundee, fearing for his title, refused to go through with the match until Red had gone out and partaken of some water and re-weighed over the limit. Chapman handed Dundee a beating that night, and, because of what had happened on the scales, claimed the title. He received a belt emblematic of the championship, but couldn't make his claim register generally. Later, Louis (Kid) Kaplan twice avoided meetings with him when the Kid was champion, and finally hopped out of the class and resigned the title rather than box him. Kaplan said he no longer could make the weight. Chapman then defeated Babe Herman, Honey Boy Finnegan and other contenders and on New Year's night of this year he boxed Benny Bass in Madison Square Garden, New York. He claims he knocked out Bass with a left hook to the body in the first round, but Bass contended he had been fouled and had his protest allowed. They were ordered rematched, but the bout fell through in New York and, finally, last September, they met again in Philadelphia. This was a bitterly-contested scrap, with Bass getting the decision. Both were knocked down simultaneously at one stage. Chapman now is trying to force another meeting with Bass, who gained recognition as champion through that victory.

CHAPMAN told me yesterday that [illegible] was all of 15 years ago that [illegible] here for Boston, where he [illegible]ame as a boxer. The general impression has been that he went to the Hub only seven or eight years ago.

"I was selling papers downtown when I was only 6 years old," the redhead said, "and was about [illegible] years old when I moved to Boston. I have two married sisters there and two brothers living in Pittsburgh. I was here for a visit about two years ago. My real name is Morris Kaplan."

Chapman is a soft-spoken and rather studious-appearing chap. On Saturday he visited his old [illegible] and posed for a picture for the Sun-Telegraph photographer, borrowing the newsie's cap to replace his hat. He got quite a kick out of returning for a few moments to the scene of his early struggles.

CROWLEY has been secretly pleased over the fact that Chapman has been monopolizing the limelight in connection with their match. As his manager, Bill Heckman, said yesterday, Tommy likes nothing better than to be left alone to do his training before a bout and conditions have been ideal for him in this instance. Tommy knows he has a big contract on his hands in meeting Chapman and is determined to make good, and he only hopes that Chapman is under-rating him in the light of his having been almost totally ignored the last few days. The pair finished training yesterday, Chapman working in public in the Motor Square gym and Crowley putting in his final licks at the Pittsburgh Lyceum.

FOUR eight-round bouts make up the Motor Square card for tonight. Tony Ross of Carnegie and Harry Dudley, Negro welterweight of the Hill, meet in the eight-round semi-final. Young Rudy of Charleroi and Harry Taylor of the North Side box the second bout and Linn Jordan of Johnstown and Teddy Esterbrook of Niles, O., clash in the first number at 8:30.

JACK ZIVIC boxes Tommy (Kid) Herman in the 10-round windup at the Arena, Philadelphia, tonight, with Harry Blitman and Jose Lombardo meeting in the 10-round semi-final. Ernie Jarvis of England and Frenchy Belanger of Canada box a 12-round flyweight elimination at Toronto. Soug Myers battles Freddie Mueller at Buffalo, and Mike Dundee and Ray Miller headline a Christmas benefit show in the Coliseum, Chicago. Other bouts on the Chicago program include: Otto Von Porat vs. Ted Sandwina, heavyweights; Joey Medill vs. Paul Allen, Smiley Springer vs. Earl Mastro, Georgie Rivers vs. Harry Forbes and Tony Mandell vs. Benny (Kid) Carter.

PAULINO UZCUDUN is back at his Off ag'in, on ag'in, gone ag'in, Finnegan, tricks, and, as a result, the Motor Square Club, which had him booked with Battling Levinsky for New Year's afternoon, is looking for another match for that occasion. Paulino has postponed his countrywide tour and will open in Newark, New Year's Day. He may appear here later. The George Godfrey-Soldier Jones bout stands for Christmas Day at Motor Square.

TEDDY WELCH bested Billy Rose and Andy Tomosky fought a draw with Jerry McDermott in no-decision bouts at Cincinnati Saturday night.

Tommy Crowley, his local rival, who meets Red Chapman here tonight.

In a consensus of opinion compilation of the leading boxing critics of the country gathered by the New York Sun, Goldstein is rated tenth among the junior-lightweights of the world. Tod Morgan, the champion, Joe Glick, Honey Boy Finnegan, Jack Bernstein, Babe Herman, Mike Dundee, Ray Miller, Johnny Dundee and Carl Duane are listed above him in the order named.

Walk Miller and Young Stribling have agreed to disagree, according to reports. Their contract expires at the end of the year and Stribling is to return under the management of his father.

Ruby Goldstein begins his "comeback" attempt tonight with a six-round bout with Ray Mitchell of Philadelphia in New York.

Willie Davies of Charleroi is to meet Cleveland Phil Goldstein in one of the six-round bouts of an all-star card in Public Hall, Cleveland, on the night of January 4.

Walcott Langford and Mickey Forkins clash in a 12-round bout at Columbus tonight.

The card has been completed for the show at Carnegie Thursday night. Tony Ross and Young Piazzi meet in the 10-round windup and Jess Hoak of McKeesport boxes Jimmy Prescott of Carnegie in the semi-final. Jackie Rodgers of the North Side and Kid Alexander of Lawrenceville, Negro flyweights, will box the second bout and Chuck Von of Dormont and Joe Cosgrove of Elliot will mix in the opener.

ARMY-NAVY

ing has been said about ending the contests in the four other branches in which the service schools engage.

While Gen. Winans, superintendent of the Military Academy, stated that the Naval Academy was considered as released from any obligation to play the football game and Admiral Nulton, superintendent of the latter stated he felt free to schedule another game, it is believed that nothing has been done to that end and that there is no bar to a reopening of the consideration of the differences.

It is believed that the time is opportune for the heads of the departments to suggest that the officials of the Service schools reopen negotiations and reach an agreement if possible.

Delay to take this action may mean a final break as to football, and its extension to all athletic relations between the two.

While it is admitted here that the situation is precarious, hope is seen in the absence of a definite, official break between the two schools.

With a squad of about 24 engaged daily in practice, the Naval Academy is probably the first college in the country to take up regular preparation for next year.

FORMER BUC HURLER INJURED IN BRAWL

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Shot in the right leg during a cafe brawl in Atlantic City early Saturday, William (Lefty) Pierson, former pitcher with the Philadelphia Athletics, declines to name his assailants.

Pierson, who is 22, was taken to Atlantic City Hospital, where surgeons removed a pistol bullet from his leg.

After a sensational career in Southern League baseball, Pierson joined the "A's" in 1925. Later he went to the Pittsburgh Pirates. Last season he left the big leagues.

TOY MISSION NEEDS GIFT BOOKS

Enough books to fill a large library have been donated by the people of Allegheny county to the Toy Mission for distribution at Christmas time to children among poor families in Pittsburgh. Thousands of volumes have been placed with packages of toys which will be ready for distribution next Saturday.

"Among the children from 12 to 14 years of age a good book always makes a good present," said John E. Potter, president of the Potter Title and Trust Company, who for years has been serving the Mission as its book censor.

Every book brought in is scanned carefully by Mr. Potter. He sees first that it is a book fit for young readers, and checks up also to see that it is not mutilated. Every book sent out must be in good condition. The Toy Mission allows none of its children to be disappointed.

"We need more good books," urged Mr. Potter. "Good adventure stories, works on travel, biography, history and natural history are especially desired. For the smaller children picture books are the thing and these we have received in a great number. Manuals of various kinds are liked by boys, and radio books are eagerly looked for. We are looking for more books."

Books as well as used toys should be left at the various agencies of The Sun-Tele.

WOMAN BREAKS DRY PAROLE, JAILED

Mrs. Esther Klechner, 45, was placed on probation by the Federal District Court on November 20, 1925, when she pleaded guilty to a charge of selling and possessing intoxicating liquor in violation of the national prohibition law. She was in court again Saturday on anther complaint charging subsequent sales of liquor and with breaking her parole and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and serve 30 days in jail.

W. T. Moorehouse, convicted of attempting to bribe government prohibition agents, when arrested June 8 in Munhall for transporting liquor, was sentenced to eight months in jail. James Richards and John Peters, convicted of violating the prohibition law, were fined $500 each.

Lew Smith was sentenced one year in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., for transporting a stolen automobile in interstate commerce, having driven the machine March 16, 1922, from Youngstown, O., to New Kensington. Smith had been paroled for the offense, but was afterward arrested in connection with another stolen machine for which he served a sentence in the Erie county jail. Upon his release from the latter institution he was brought back into the Federal District Court.

"LOST" IN JAIL 77 DAYS

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 19.—Lost in the Fayette county jail for 77 days, Theodore Burnett, of Thompson No. 1 was not "discovered" until an attorney brought the matter to the attention of Judge Davis W. Henderson. Burnett, charged with the theft of two baskets of grapes valued at less than a dollar, was committed to the jail by Justice Henry Davidson, of Republican. The justice apparently failed to return the information in the legal limit of five days. Justice Davidson has been summoned to appear before the court for an explanation.

Widgeon Flies From Iceland To Cape Cod

BOSTON, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—A European widgeon, a species of duck, which flew across the Atlantic from Iceland, was shot on Cape Cod recently by G. Herbert Windeler, member of a Boston insurance firm. A leg band on the bird bore the name of Peter Skovgaard, Viborg, Denmark.

Windeler said that he had received a letter from Skovgaard stating that he banded the widgeon in Iceland on July 2, last. Skovgaard wrote that he and his associates had banded 60,000 birds to learn their ways of migration.

The widgeon is believed to be the first one caught in this country. Records show that gulls have crossed the ocean, but there is nothing to indicate that a duck ever before made the trip.

FEAR OF DEATH SEALS LIPS OF AUTO THIEF

Sam Scarcelli, an Italian, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., described by his attorney in the Federal District Court on Saturday as a man whose "lips are sealed because of fear for his life and the safety of his family," was sentenced to six months to jail when he pleaded guilty to transporting a stolen automobile in interstate commerce.

The attorney's remark was understood by court room auditors to be an explanation of Scarcelli's fear of divulging the circumstance under which he became involved in the theft. The sentence was suspended temporarily to permit the defendant to arrange business affairs before beginning the jail term.

Mike Zeffuto, an Italian, of Indiana, Pa., a co-defendant, is on trial in the district court. The case is being prosecuted by Assistant District Attorney Raymond Evans. According to the prosecution the automobile, owned by Tony Radessi, of Mt. Morris, N. Y., was stolen in Rochester, N. Y., in October, 1925, and sold in Indiana for $250.

BUSINESS HOME SOLD IN STOWE

A two-story brick business building at 726 Broadway, Stowe township, lot 24x100 feet, has been sold by Louis Rider to Samuel Bender for $18,350.

A brick house and double garage on the south side of Bartlett street near Shady avenue, Fourteenth Ward, has been sold by Merle A. Petty to John Heck for a private consideration. The lot is 40x120 feet.

Morris A. Paul has sold to Maggie Austin property 30x100 feet with a brick and tile dwelling in Morningside avenue near Martha street, Tenth Ward, for $10,875.

Lawrence Meyers has sold to Pauline Kunset a house at 2013 Wightman street, Fourteenth Ward, for $13,000. The lot is 40x138 feet.

ESTABLISH LAW PRECEDENT

A precedent in criminal law was established by decision of the Pennsylvania Superior Court, permitting confessions of accomplices in a crime to go before a jury deliberating on the case, according to an opinion received Saturday by Assistant District Attorney John F. Haggerty.

The decision denied an appeal by Joseph Murphy, of Collins avenue, convicted of robbery, as the alleged ringleader of the gang which held up the Twelfth Ward Republican Club in East Liberty, April 7, and took nearly $1,500 from the club and its members.

Four other members of the gang, who were brought here from Detroit and who signed confessions implicating Murphy, pleaded guilty and later testified in the trial of Murphy in his favor. Their confessions were permitted to go to the jury by Judge J. Frank Graff, of Kittanning, who heard the case.

854 Cigarets Per Capita Is 1928 Estimate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—INS.—At the November rate of smoking the United States in 1928 will consume 100,000,000,000 cigarets—five billion packages, that probably at retail will cost $600,000,000.

Treasury figures show tax was on far over 8,000,000,000 cigarets in November, an increase of 700,000,000 over November, 1926.

At this rate every man, woman and infant in the country would be consuming 854 cigarets annually.

On the same basis the country will get use of 7,850,000,000 cigars next year, representing an outlay of probably $700,000,000.

Optimist-Pessimist Duel: Better Trade Is Expected

By B. C. FORBES

HOPEFULNESS amounting to confidence that business will become distinctly better in the early months of next year is now felt in many influential circles.

Opinions differ sharply, however, concerning what may happen stockmarketwise. Not a few important leaders regard a temporary setback in speculation as likely—and some declare this would be wholesome.

AMERICA'S industrial, commercial, financial, agricultural, mining, transporattion, building and other activities have become so extremely diversified and of such magnitude that the optimist and the pessimist each can single out facts and figures from current developments to support his attitude. At certain places and in certain lines conditions are not satisfactory; in others they unquestionably are.

Similarly, the stocks dealt in on the New York Stock Exchange have become so tremendously numerous and represent so many forms of human activity, both at home and abroad, that it no longer presents a uniformly strong or a uniformly weak appearance at the end of any one day. One group of shares often is being marked up simultaneously with a decline in other groups.

This unevenness, this irregularity, is in harmony with the fluctuations and the differences in business conditions and trends, and is entirely logical seeing that sometimes six hundred and even seven hundred separate issues are traded in on one day—to say nothing of the fact that on the New York Curb the daily total lately passed the six-hundred mark.

THOSE who take a cautious view emphasize the significance of such things as the shrinkage of 13 per cent in railway traffic as compared with a year ago; the abnormal number of furnaces now idle; the failure last week of the largest coke plant in the world to ship a single pound to consumers; the heavy drop in automobile sales and the failure of Detroit to employ as many workers as a year ago; the ten per cent reduction in wages announced last week by important New England textile mills and curtailed production by Southern mills; the continued chaos in the oil industry; the renewed preponderance of commodity price declines over advances; the decline in earnings reported by many enterprises during recent months; the very mixed trade reports of Dun's and Bradstreet's—the latter records "curtailment of manufacturing in some directions, reports of unemployment of labor, and isolated wage reduction;" the expansion of a billion dollars in brokers' loans during the year; the outflow of gold all through this month at the rate of almost $2,000,000 daily; the unfavorable decision by the Federal Court in the St. Louis and O'Fallon Railway case; the approach of the presidential election, etc.

THOSE who take a more cheerful view likewise can present an array of buttressing arguments.

They declare that gold shipments to countries needing the metal are desirable rather than undesirable. They insist that money is bound to remain abundant and cheap. They point out that the wage trend for the country as a whole is slightly upwards rather than downwards.

They naturally emphasize the far-reaching importance of the improvement in our agricultural conditions. They predict very confidently that automobile sales will almost immediately begin to increase and continue to increase until the 1928 total reaches the unprecedented aggregate of 5,000,000 cars. They point to the progress made by influential leaders towards bringing out order out of chaos in the oil industry. They cite very encouraging building statistics. They invite attention to the frequent gains in bank clearings. They are sure that the steel industry has reached the turning point.

They invite you to note that our foreign trade is in a very healthy state, with an export balance so far this year of more than $300,000,000 above last year's. They ask what a gain of $1,5000,000,000 in savings deposits can mean if it does not mean waxing, widespread prosperity. They dwell upon the importance of the low inventories now almost universal and contend that even very modest expansion in consumptive demand would immediately necessitate increased manufacturing operations.

They ask if our railroads, our public utilities, our largest industrial enterprises, our banking institutions ever were in stronger shape than they are today.

"Does the record-breaking number of dividend increases now being announced almost daily spell dullness?" they demand.

HAVING thus been given both sides, form your own conclusions.

The writer believes there is rather good foundation for expecting better business before long. But the hectic ongoings in the stock market do not inspire unquestioning confidence in the solidity of many of the issues which lately have been put through very violent paces.

ACTIVE BIDDING PUTS STOCKS AT PEAKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Active bidding for a wide assortment of pool specialties, more than a score of which were elevated to record high levels, more than offset the development of a few weak spots in today's stock market. Publication of another series of optimistic 1928 business forecasts, coupled with a continuation of easy money rates, stimulated bullish enthusiasm.

Professional traders sold stocks freely on the theory that the market was entitled to at least a techincal reaction, but offerings were well absorbed, suggesting a strong underlying investment demand. The Kansas City Southern Railroad, the first to report its November earnings, showed a small increase in net operating income as compared with the same month last year.

Coppers were again in the forefront of the advance. Greene Cananea, in which there have been rumors of a "technical corner," was the individual feature, soaring 13 points to a new record high for all time at 149¾, or 110 points above the year's low. Anaconda, Chile and Miami Coppers also advanced to their highest prices in years.

Active bidding for the oils lifted Sinclair and Simms to new peak prices for the year, but the rally was checked by the weakness of the Pan American issues, which sank to their lowest prices since 1924 on fears for the safety of the present $4 dividend.

Hudson led the advance in the motor group. The long list of new highs included Vanadium Steel, Montgomery-Ward, Sears Roebuck, American Can, Coca-Cola, Union Tank Car and International Business Machines. Gabriel Snubber touched a new 1927 low on unfavorable dividend rumors and reports of poor business.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The cotton market opened barely steady today at a decline of 8 to 12 points under realizing and local selling, inspired by relative easy Liverpool cables, and talk of a probable pre-holiday reaction from the recent advance of about a cent a pound.

January sold off to 18.72c and May to 19.06c under these offerings, but the trade bought at the decline and after early selling had run its course, prices steadied up to above Saturday's closing figures. The market was quiet at the end of the first hour, active months ruling 2 or 3 points net lower.

Private cables reported realizing and hedge selling in the Liverpool market.

Prices advanced later on pre-holiday covering. Offerings were light after the early selling had run its course, and there appeared to be a little buying on the more optimistic view of the situation in cotton goods, or on expectations of an improvement in spot demand after the holidays. January sold up to 18.98c and May to 19.21c, or about 10 to 11 points net higher, with the market steady at midday.

NEW STAR DISCOVERED ON OPERATIC HORZION

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—Della Samoiloff, young American soprano of New York, made her operatic debut here Sunday night in the role of Santuzza in "Cavalleria Rusticana." Miss Samoiloff has been studying for a number of years, and although she chose a difficult part for her opening operatic work, she was a great success. Mme. Claudia Muzio is the Chicago favorite in this role, but Sunday's work by Miss Samoiloff established her as a coming favorite.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC AT UNION TRUST COMPANY

An elaborate program of Christmas music was given at the tree in the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh at noon today by the Little Symphony Orchestra, Victor Saudek, conductor, and Shadyside Presbyterian Church Quartet, consisting of Helen Bell Rush, soprano; Rose Leader Chislett, contralto; Arthur Davis, tenor; Raymond Griffin, bass; Earl Mitchell, accompanist.

EX-PITTSBURGHER IS KILLED AT CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP.)—Joseph L. Martin, 58, president of the Potomac Construction Company, was killed Saturday when struck by the boom of a pile driver. He was a native of St. Johns, Newfoundland, and had been connected with New York and Pittsburgh concerns before coming to Washington 25 years ago.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables at the local wholesale produce district was rather dull today. All vegetables were sold at about unchanged prices. The fruit market was fair. No changes was made in the quotations.

Poultry was in liberal supply and the market was easy. The demand was poor and the prices were unchanged.

The new prices of butter went into effect today. The market was firm. Eggs and cheese were firm. No change was made in the quotations on these markets.

Carlot supplies were fairly liberal, a total of 100 cars being on track. Arrivals included 24 cars of apples, 8 cabbage, 14 celery, 1 grapefruit, 19 grapes, 2 lemons, 24 lettuce, 5 onions, 21 oranges, 3 pears, 1 peppers, 4 spinach, 3 carrots, 3 turnips, 2 cauliflower, 16 potatoes and 9 sweet potatoes.

Hay was light in receipts. Receipts of grain also were light.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The raw sugar market was firm and unchanged early today. No sales were reported, although it was believed that on Saturday an additional 75,000 bags of Cuban were secured by local refiners at the 4.65c level, and there were further buyers at this price, but holders were asking 1-32@1-16c more.

Fluctuations in raw sugar futures were narrow, but the undertone was steady, reflecting the firmness of the spot market. The market opened 1 point lower to 1 point higher, but steadied on a little covering and trade buying and at mid-day was net unchanged to 2 points higher. Trading was light. Operators were inclined to limit operations and await fresh developments.

The refined sugar market was steadier and unchanged to 5 points higher, prices now ranging from 5.65@5.70c for fine granulated. Not much new business was reported, although withdrawals were more liberal.

NEWS AND VIEWS

K. S. U. Shows Gain for Nov.

The Kansas City Southern Railway Company, first carrier to report November earnings, had an increase of $6,937 in railway operating income over the same month last year, reaching $415,034. Railway operating revenues were $72,004 larger. Railway operating income of $5,459,377 for 11 months of 1927 was $35,311 under the total for the same period of 1926. Railway operating expenses were $187,711 greater. Operating revenues increased $171,925.

Seminole Output Higher.

The Seminole area for 24 hours ended at 7 a. m. Saturday produced 375,475 barrels crude oil, against 345,360 barrels Friday.

Bridge Securities Offered.

McLaughlin, McAfee & Co. of Pittsburgh and Boenning & Co. of Philadelphia are offering today an issue of $650,000 first mortgage 6½ per cent sinking fund gold bonds, due December 5, 1952, at 100 and interest to yield 6.50 per cent. The same firms will offer tomorrow 6,000 shares of $7 cumulative first preferred stock, with an equal amount of common stock, in units of one share first preferred and one share common stock, at $100 per unit, plus accrued dividend. The bonds will be secured by a first closed mortgage on the new bridge now being constructed over the Ohio River from St. Marys, W. Va., to Newport, O. The total cost of the bridge, including financing costs and other charges, will be approximately $1,200,000.

Cudahy Packing.

Cudahy Packing Company for year ended October 29, 1927, reports net profit of $2,353,169 after depreciation, interest and federal taxes, equivalent after regular dividend requirements on 6% and 7% preferred stocks, to $4.17 a share (par $50) earned on 424,000 shares of common stock. This compares with $4,052,780, or $16.34 a share (par $100) earned on 212,000 outstanding common shares at end of previous fiscal year.

Ontario Gold Production.

Ontario gold production for the 11 months ended November totaled $30,098,781 comparing with $31,009,163 for the full calendar year 1926. During November a new record was set in value of crude bullion produced—$3,132,055—despite the fact that a smaller tonnage of ore was handled—308,021 tons. In October $2,842,144 of crude bullion was obtained from 375,751 tons of ore.

Corning Crude Advanced.

Corning grade crude oil has been advanced 10 cents a barrel by South Penn Oil Company. This advance follows a raise of 5 to 10 cents a barrel in Pennsylvania crude Saturday.

New York Central.

A rumor is being circulated widely and given credence in many quarters that directors of New York Central may pay an extra dividend soon. This is based apparently on the large special dividend declared by Michigan Central in the past week, which will benefit Central materially. It is known that some of the important accumulation in New York Central recently has been based on the intrinsic value of the stock rather than on expectations of an early extra distribution.

Wholesale Price Index.

Wholesale prices declined in November about one-third of 1 per cent, according to Department of Labor statistics, based on prices of 550 commodities. This is a slight reaction from the recent upward trend, the index number standing 96.7, compared with 97 for October this year and 98.4 for November last year. Of the 550 commodities, increases were shown in 157 instances, and decreases in 154 instances, while there was no change in 239.

American Can.

Authorities in the can industry have expressed the opinion in the past few weeks that 1928 will show considerable improvement over the current year. Despite all the unfavorable comment heard during the spring and early summer the can companies have been doing quite well, so that any improvement would be considered highly significant. American Can would benefit by this development. The stock has been meeting a demand from interests who should be informed on conditions in that industry.

Census of Cotton Spindles.

According to preliminary figures of the Census Bureau, 36,536,512 cotton spindles were in place in the United States on November last, of which 32,269,478 were in operation at some time during the month.

Reynolds Denies Ford Rumor.

Reynolds Spring Company management officially refutes the report that it had received any large orders for spring constructions from the Ford Motor Company. The company manufactures upholstery springs.

Industrial Rayon Corp.

The Industrial Rayon Corporation reports for November net profits of $80,219 after all charges, compared with approximately $141,000 for October. For the first 11 months the net profits amounted to $16,188,000.

Youngstown Mills Gain.

An improvement is noted in the Mahoning valley mill schedules this week with output showing a gain. The district average is about 60 per cent, against 50 per cent last week. Of the 51 independent open-hearths, 31 are active this week, six over last week. Corporation plants report a gain to 55 per cent. Sheet mill operations are holding slightly above last week's schedule, with 95 of 126 being scheduled to operate. Independent tin plate plants are scheduled at capacity and those of the corporation at 75 per cent. Bar mill operations remain the only dark spot continuing at around 40 per cent.

Lake Ore Consumption Off.

Lake Superior ore consumed by furnaces during November totaled 3,813,637 tons, a decrease of 219,345 tons from October of the current year and 900,349 tons from November 1926. Ore on hand at furnaces on December 1 was 34,527,309 tons and at Lake Erie docks 6,944,315 tons. A total of 41,471,704 tons, compared with 42,760,964 tons on December 1, 1926. Of 274 furnaces reported, 142 were in blast on November 30, a decrease of three from October.

Telautograph Earnings.

Telautograph Corporation reports for 11 months ended November 30 net income of $245,324 after federal taxes, equal after preferred dividend to $1.93 a share on the common stock, against net of $188,566, or 73 cents a share on the common in the corresponding period last year.

California Crude Production.

Crude oil production in California last week declined 5,000 barrels daily from the week before, average daily output being 624,000 barrels.

Cigaret Output Larger.

Output of small-cigarets in the United States in November amounted to 8,093,752,349, compared with 7,345,191,091 a year ago.

American Sugar Raises Refined.

American Sugar Refining has advanced the price of refined sugar to 5.50 cents a pound.

NAB DONORA RADICALS; PROPAGANDA SEIZED

DONORA, Pa., Dec. 19.—"Red" literature printed in red ink was among the large quantity of Bolshevist propaganda seized in a raid here last night on an alleged radical headquarters.

Constable M. E. Ready and Police Lieutenant C. E. Titus arrested Nick Knesovick, Ivan Ceh and Joe Hitiak, all of Donora. They were released under $1,000 bail each for a hearing Wednesday before Justice of the Peace J. C. Castner.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 19—(AP.)—Quiet ushered in the week in the bond market today. Prices showed few changes and the list again gave the appearance that traders were marking time. New offerings, mostly public utility issues, amounted to nearly $70,000,000, and a comparatively large flow is expected during the remaining two weeks of the year. Doubtless this has combined with the recent outward movement of gold to create some hesitancy in the listed market.

The $50,000,000 Peruvian national loan, which is the basis of a large refunding operation, is expected to reach the markets here and in Europe this week, as authorization of the bonds was expected to pass the Peruvian Senate today.

The listed market reflected comparatively little buying except in some of the oil and copper issues. Simms Petroleum 6s advanced more than a point to a new high, while Sinclair 6½s and Humble 5s were firm. Anaconda 7s and Andes 7s led the copper group. Philadelphia Company new 5s were moderately active just above their issue price.

Foreign bonds were quiet. Italian obligations displayed some firmness and Japanese issues, which last week inclined to heaviness, were steady.

Federal government securities attracted moderate attention and prices were irregular.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, the omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—With the government final crop report due from Washington this afternoon, wheat scored an early advance today. It was generally expected the official estimate of 1927 wheat yield would exhibit a reduction of 10,000,000 to 20,000,000 bushels. Starting at ⅛c decline to a shade advance, wheat later showed a moderate upturn all around.

At noon wheat was ⅛c to ⅝c net higher, and corn at a shade decline to ⅛c gain.

Corn, oats and provisions likewise developed firmness, corn opening unchanged to ⅛c off and subsequently making slight gains.

Aside from expectance of a bullish showing by the official estimates on domestic wheat production this season wheat buyers found an incentive at times today in the face that the amount of wheat on ocean passage is considerably less than was the case a week ago, and that world shipments were smaller, both as compared with last week and with a year back. On the other hand, talk was current that European consumers expected to continue buying for only immediate needs.

Rallies in the corn market today were ascribed to speculative buying. It was asserted that about half of the recent arrivals of corn in Chicago today were applied on to arrive contracts. Unofficial estimates current were mostly for a reduction of 25,000,000 bushels to 50,000,000 bushels in the government final report on this season's yield of corn.

THREE CHILDREN DIE IN FLAMES OF HOME

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Dec. 19.—Three small children were burned to death today, and their father and grandmother are believed dying from injuries received in attempts to rescue them from their blazing home. The victims are: Roger, 1; May, 2; and Floyd Conine, Jr., 5.

Floyd Conine, Sr., 31, and Mrs. Mary Crain, 65, are seriouly burned, and small hope is held for their recovery. The mother of the children, Mrs. Sadie Conine, suffered slight burns in the fire.

JAIL INSTEAD OF GRAVE GETS DRINKER OF POISON

Hungry, cold and out of work, John Togani, 32, Clairton, decided to end it all and drank iodine in the waiting room of the Pennsylvania Station, Fourth avenue, late yesterday afternoon. Doctors at the Allegheny General Hospital found that Togani had not taken enough iodine to kill.

This morning he was sentenced to 20 days in jail by Magistrate George H. England.

SHIPPENSBURG COACH TYPHOID SUFFERER

Mining Issue Hits New 1927 High

Carnegie Metals continued to lead the trading on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange at the opening of the new week today. Early prices for the issue were at new high levels for the year, a large fraction above Saturday's closing sale. Accumulation of buying orders over the week-end was responsible for the initial advance, but when this demand was met a moderate recession followed.

Rumors are current in Fourth avenue that Carnegie's current strength is due to the fact that the company has a property at Cananea, Mexico, adjoining the land on which Greene Cananea made its ten-strike recently. Carnegie, according to the story, abandoned the land but still owns it. Greene Cananea's strike was made at a depth considerably below that to which Carnegie had tested its property in that district.

Another story heard in connection with the Carnegie Metals rise is that the company operations are showing a profit and that earnings available for the stock are substantial now and probably will continue so for some time ahead.

The miscellaneous list failed to develop anything of interest today. Harbison Walker was handled at the previously recorded high figure, while the oil and gas issues were very quiet. Glass stocks were dull. Standard Sanitary and National Fireproofing preferred were narrow and fairly steady.

Pennsylvania Four Mills Tax Refundable

Central Illinois Public Service Company

First Mortgage 4½% Gold Bonds, Series F
Due December 1, 1967

Price 94¾ and Interest, Yielding about 4.80%

Dated December 1, 1927. Interest payable semi-annually June 1 and December 1 at the office of Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., in Chicago or New York without deduction for Federal Income Taxes now or hereafter deductible at the source not in excess of 2%. Coupon bonds in interchangeable denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100, registerable as to principal only. The issuance of these Bonds has been authorized by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The following is summarized from a letter of Mr. Marshall E. Sampsell, President of the Company:

Business: The Central Illinois Public Service Company supplies with one or more classes of public utility service 354 communities in Illinois without competition of like service and wholesales electrical energy to 13 other companies, which in turn serve 27 communities.

Purpose: The proceeds of these Bonds will be used toward the retirement of $10,930,000 principal amount underlying divisional bonds and $16,450,000 principal amount First Mortgage and Refunding Bonds carrying higher interest coupons (thus effecting a substantial saving in interest charges), and toward reimbursing the Company for extensions and additions to its property.

Property and Territory: The Company's properties are for the most part located in some of the best agricultural and coal producing lands of the Middle West, being in the Corn Belt or coal mining districts of Central and Southern Illinois. The Company's main generating stations are located practically at the mouth of some of the largest and best equipped coal mines in Central and Southern Illinois. From its own stations, including the capacity of the Grand Tower station, and through its contracts for the purchase of power, the Company has a total available capacity of 126,630 k.w. The total connected load on the Company's system is now approximately 246,000 k.w. The Company owns 2,467 miles of high tension transmission lines, all of which are of modern and recent construction, and also owns 25 ice plants with a combined daily capacity of approximately 1,200 tons.

Security: These Bonds, in the opinion of counsel, will be secured by a first mortgage on all of the fixed properties, rights, and franchises of the Company, now owned, and on all such property hereafter acquired against which any Bonds may be issued under the Mortgage.

Earnings: Following is the income account of the Company as it will be constituted, for the 12 months ended November 30, 1927 and 1926.

Gross Earnings	$12,348,011.34	$11,814,194.04
Operating Expenses, Maintenance and Taxes	7,170,119.37	7,018,653.81
Net Earnings before Depreciation	$5,177,891.97	$4,795,540.23
Annual interest on First Mortgage Bonds, including the present issue, to be presently outstanding, requires		1,719,850.00

Management: The operations of the Company are controlled by the Middle West Utilities Company. The management is in the hands of experienced public utility men whose ability as economical and efficient operators has been thoroughly demonstrated.

A fully descriptive circular will be sent upon request

TAX REFUND IN PENNSYLVANIA AND MARYLAND

Mr. H. A. Carpenter, President of the Clarksburg-Columbus Short Route Bridge Company, summarizes from his letter as follows:

Description: The Clarksburg-Columbus Short Route Bridge will be a modern three-way vehicular steel suspension bridge, crossing the Ohio River at St. Marys, West Virginia, to Newport, Ohio. The bridge will have a total length of 1,902 feet, of which 700 feet will span the main channel of the river. The roadway will be 27 feet wide. A special Act of Congress authorized the construction of this bridge and the necessary approvals of the United States War Department have been given.

The bridge will provide a convenient and safe crossing of the Ohio River and will supply the necessary link to afford a short route over modern highways between the Cities of Clarksburg, West Virginia, and Columbus, Ohio. This will also apply to inter-city traffic between various other cities in West Virginia, such as Grafton, Morgantown and Fairmont, and cities in Ohio, such as Marietta, Lancaster, Athens and Zanesville. It will furthermore afford the direct and short route between points in the east, such as Winchester, Virginia, and Washington, D. C., and points in the west, including Toledo, Detroit and Cincinnati. The population which may be reasonably regarded as tributary to the bridge, is in excess of 500,000.

Security: These bonds will be a direct obligation of the Clarksburg-Columbus Short Route Bridge Company and in the opinion of counsel will be secured by first closed mortgage on all the fixed assets of the Company, which will include the bridge now being constructed by the Company, the approaches and adjacent real estate owned by the Company, as well as the Ferry Company and that Company's real estate on both sides of the river. The J. E. Greiner Company, Engineers of Baltimore, estimate the total cost of the bridge will be over $1,260,000.00 including franchises, rights of way, ferry property, property damage, engineering fees, legal expenses, financing costs and carrying charges during construction. Based on this valuation, these bonds will represent less than a 52% loan and will be followed by 6,000 shares Cumulative Preferred Stock (Dividend $7.00 per annum) and 12,000 shares of Common Stock. Suitable insurance covering customary hazards will be carried at all times. The Contractor constructing the bridge will deposit with the Trustee a Completion Bond of a Surety Company, approved by the bankers, guaranteeing the completion of the bridge.

Earnings: Ford, Bacon & Davis, Incorporated, in a traffic report made in May, 1927, copy of which is available for inspection, estimate gross and net earnings as follows:

Year of Operation	Gross Earnings	Net Earnings
First	$121,910	$ 88,910
Second	131,340	98,340
Third	138,100	105,100
Fourth	144,490	111,490
Fifth	149,010	116,010
Average annual net earnings		$103,970
Interest charges this issue		42,250
Balance		$ 61,720

There will be deposited with the Trustee cash or United States Government Securities sufficient to pay the interest on these bonds for two years from date of issue. It is planned to open the bridge for traffic about October 31, 1928.

Sinking Fund: Beginning 1930 an annual Sinking Fund of 25% of the annual net earnings of the preceding calendar year remaining after the payment of preferred dividends will be paid to the Trustee on April 15th of each year for the purchase or redemption of outstanding bonds of this issue at not over the existing callable price.

Appraisal by The J. E. Greiner Company. Traffic Survey and estimated earnings by Ford, Bacon & Davis, Incorporated. Design and location of bridge, together with Traffic Estimates approved by Ralph Modjeski, Esq. Legal opinion by Saul, Ewing, Remick & Saul, Esqs., Philadelphia.

Application will be made in due course to list these bonds on the Pittsburgh and Philadelphia Stock Exchanges.

Subject to the approval of counsel, we offer these bonds for delivery when, as and if issued and received by us.

Price: 100 and Accrued Interest to Yield 6½%

We do not guarantee the statements and figures contained herein but they were accepted by us as accurate in the purchase of the above securities.

Mr. W. H. Albers, to be President of The Kroger Grocery & Baking Company, has summarized his letter regarding the Company as follows:

HISTORY

"B. H. Kroger opened his first store in Cincinnati in 1882, with a cash capital of $722. The enterprise was successful from the beginning, and was soon followed by further units. At the present time 3715 stores are operated, in conjunction with 1655 of which there are meat departments. In 1902 the present Company was incorporated. This was the first grocery chain to bake bread. The savings in cost and distribution were so large that this has become an important feature of the business, with a production of over 125,000,000 loaves of bread this year, in addition to many varieties of cakes and crackers. The Company also pioneered in the opening of meat departments, and is unique in that it operates its own packing house, as well as a sausage plant.

BUSINESS

The Kroger stores are in a comparatively compact territory in the States of Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Missouri, Michigan, Illinois, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. The number of stores has increased over 90 fold since 1902, with an average of 470 stores opened for each of the last five years. Expansion in sales has also been rapid, the volume in 1926, $146,009,373, having been over 100 times the total for 1900. With only two exceptions, sales in each of the past 34 years have been greater than in any preceding year.

The Company operates the second largest chain of grocery stores in the country, and, in volume of sales, the third largest chain system, being exceeded in this respect only by the Great Atlantic & Pacific and the Woolworth chains.

The Company's chief growth has come through the opening of its own units in a gradually expanding territory, a policy which is still being vigorously pursued, although other chains of stores have from time to time been taken over.

Although most nationally advertised brands of foodstuffs are handled in the Kroger stores, the Company has established a reputation for quality in its own brand, "Country Club," which is used on approximately 100 items.

The baking, meat packing and other manufacturing activities, on account of the volume of business done, have not only proven profitable, but have made it possible to pass on to the public part of the saving in costs on articles of assured quality and freshness.

Sales are for cash only, nothing being sold on credit. No deliveries are made.

EARNINGS

Net profits from operations of The Kroger Grocery & Baking Company, after all charges, including adequate provisions for depreciation and Federal taxes, and after deducting dividend requirements on preferred stocks now outstanding, for the four completed fiscal years ended December 31, 1926, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., have been as follows:

Years ended December 31	Net Profits as above
1923	$2,199,718.72
1924	3,176,866.33
1925	3,318,383.68
1926	4,122,470.34

Net profits for the first ten months of 1927 were in excess of those for the corresponding period of 1926.

Net earnings have increased 30 fold since 1909, when they were $134,580. In the past eight years, which include the deflation period of 1920-21, net earnings in each year were in excess of the preceding year. The Company has paid cash dividends on its Common Stock in each year since its incorporation in 1902.

ASSETS

The balance sheet of The Kroger Grocery & Baking Company, as at October 29, 1927, giving effect as at that date to the provisions of the agreement for the change in capitalization, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., shows net tangible assets applicable to the Common Stock of $17,101,912.63. Net current assets amounted to $9,009,202.40.

The Company owns service buildings in seven cities, with a total floor area of approximately 1,650,000 square feet. Actual value of the real property has enhanced to far in excess of the book figure, which is at cost less depreciation. The other buildings occupied and all of the stores are leased."

NO. 509.

AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing an Agreement between the City of Pittsburgh and Baldwin Township providing for the construction, maintenance and repairs of a Sewage Treatment Plant and a main connecting sewer in the Glass Run Drainage Basin in Baldwin Township.

Whereas—It is mutually advantageous for the section of the City of Pittsburgh located in the 30th Ward and for a section of Baldwin Township by reason of the topography of the territory located in the Glass Run Drainage Basin to construct, maintain and repair a Sewage Treatment Plant and a trunk line connecting sewer to the same, and

Whereas—Said Sewage Treatment Plant shall be constructed in accordance with permit issued by the State Department of Health to Baldwin Township and in accordance with the plans approved by the Department of Public Works, City of Pittsburgh, and

Whereas—The total estimated cost of said Sewage Treatment Plant and main connection sewer shall be apportioned between the City of Pittsburgh and Baldwin Township on a basis of the area drained, the present valuation and the population. By this apportionment the City of Pittsburgh shall pay 23.7% and Baldwin Township 76.3% of the total cost, the estimate of which is $24,524.00, now, Therefore,

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh be and they are hereby authorized and directed to enter into an Agreement on behalf of the City of Pittsburgh with Baldwin Township, said Agreement to be in the following form to-wit:

ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT.

Made and entered into this .... day of ..... 1927 between the City of Pittsburgh and Baldwin Township providing for the construction, maintenance and repairs of a Sewage Treatment Plant and main connecting sewer in the Glass Run Drainage Basin in Baldwin Township.

Therefore, This Agreement Witnesseth, that in consideration of the mutual covenants and Agreements herein contained, it is agreed as follows:

1. That Baldwin Township shall construct, maintain and repair a Sewage Treatment Plant and main connecting sewer in the Glass Run Drainage Basin in Baldwin Township in accordance with Plans approved and a permit granted by the State Department of Health.

2. The site for the construction of said disposal plant shall be procured along Glass Run Road as shown on the plans and paid for by Baldwin Township.

3. The total cost of the construction of the Treatment Plant and the main connecting sewer shall be apportioned between the City of Pittsburgh and Baldwin Township in the following manner—

The City of Pittsburgh shall pay 23.7% of the cost of said work and Baldwin Township shall pay 76.3% of the cost of said work. The said Township shall arrange for the letting of the contract and supervise the construction work. Said contract to be approved by the City.

4. The maintenance and repairs to said plant and trunk sewer shall be made by Baldwin Township and supervised by the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh. THE BUNGLE FAMILY

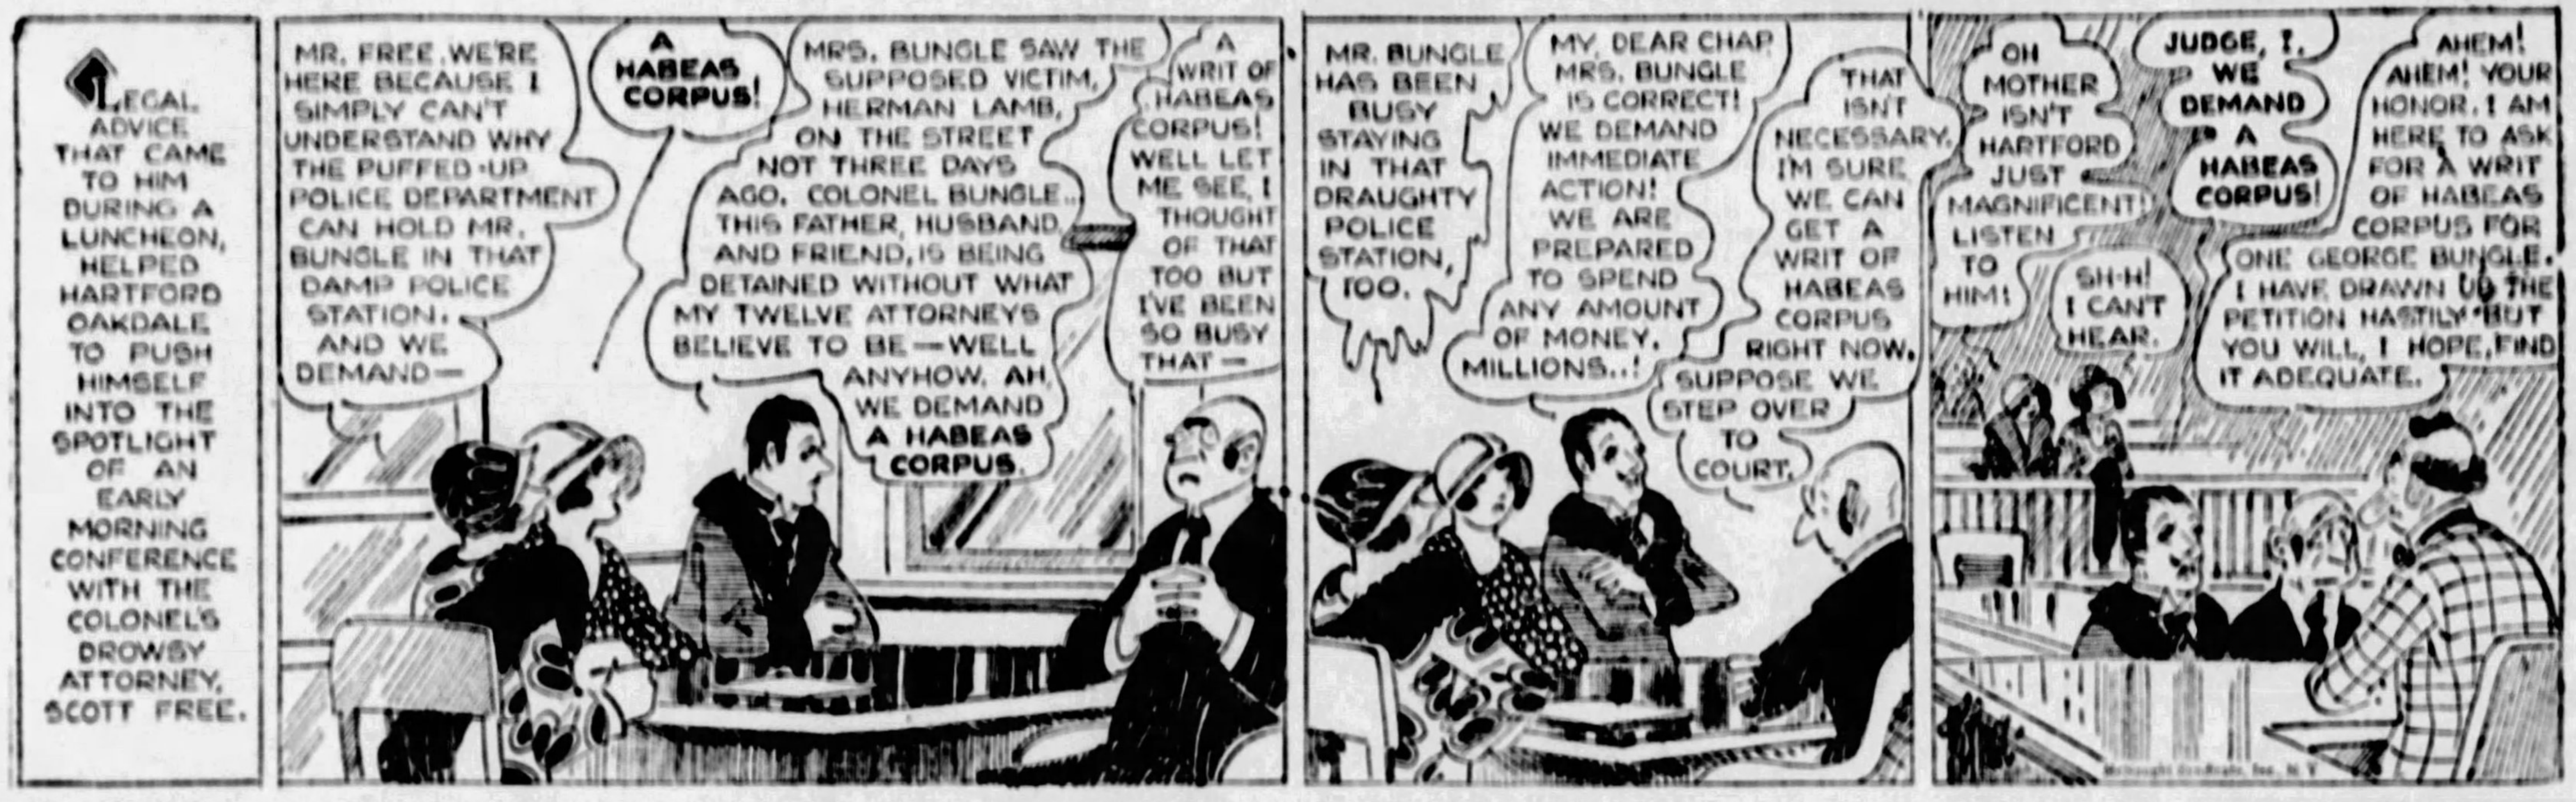
Good Morning, Judge



LEGAL ADVICE THAT CAME TO HIM DURING A LUNCHEON, HELPED HARTFORD OAKDALE TO PUSH HIMSELF INTO THE SPOTLIGHT OF AN EARLY MORNING CONFERENCE WITH THE COLONEL'S DROWSY ATTORNEY, SCOTT FREE.
MR. FREE, WE'RE HERE BECAUSE I SIMPLY CAN'T UNDERSTAND WHY THE PUFFED-UP POLICE DEPARTMENT CAN HOLD MR. BUNGLE IN THAT DAMP POLICE STATION. AND WE DEMAND—
A HABEAS CORPUS!
MRS. BUNGLE SAW THE SUPPOSED VICTIM, HERMAN LAMB, ON THE STREET NOT THREE DAYS AGO. COLONEL BUNGLE.. THIS FATHER, HUSBAND, AND FRIEND, IS BEING DETAINED WITHOUT WHAT MY TWELVE ATTORNEYS BELIEVE TO BE—WELL ANYHOW, AH, WE DEMAND A HABEAS CORPUS.
A WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS! WELL LET ME SEE, I THOUGHT OF THAT TOO BUT I'VE BEEN SO BUSY THAT—MR. BUNGLE HAS BEEN BUSY STAYING IN THAT DRAUGHTY POLICE STATION, TOO.
MY, DEAR CHAP MRS. BUNGLE IS CORRECT! WE DEMAND IMMEDIATE ACTION! WE ARE PREPARED TO SPEND ANY AMOUNT OF MONEY. MILLIONS..!
THAT ISN'T NECESSARY, I'M SURE WE CAN GET A WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS RIGHT NOW. SUPPOSE WE STEP OVER TO COURT.
OH MOTHER ISN'T HARTFORD JUST MAGNIFICENT! LISTEN TO HIM!
SH-H! I CAN'T HEAR.
JUDGE, I, WE DEMAND A HABEAS CORPUS!
AHEM! AHEM! YOUR HONOR, I AM HERE TO ASK FOR A WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS FOR ONE GEORGE BUNGLE. I HAVE DRAWN UP THE PETITION HASTILY BUT YOU WILL, I HOPE, FIND IT ADEQUATE.

LET'S GO IN AND SPEAK TO SANTA CLAUS!
NO USE—ALL HE'D GIVE US WOULD BE 'MERRY CHRISTMAS' AND THAT, RIGHT NOW, WOULD BE RUBBING IT IN!
WE'RE LUCKY AT THAT, BLACKIE—WE WON'T HAVE TO RETURN ANY PRESENTS THIS YEAR, BECAUSE WE WON'T GET ANY!
IF THAT'S LUCKY, SO IS THE INCOME TAX, BECAUSE WE WON'T HAVE TO PAY IT!
WE'RE HEADING WEST, AND AFTER WE FIND PANAMINT PERKINS AND THE RADIUM CAVE, NEXT CHRISTMAS WE'LL GIVE SANTA CLAUS A CLEAN SHAVE!

BUGS BAER Says

CASH-AND-CARRY PYLE'S biggest stunt is scheduled to break loose in March. C. C. has gathered together 1,000 runners of all weights and appetites.

We haven't seen that many runners since the first battle of Bull Run. C. C. will line the boy scooters up on the edge of the Pacific Ocean.

Then he will blow a whistle and the lads will start galloping cross-country to New York. The wise ones will run the other way.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER.

We don't know how C. C. convinces a man that it is for his welfare and happiness to scramble across 3,000 miles of hardboiled highways. But he has managed to do it.

Each runner will wear out 20 sets of shoes on the trip. That's 20,000 pairs of brogans. We will not even mention the sox.

It will be a lot of fun at the start, which will look like a police raid on a well-patronized crap game. But by the time the runners reach the Mohave Desert they will be wishing that they got roller skates for Christmas.

The Rocky Mountains are no tonic for a blistered heel. The Mississippi is wide and deep. But there is no doubt that the tour will be a success.

We figure that one guy will finish the race. That will be C. C., who travels in a Pullman.

C. C. is the man who figured out the slogan, "If you walk you're a bum. If you run, you're an athlete."

"You Said It Marceline!"

By MARCELINE d'ALROY

ON "SINGLE GIRLS AND MARRIED MEN."

Many a GIRL, it seems, wonders
If she is not ENTITLED to BORROW another woman's HUSBAND, once in a while,
These CASUAL thinkers are Rather AMUSING,
If a HUSBAND is no more
In THEIR estimation than an UMBRELLA, then it might NOT Seem so MUCH to ask the LOAN of him on a rainy night,
But then, the TROUBLE is,
These GIRLS who casually
BORROW books, umbrellas and
Other odd ACCESSORIES usually FORGET to return them,
MARRIED men are best
Let alone by SINGLE girls,
That is, NICE single girls,
For WHAT has a married man
To offer OTHER than
A LITTLE spare time, and
A FEW spare kisses?
GIRLS who go out with MARRIED men in order to dig
For GOLD, may find
Ready MONEY, or they may Find only DIRT.
MARRIED men are best kept in Their places. And IF they Have NO HOME let them go Back to the OFFICE—at WORK.

Give a Bundle Tuesday For Suffering Children

Seldom does the Christmas season offer such a chance to the charitably disposed as comes tomorrow, "Bundle Day"—a day when all may contribute something for the relief of the families of the thousands of miners in the Pittsburgh district who have not been working for months,

Among those who are quartered in makeshift shelters are hundreds of children under 14 years of age—children in want at the time when we celebrate the natal day of Him who said "Suffer little children to come unto Me." Whatever you do for them now will be especially esteemed in His eyes as something that is given in the REAL spirit of this holy season,

To make it convenient for those who wish to give—and who does not?—every fire station in Pittsburgh has been designated as a receiving station for bundles. There is one not far from where you live. In your home there are articles of clothing that perhaps you have dispensed with, or could do without if you thought some persons needed them more than you do. Be assured that they do,

This Christmas cannot be a "merry" one for the women and children in mine barracks, but it can be made less insufferable by the kindly acts of thoughtful persons—or the thoughtful acts of kindly persons, since most all are kindly but not always thoughtful. Give the plight of these sufferers a thought now. Prepare your bundle—and don't forget to take it to a fire station Tuesday.

Remember that thousands are in need, many of them women and children.

The Democrats Should Select the Golden Gate

The Democrats in this coming presidential campaign are going to need all the advantages they can secure,

They can get an initial advantage by accepting the invitation of San Francisco and holding the Democratic convention there.

The Republican convention is slated to swelter in Kansas City, one of the hottest June resorts in the United States.

Weather Bureau records over a period of years show that the average hottest in San Francisco in June is 65. The average hottest in Kansas City is 83, and Kansas City has had June temperature of 100.

If temperature and physical comfort have anything to do with mental judgment and vision, the Democrats in San Francisco would have a chance to make a wiser choice than the Republicans in Kansas City.

For Faster Driving

Many people think automobiles go too fast now. Perhaps they do in built-up districts, village, town and city streets. And often they go too fast on the open road—only that's largely the fault of the roads and not of the motorists.

Even a small car may be driven 40 miles an hour, and for hours on end. Bigger cars can make 50. 60, 80 miles in safety. In safety, that is, on the proper sort of highway. But the improvement of automobiles has outstripped improvement in road building.

Italy has been experimenting around the city of Milan with "autostrada"—broad, paved roads, fenced from trespassers, all grade crossings and sharp curves eliminated, on which there is no speed limit. Fast driving itself has proved a negligible hazard. In the past year more than 2,000 cars a day have used the four "autostrada" now operating, and extension of the system is planned.

President Coolidge told Congress in his annual message:

"The importance and benefit of good roads is more and more appreciated. The National Government has been making liberal contributions to encourage their construction. The results and benefits have been gratifying. National participation, however, should be confined to trunk line systems."

The Italian "autostrada" suggest the sort of road development that ought to get earnest Congressional attention—highways to carry motorists with speed and safety over long distances, extending from coast to coast,

In this age of the automobile's mechanical efficiency 200 or 300 miles a day is just ordinary driving. It is roads for this kind of travel which the government must provide: roads built to facilitate speed and at the same time increase safety.

And now is the time for Congress to start.

Budget System's Value

It has been said that nine of every ten adventures in business fail, partly because of lack of capital, but mainly because of lack of scientific accounting.

The Government of the United States has ample capital, but it could not be the prosperous institution it is without a careful budget.

The record of economy since this budget system was installed speaks for itself. It has lightened the Federal tax load of the average citizen by at least $16 and will lighten it more when Congress is forced by public opinion to reorganize the executive machinery of the Government to cut out duplication, overlapping and waste,

It has, to be sure, caused some complaint among tax spenders, who prefer a free hand. Uncle Sam has been accused of being stingy to his civilian employes. Seekers of employment do not think so, because for every vacancy there is an average of six applications.

Under the budget system we get a fairly clear idea of what the Government's needs are and how much taxation will be required to meet them. This illumination grows better year by year. It is a substantial reform which entitles its authors to earnest congratulation.

An Ad for Boots

Judging by the advertisements—and don't forget that to know what's going on you've got to read them—boots for the ladies are in fashion this winter.

Not galoshes, even though they have shaken off their traditional ugliness and become almost coquettish, but honest-to-goodness boots reaching high up slender ankles.

No man who has watched the damsels negotiate seas of slush in pumps designed for tripping across summer lawns but will vote [illegible]ts-for-women. It's a style that deserves enthusiastic welcome. [illegible] a cityful of girls go shod shortly in the fascinating, anti-[illegible]monia boot!

Problems Still Unsolved

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

WE know a lot of things, we have made tremendous discoveries, especially during the nineteenth century, and have pushed our scope of information out very far.

But we still stand, as it were, upon the banks of an illimitable sea and look out over the vast expanse of waters.

What we do not know would fill a very large book.

For instance, what is gravitation?

There is a certain force in every particle of matter that attracts in a certain ratio every other particle of matter. It holds the earth and the moon in their obits, controls the stars anad keeps us all sitting firmly in our chairs.

We know how to use it and we make scales with which to measure it. But what is it?

Who has ever sought to catch the isolated germ of gravitation?

And then there is electricity.

Does Mr. Edison or anybody else know what electricity is?

I never knew of but one man that did know and he was a motor car conductor. He said it was the "juice."

We can control it and we can put wires to conduct it and we can turn it on or off, but what is it? Who has ever isolated that germ?

And what is infantile paralysis? Here is a plague that is slaughtering hundreds of thousands every year in the United States and before its insidious attacks the doctors throw up their hands.

Or what is cancer?

Does anybody know what causes cancer? We can say that it comes under certain conditions, and maybe it does, sometimes, but what is it and how shall we treat it?

What is life?

Scientists the other day claimed that they were soon to manufacture human beings out of chemicals. Maybe they are, but it hasn't been done yet,

All this talk about making life is talking through your whiskers. Nobody yet has made a living thing from something that is not already alive.

Where life comes from and where life goes to are still inscrutable mysteries.

Garrett P Serviss Says:

Is Man to Be a Cyclops?

SWEAR by your right eye—in case you are right-handed, as the great majority are. If you are left-handed, probably your left eye is the stronger, and so you may take your oath on sinistral instead of dextral evidence.

From 95 to 100 per cent of the detail visible in any object, says Dr. Shastid, opthalmologist of Duluth, is revealed to the perceiving brain through the right eye, whenever, as usually happens, that eye is the stronger. In any case the stronger eye is the sole reliable witness. From this he draws a conclusion which would be startling if it related to the immediate future, viz. that nature is working an evolution miracle on our eyes, the final result of which is to be that man will become one-eyed, like Homer's "Cyclops" who lived in a cave on Mt. Etna and had his single eye put out by that reckless old adventurer Ulysses, or Odysseus.

Such predictions, like those which affirm that man will become toothless, hairless, toeless, deaf and unisexual, have one great advantage—for those who invent them. This is that they can never be subjected to the one universal touchstone of scientific truth, which is verification by actual and repeated observation. However, many things have been put forth in the name of authoritative science itself, that are subject to the same limitation. If we could only wait long enough to see, we might not find the universe continuing to run in accordance with the "laws" which we think we have established.

The prediction that man will become a cyclops, with a single eye probably situated in the center of his forehead, is not inconsistent with the tendencies of evolution, as far as we know them at present. There are reasons for assuming that the situation of the human eyes side by side in the face pointing in parallel lines, like the two halves of a double-barreled gun, was gradually acquired through ages of development. In their pre-human state the eyes were placed on opposite sides of the head, i. e., of the brain, the central organ of perception. This continues notably in fishes. The evolution of the man form of animal (including all anthropoid creatures) brought the eyes to the front of the head, and their parallelism gave the power of stereopscopic vision, i. e., of seeing objects in the round and of judging distances at a glance. This was an immense advantage.

But in the development of civilization other things have been found more important than stereopscopic vision. The eyes have been more and more used for the inspection of close-by objects. A result is straining of the eye-muscles to concentrate the vision, with possible disadvantage to one of the eyes and a gain to the other. So the foreseeing scientific imagination pictures a final coalescence of the two eyes into one, placed at a middle point.

That would be the final step in a process which began millions of years before the human type had been developed. Starting from positions on the opposite sides of the nerve center the instruments of dual vision first reached in man and his relatives, a position of parallelism on one side, and the next long, slow step would carry them into complete merger. Modern astronomy and geology having taught us to think in million-year periods, as easily as our predecessors did in twelve-month ones, these forecastings lose something of their fantastically—if only we do not insist that they are the soul of revealed truth, or forget that we cannot put the stamp of verification upon them. If the forecast is true, then each eye has traveled two-thirds of the way from opposition to conjunction; but it is a long, long way yet to the time when that single orb of vision can glow like a great diamond in the forehead of the new man.

Futile Pretending

THE chances are that if you are naturally studious and sedate, there are many times when you wish you might be lighter and gayer.

If you are easy in company, it is no effort for you to carry on conversation in the light vein prevailing at social functions. Then you often have periods when you wish you were more sedate.

Don't make the mistake of pretending or trying to be what you are not.

The quiet and reserved one who tries to be quick and witty makes a laughable failure.

The undignified person is ludicrous in his efforts to appear solemn and haughty or commanding, as the case may be.

Some persons can fill roles that are unnatural for a while but usually they cannot go long without showing themselves up as acting a part.

When dramatic sense is keen and one is discovered displaying a pose it is considered insincere.

You will not get anywhere trying to be what you are not.

You have to make too much effort that does not ring true.

But even if you can put over a false position what do you gain by deception?

The Rhyming Optimist

Discovery

THIS, then, is love for which I sought
Through aching years in vain;
Its signs, the wonders it has wrought;
Release from fear and pain!

Not like a rippling, silver stream
In grassy banks confined,
(That love of which I used to dream)
In this, the love I find.

That stream was but a slender thread
That danced in shallow glee;
But love's vast tides about me spread
As boundless as the sea.

Love is not only for the few
My selfish heart might prize;
But like the universal dew
That on all verdure lies.

This, then, is love! Its glories fall
On every soul I meet.
And, strangely, this new love for all
Makes old loves doubly sweet.

New York Day by Day
by
O.O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up and came Meredith Nicholson, the novelist, and Kenyon Nicholson, the playwright, both born in Crawfordsville, Ind., but not related. And we recalled names of old dramas, the most amusing being "Sparks or Fun in a Photograph Gallery."

All afternoon at my typewriter in a state of mental sterility until my head ached trying to fashion a magazine article, and achieved three miserable lines. So to call on William McHarg, who has come on from Chicago for the winter.

In the evening to Margaret and Joe Moore's dinner party at Sherry's, and on the way discovered a moth had eaten a hole in a pantaloon leg; so back to my tavern and smeared my calf with ink, a neat camouflage. To bed late.

A playwright who makes frequent excursions "off the reservation" took to wassail in the midst of preparation for a new play. Friends gathered him up and lodged him in a hotel room, where the door was locked and the key taken away by his jailers. Four hours later the playwright was found still locked in his room, but in a fresh state of intoxication. It developed he had telephoned his bootlegger to bring a bottle of whisky and a straw, and thus drained largely of the contents through the keyhole in the door. Men have grown rich on lesser inventive ideas.

There is some justification for the complaint of an old New Yorker in a morning newspaper that progress has obliterated the picturesque nooks of the city—leaving it as standardized as a row of brown stone fronts. There are, for instance, no more spots such as Paradise Alley, which inspired the famous street song, "The Sunshine of Paradise Alley." Here was a little strip, nine feet wide, that was a city within itself.

Bob Sherwood, last of the Barnum clowns, is now a book seller in Greenwich Village. In his cozy shop he has found relaxing content after years of hoop-la under the big top. Sherwood has a shock of snow-white hair, ruddy cheeks and, like all clowns, eyes bespeaking a wistful melancholy. It strikes me every man who seeks a slippered ease after a hurly-burly life should run a book shop or a dog store.

Cain's in the heater world—is a chilling word. Theatrical "flops" go to Cain's warehouse. Broadway in the dead of night has watched many of the long wagons, piled high with scenery and tinsel, go creaking across town. Scenery out of the theater somehow has a tragic muteness, like a coon shouter gone suddenly speechless in the middle of a song. This season more than 200 theatrical "flops" trekked to the gloomy haven.

There is a little spaghetti joint in the rear of the Metropolitan Caruso used to visit, thus blooming it into a sudden prosperity. After his passing it continued to draw sight-seers who came to see several caricatures on the wall the great tenor had sketched during a lighter mood. The other day it was shuttered. "The new generation did not know him," sighed the propriet[illegible], "and the old generation forgets."

Tales That Are Told

Needed Cooling Off

MURIEL'S grandfather had a weakness for a specially strong peppermint sweet, and one day, in a very benevolent mood, he gave one to Muriel.

The little girl sucked it greedily as if she had never tasted food for several weeks. But her enjoyment did not last. Suddenly she took the sweet out of her mouth and laid it on a table by the open window.

"What's the matter?" inquired the old man. "Didn't you like it, after all?"

"Yes, thank you very much," replied Muriel politely. "I'm only waiting for it to cool a bit!"—London Answers.

Taking Every Precaution

NERVOUSLY and with many misgivings, the old lady hailed a passing taxi. It drew into the curb.

"Driver," remarked the old lady, "I want you to take me to the station."

"Yes, ma'am," said the driver.

"And you must drive slowly and carefully. Don't go until the policeman lowers his arm, and please don't rush round the corners as the road is very wet and we might have an unpleasant skid."

The taxi driver was getting angry.

"All right, ma'am," he said. "But if we do 'ave an accident is there any perticler 'orspital you'd prefer?"—London Answers.
